HIGH COURT ASSAILED

Senators Battle Over Its Power

Dill Demands That Supreme Tribunal Do About-Face on Economic Issues

Vandenberg Voices Defense and Warns of Danger in Legislative Meddling

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14. (AP)—One of the most outspoken and bitter debates over the Supreme Court in recent history swept the Senate today after a demand by Senator Dill (Dem.) Washington, to the court to change its attitude on economic issues.

The word "revolution" contributed to the tenseness, but Senator Dill denied that he had advocated revolution except at the ballot box. Senator Vandenberg (Rep.) Michigan, defended the judiciary branch of the government—and before long the emphatic expressions of difference brought back into action the leading actors in the fight over confirmation of Charles Evans Hughes as Chief Justice.

CRITICISM VOICED

The Washington Democrat opened the debate by condemning the Supreme Court for its decisions in rate valuations of utilities, and charged it with "building up a judicial system of law which is fast bringing economic slavery to the masses of people."

He put on notice the majority of the court, naming Chief Justice Hughes, Justices Sutherland, Van Devanter, Butler, Sanford and McReynolds, that it is up to them "to say whether the Supreme Court in the future is going to be in politics."

Replying with vehemence, Vandenberg declared Dill's attack to be "another effort to force the judgment of the legislative branch of our government upon the judiciary."

"When we undertake to say what type of economic and political mind shall go on the Supreme Court," continued Vandenberg, "then we undertake to make the Constitution subservient to the transient economic and political issues of the day. When the Constitution takes on a transient character and ceases to have stability, then the Constitution must go and with it go its guarantees. When that happens the masses of our people will lose more than they can lose in any intervening crisis on economic or political issues."

BROOKHART'S PLAN

Senator Brookhart (Rep.) Iowa, joined in the debate to advocate a constitutional amendment restricting the Supreme Court from authority to set aside acts of Congress. He also advocated the popular election of judges.

Senator Norris (Rep.) Nebraska, who led the fight against confirmation of Hughes as Chief Justice,

CLERGY TO BE CENSORS OF STYLES

Vatican Orders Catholic Authorities to Exhort Women on Costumes

VATICAN CITY, Feb. 14. (AP)—The sacred congregation of the council today issued instructions to all Roman Catholic bishops of the world regarding the campaign against immodest dress of women.

The note of instruction enjoins not only bishops but parish priests, fathers and mothers, directors of schools and institutes and nuns conducting schools to remember their serious duty in giving all necessary instructions in favor of modesty in feminine attire.

The instructions say that insufficiently dressed women should not be admitted to the sacrament of communion, to congregation rules, or to act as godmothers at the sacraments of confirmation and baptism, and if necessary should be sent away from churches.

All clergy and all teaching nuns are directed to give special instructions on this subject at all principal feasts of the church, particularly that of the Immaculate Conception December 8.

Diocesan vigilance councils are ordered to consider at least once a year the best means for banishing immodest modes.

TAX STRIKE AUTHORIZED BY INDIANS

Committee Reported as Sanctioning Beginning of Civil Disobedience

AHMEDABAD (Bombay) Feb. 14. (AP)—The working committee of the all-India Congress, which held a six-hour discussion today, is understood to have agreed to authorize Mahatma Gandhi and those who believe in nonviolence to start "civil disobedience" when they wish.

The working committee went into a strictly secret session to take up the question of civil disobedience as a weapon in the Indian nationalist campaign for independence. Among the suggestions which have been made for the form which civil disobedience will take is that Indians should refuse to pay taxes.

Carol Barred From Wedding

BUCHAREST, Feb. 14. (Exclusive) The request of Crown Prince Carol that he be allowed to come to Bucharest when his sister, Princess Ileana, marries Count Alexander von Hochberg, will not be granted, according to newspaper reports.

TEMBLORS JAR TOWN IN NEW HAMPSHIRE

FRANKLIN (N. H.) Feb. 14. (AP) Two distinct earth tremors in rapid succession shook this town early today. Residents were awakened by a heavy rumbling and windows and dishes were shaken. No damage was reported.

State to Lash Brothers for Fowl Thefts

WILMINGTON (Del.) Feb. 14. (Exclusive)—The law of the lash—relic of the ancient penal code—was revived today when two brothers, pleading guilty to stealing fowls, were sentenced to five lashes each from the warden's whip, manacled to the State whipping post.

Frank and James Dickerson, the first brothers in fifty years to face Delaware's whipping post, were sentenced to prison terms in addition to the lashes when they admitted stealing 2000 chickens, turkeys and ducks from the farm of Oscar Tatman last Christmas. Frank was sentenced to serve two and one-half years and his brother to six months.

The lashes will be applied to their bare backs by Warden Leach of the workhouse, who has whipped nearly 600 men.

Angeleno Dies Beneath Train

FLAGSTAFF (Ariz.) Feb. 14. (AP) The body of a young man, believed to be Roy Auten or Anton of Los Angeles, was found near the railroad tracks at Bellmont, late this afternoon.

A conductor of a freight train told authorities that he believed the man had stolen a ride on the train and apparently was jarred off and run over.

Letters found on the body indicate the victim was an ex-service man and that he has a sister in Los Angeles.

Reward Offered on Kennel Fire

WAUKEGAN (Ill.) Feb. 14. (Exclusive)—State's Attorney Smith of Lake county today sent bulletins to all North Shore police departments conveying the information that Mrs. Irene Castle McLaughlin of Lake Forest, mistress of the "Orphans of the Storm" kennels, will pay a reward of $500 for information which will enable prosecution of persons believed to have set fire to the Deerfield dog home early Tuesday morning.

NEW HEALTH FIND MADE BY SCIENCE

Discovery of Another of Hormones Announced at McGill University

MONTREAL, Feb. 14. (AP)—Discovery of another of the powerful hormones which regulate human health was announced officially today by McGill University.

So important was it considered that Sir Arthur Currie, head of the university, said: "It is a remarkable discovery and should bring relief and comfort to countless thousands of women throughout the world."

The new substance has not been named. It is a crystalline product derived from internal glands. The announcement said its effects are somewhat similar to those of one of the pituitary glands, which have widely recognized functions in control of giganticism in growth, of some phases of women's health, and in water control including forms of fatness. The newly found hormone, however, is useful for feminine health.

The announcement says it influences "in a very remarkable manner the general health and metabolism" of women. Metabolism is the process whereby the body changes food into energy by building up and tearing down living protoplasms.

The discovery is credited to Dr. Bertram Collip, a man under 40 years of age, who was associated with Dr. F. C. Banting in the discovery of insulin. Collip is chairman of the department of biochemistry.

Plane's Crash Fatal for Pair

TAMPA (Fla.) Feb. 14. (AP)—Pery C. Henry, Jr., pilot of a Curtiss-Wright airplane service ship, was killed and a passenger, W. C. Close, said to have been vice-president of the Philadelphia Airport Development and Construction Company, was injured fatally in the crash of their plane near here today.

FOOD RIOTS START IN SPAIN

Madrid Unemployed Break Into Grocery Stores; Several Injured and Many Under Arrest

MADRID, Feb. 14. (AP)—Food riots broke out here today, with unemployed workers in the poorer residential districts on the outskirts of Madrid breaking into grocery stores and smashing shop windows to get food.

Police and civil guards suppressed the disorders. Several persons were injured and numerous arrests made.

The government is preparing to quell disturbances that might develop anywhere in Spain. The government of Gen. Damaso Berenguer believes that political interests desirous of discrediting the successors to the Primo De Rivera dictatorship are inciting unemployed workers, Republicans, radical groups generally and Catalan Separatists to attempt disturbances.

Madrid newspapers estimate that there are 25,000 unemployed in the capital, most of them from the building trades. Construction is almost at a standstill. The strike of cement workers at Sagunto caused reports of trouble brewing there, but the government said today that conditions are tranquil.

Minor disturbances have been reported in many parts of Spain, most of them engineered by university students rejoicing over Primo De Rivera's downfall and by citizens who sought to disturb disliked municipal officials. In addition, Republican groups have been openly advocating a republic with freedom unknown before.

In view of the disturbances the Berenguer government is said to be wondering whether it has been too liberal in removing the suppressions of Primo. Well-informed circles believe the government will soon become much more severe or will plan to return Spain to another dictatorship.

NAVY RIDDLE OBSTINATE

Slight Progress Achieved

Conference Adjourning Date Tentatively Proposed as March 15

LONDON, Feb. 14. (AP)—The five-power naval disarmament conference expects to wind up in another month, March 15 being mentioned tentatively as the closing date at which the delegates are now aiming.

One month has been spent in continuous preliminary discussion upon the solution of the problem of deciding methods of limitation. Now the conference has come down to the actual task of filling in the figures.

The conference today began the work of harmonizing the French fleet demands of 724,479 tons with the general plan of the London conference for disarmament. To that end, Prime Minister MacDonald of Great Britain, Premier Tardieu of France and Secretary Stimson of the United States conferred for two and a half hours in St. James' Palace.

NO EASY TASK

Neither the American nor the British delegations believe the job to be an easy one and today's session was considered the first of many.

The talk was of such a general preliminary character there was not even a suggestion in conference circles that any progress had been made toward persuading France to alice nearly 200,000 tons from her demands—a hope viewed as one way to solve the problem the French figures present to other delegations.

Upon this blank table have been tossed by each nation represented at London a mass of figures which must be sorted out, each nation filling all the squares opposite its name with reasonable tonnage figures which will be satisfactory to every other nation.

TARDIEU PLEASED

Premier Tardieu emphasized the desire of every delegation to come to an agreement and seemed innocent or unconcerned regarding the effect the French demands have had in other delegations. He seemed particularly pleased because the conference at last had reached the "vital question of figures."

Mr. Stimson, spending the weekend at Stanmore, will entertain Senator Robinson and Secretary Adams. He will give a luncheon tomorrow for the British empire delegations.

Tomorrow Mr. MacDonald will give a tea for the newspaper men from over the world covering the conference.

'Needle Bandit' Jabs Two Girls

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 14. (Exclusive)—Miss Marie Pervich, 19 years of age, employee of a knitting company, is under observation tonight following an asserted stabbing by a "needle bandit" as she walked the street today during the lunch hour.

She is the second young woman to report such an occurrence in a week. Miss Pervich, however, said she recognized the man as one who had been annoying her recently.

Five Killed in Political Fight

RIO JANEIRO, Feb. 14. (AP)—An opposition Liberal newspaper tonight reported that five persons had been killed and several others wounded in fighting at a political meeting of the Alianza Liberal, held in the town of Victoria last night. Victoria is about forty miles west of Pernambuco.

Will Rogers Remarks:

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 14.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Flying to Claremore and run into a snowstorm here and got set down.

"Sons of the Wild Jackasses," after six solid days of braying, were finally haltered by public opinion, and a twitch put on their upper lip to the score of Hughes, 52; Jackasses, 26. I hope Mr. Hughes don't prove as mean as they insinuated. They say he is all for the rich; that if appointed he would take the liquor away from the poor and give it to the wealthy.

Henry Ford has always had more common sense than anybody. The minute a boy comes out of college he is going to take him and educate him so he can make a living. If he can do that it will make him our greatest living American.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

GRIP OF ICE HOLDS BACK BYRD SHIP

Gale Apparently Abating But New Danger Adds to Uncertainty of Situation

BY RUSSELL OWEN

LITTLE AMERICA (Antarctica) Feb. 14. (Exclusive)—The City of New York has made little headway in the last twenty-four hours although there are signs that the gale may be subsiding somewhat. The greatest difficulty now is from ice which is coating the ship as seas go over it. Spray freezes to the mast yards and rigging as well as the deck and sides. Every man aboard has been chopping ice away. This is one of the greatest dangers to a ship in rough seas in cold weather. Ice is the greatest source of anxiety now, the winter is approaching rapidly and the gales are sure to continue intermittently.

The wind has died to eight or ten miles an hour here today and there are some indications of a shift which may help the New York, but at her present rate of progress the situation is far from reassuring.

Fire Sweeping Northern Area

SANTA CRUZ, Feb. 14. (Exclusive)—The first forest fire of the year started today in the Big Creek and Scott's Creek district, eighteen miles to the north. More than two square miles of land had been burned tonight.

Former Maine Senator Dies

ST. PETERSBURG (Fla.) Feb. 15. (Saturday) (AP)—Charles F. Johnson of Waterville, Me., died here early this morning. He was United States Senator from Maine from 1911 to 1917.

He suffered a stroke of paralysis early this week.

KANSAS PIONEER DIES

TOPEKA, Feb. 14. (AP)—James H. Armstrong, 85 years of age, pioneer Kansan and Civil War veteran, died at his home here tonight. He came to Kansas and settled on a claim in Saline county in 1878.

DOOM RACED IN SKIES

Victim of Cancer Flies to Clinic

Scores Continue Flocking to Receive New Serum and Keep Doctors Busy

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 14. (AP)—By airplane from Wenatchee, Wash., another cancer sufferer came to San Francisco tonight to join the scores who have flocked to the experimental clinic at the Southern Pacific Hospital to take the new cancer serum treatment being tested by Drs. Walter B. Coffey and John D. Humber.

In a specially chartered plane, equipped as an aerial ambulance, Mrs. Irving Edwins, wife of a Chelan county (Washington) orchardist, made the 700-mile journey in the hope that the new serum will save her life, ebbing fast under the malignant inroads of cancer. With her husband, Mrs. Edwins landed at Crissy Field in the plane piloted by Charles Rector. She was transferred to a waiting ambulance and taken to a hotel.

She is expected to receive an injection of the serum tomorrow after the strain of the long air journey has worn off.

MANY GO TO CLINIC

Rector made the trip in a little more than ten hours, despite flying from Wenatchee through a landmark-obscuring fog with only a railroad map to guide him. Brief stops were made at Portland and Redding, Cal., for fuel and the speedy monoplane dropped out of the sky over Crissy Field shortly after dusk. Mrs. Edwins reclined on a cot while her husband sat on the cabin floor during the trip. Edwins said his wife appeared to have suffered no ill effects from the journey.

Meanwhile at the experimental clinic of Drs. Humber and Coffey, rich and poor, sharing the common poverty of illness, flocked for treatment. During the day more than 100 patients received injections of the new serum, obtained from the cortex or the outer layer of the adrenal glands of sheep.

While there were many new patients, a majority were those who had received previous treatment and had returned for a periodical hypodermic.

OPTIMISM SHOWN

With a corps of assistants, Dr. Humber worked steadily with his hypodermic needle. Expensive limousines and ramshackle automobiles took the cancer victims to the clinic. Patients too ill to move from the cars were treated at the curbing. There were about twice as many men as women. Optimism shone from their faces as they bared their arms in the hope that the serum will rid them of the deadly scourge which is estimated to cause 115,000 deaths in the United States annually.

To provide for the influx of cancer victims expected to be attracted to San Francisco by the experimental clinic, Dr. Alexander B. Keenan of the board of health announced plans for the new $500,000 cancer institute to be established by the city are being rushed.

The cancer institute will be designed, according to Dr. Keenan, "to save hundreds of persons who think they have cancer from the clutches of charlatans, who tell them they are afflicted with the disease."

Drs. Coffey and Humber will be asked to co-operate with the institute in its work, but will have no connection with its operation, Dr. Keenan declared.

ESPEE TO FINANCE WORK

President Paul Shoup of the Southern Pacific Company announced that the company will underwrite the research workers' further experiments.

"The Southern Pacific will bear all the necessary expenses in connection with Dr. Coffey's cancer work," he said. "It is very gratifying to us that a development of such importance has come out of the Southern Pacific General Hospital, to which Dr. Coffey has been attached almost all of his professional life. We want Dr. Coffey to do his research work where he

OLD MAN WINTER GROUCHY

Shivering Midwest Prepares for Worse Cold Snap; Mercury Below Zero in Northern States

CHICAGO, Feb. 14. (Exclusive)—Old Man Winter tonight was rallying his forces for another onslaught on the Midwest region. Preliminary attacks were made last night in the Chicago sector, when, after the mercury during the day had climbed to 35 deg. above zero, it began a nose dive that landed it at 13 deg. above at 7 o'clock this morning.

It is due to take another sharp plunge and morning probably will find the reading at or near zero, according to J. R. Lloyd, government forecaster.

"This cold snap," said Mr. Lloyd, "is the result of the old story—severe cold weather in the Northwest that is being pushed down this way. There's no snow in sight, however."

Colder weather prevailed Thursday night over most of the eastern half of the United States and in Southwestern Canada, with a cold wave in the extreme northern portion of the Mississippi Valley. Temperatures of from zero to 22 deg. below occurred Thursday night in Wisconsin, Minnesota and North Dakota, while marks of 10 to 40 deg. below were reported from Southern Canada.

SNOW USHERS IN COLD SNAP AT KANSAS CITY

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 14. (AP)—Colder weather was ushered in here today by a heavy snowfall. Colder temperatures were forecast for tomorrow, the result of extremely cold weather in the Northwest. The mercury is expected to drop to about 15 deg. tonight.

SAN FRANCISCANS SCAMPER FOR SHADE AGAIN

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 14. (AP)—San Franciscans sought the shade today when the mercury at 2 p.m. touched 76 deg., the highest it has ascended on any February day since February 18, 1899, when it reached 80 deg., the all-time record for the month.

DOOLITTLE OUT OF ARMY TODAY

Flyer Quits Service to Stay With Oil Company

Resignation Follows Lengthy Leave of Absence

Cross Awarded Last Year for Feats in Air

The War Department made known today that he has submitted his resignation to continue executive work for an oil company. He submitted a provisional resignation several months ago while working for the company on a leave of absence from his army duties, and later decided to sever completely his service connection.

In addition to having won the Schneider Cup races in 1925, Doolittle set several world's speed records. Three years earlier he had made a one-stop flight across the continent. This carried him from Pablo Beach, near Jacksonville, Fla., to Rockwell Field, at San Diego, making a stop at San Antonio, Tex., to refuel.

Only last year, he was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross for his various feats in the air.

A week ago, in a radio speech, Assistant Secretary Davison of the War Department described a flight by Doolittle as "one of the most important flights in history." In this, Davison said, Doolittle flew for about an hour and landed without having seen anything but his instruments in a closed cockpit.

"His success," said Davison in discussing that flight, "was due to the use of instruments which told him his actual altitude above the ground, thus enabling him to fly blind cross-country, and then to turn around and land through the use of a radio system which not alone gave him his direction, but also told him when and where to land."

Doolittle, a native of California, is 34 years of age. He enlisted as a private in the aviation section, November 10, 1917.

TAFT HEARS LETTER AND SIGNS REPLY

Afflicted Jurist Able to Sit Up Half of Each Day, But Not Out of Danger

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14. (AP)—William Howard Taft had read to him today a letter from his friends on the Supreme Court bench expressing regret that illness had compelled his resignation as Chief Justice.

The afflicted jurist was able to sign a reply which said his pleasant relations with the associate justices had been reluctantly severed only because his health no longer permitted him to go on. This was the first time that he had been able to give attention to such a matter since his return from Asheville, N. C., ten days ago.

Dr. Francis R. Hagner said Mr. Taft has regained sufficient strength to sit in his bedroom half of each day. While some improvement has been reported daily, and is gratifying to his family and doctors, they do not consider him as having passed from danger or to have made any material progress toward permanent recovery.

Oliver Wendell Holmes, the distinguished associate justice who will celebrate his eighty-third birthday in March, prepared the note read today to the former Chief Justice. It expressed the affection in which Mr. Taft is held by his fellow-jurists.

The correspondence will be made public when the court resumes its sessions on the 24th inst. and when Chief Justice Hughes takes his place on the bench.

Girl Identifies Negro as Killer of Oakland Man

OAKLAND, Feb. 14. (AP)—With Jesse Anderson, 40 years of age, negro cotton picker arrested Wednesday in Firebaugh, Fresno county, identified today by Miss Ella Hibbs as her attacker and the slayer of Nick Tralla, Alameda county deputy sheriffs continuing their investigation found a negro answering Anderson's description had registered at a Seventh-street rooming-house here January 18, the day following the murder.

Anderson, brought here today from Fresno county by Deputy Sheriff A. R. Shurtleff, was placed in a glass-inclosed room in the County Jail and as Miss Hibbs walked by and peered in she suddenly cried out, "My God, that's the man," and fainted.

Anderson, despite rigid questioning, today continued to maintain he has been working on the Charles Hastings ranch near Bakersfield for the last six months and has not been to Livermore, near which place Tralla was killed.

WIFE OF LEO MONROE FILES DIVORCE SUIT

SANTA CRUZ, Feb. 14. (AP)—Mrs. Elsey Monroe, wife of Leo Monroe, president of Monroe, Lyon & Miller, Inc., San Francisco, filed suit for divorce here today asserting mental cruelty. She asks for her share of her husband's one-third interest in property estimated at $4,500,000. They were married in Oakland in 1926 and have no children.

INQUIRY COUNCIL ADVISES CHINESE

Tokio Meeting Seeks Plan to Stabilize Nation

End of Boycott on Foreign Goods Recommended

TOKIO, Feb. 14. (AP)—A meeting today of the council of inquiry on far eastern affairs, attended by Count Kiyoura, Count Uchida, Baron Hayashi, and other prominent statesmen, adopted a resolution urging the solution of Chinese internal difficulties.

"Unsettled conditions in China," said the council, "not only concern China but also involve the whole Far East. This council which is anxious to see peaceful unification and economic reconstruction in China resolves as follows:

"(a) In view of the enormous losses caused by civil war, the council urges home and foreign authorities to formulate a definite plan for the maintenance of safe land and sea communications in time of civil war.

"(b) While it indorses the principle of abolition of extraterritoriality, the council regards its abolition by China's own will as still premature and proposes that China carry out its plan gradually and in accordance with international justice and good faith.

"(c) The council declares an urgent need for speedy and definite solution of the questions of the boycott of foreign goods and the anti-foreign movement."

The council als oadopted a resolution concerning Japanese fishing in soviet waters, urging positive steps for development of that industry "in view of the fact that the Russians are planning to drive the Japanese out of soviet waters."

FIGHTING REPORTED IN HONAN PROVINCE

SHANGHAI, Feb. 14. (AP)—Fighting between troops of the Nationalist government and rebels under Gen. Shih-Yu-San was reported today in advices from foreign sources in Honan Province.

The reports said the battle, in which Gen. Shih is leading his rebels is taking place in Northeastern Honan along the railway from Haichow to Tungkwan.

Gen. Shih is said to have 30,000 men and his advance against the central government has been anticipated. Shih formerly was a commander in the Nationalist army but broke away last December when he led his division in a mutiny at Pukow.

GOV. YEN CALLS ON CHIANG TO RESIGN

LONDON, Feb. 14. (AP)—A Reuter's dispatch from Peiping says that Yen Hsi-shan, Governor of the Province of Shansi, has sent a message to President Chiang Kai-shek, calling upon him to retire in view of deplorable conditions obtaining throughout China. Yen said he would then retire also.

The message is regarded in Peiping as a challenge to the Nanking government which in all probability will lead to hostilities.

No doubt is felt at Peiping that Shih Yu-shan, a former general under Feng Yu-hsiang, head of the People's army, and Gen. Han Fu-chu are combining with Yen Hsi-shan in a concerted move against Chiang Kai-shek.

Gov. Yen, who long has been known as the model Governor of Shansi, has been nominally under the sovereignty of the central government at Nanking for some time, but during the past months his allegiance has been regarded as somewhat doubtful.

PLANS LAID FOR SHOALS LOBBY QUIZ

Cyanamid Company Head and Others to be Called, Caraway Announces

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14. (AP)—An intention to inquire fully into the activities of persons interested in Muscle Shoals legislation was expressed today by Chairman Caraway of the Senate Lobby Committee, in announcing that W. B. Bell of New York, president of the American Cyanamid Company, will be called to testify.

Bell is to be questioned in regard to the proposal of the cyanamid company, embodied in the Wright bill now before Congress, to lease from the government the power and nitrate plant at Muscle Shoals.

Other witnesses expected to face the committee before the Muscle Shoals investigation is completed are Claudius H. Huston, chairman of the Republican National Committee; J. W. Worthington, chairman of the executive committee of the Tennessee River Improvement Association, and Chester Gray, Washington representative of the American Farm Bureau Federation.

After hearing testimony again today from W. G. Waldo, consulting engineer of the Tennessee River Improvement Association, the committee adjourned until Tuesday when Worthington is expected to appear. He has been reported ill at Tate Springs, Tenn.

ARIZONA CELEBRATES ITS YOUNG STATEHOOD

PHOENIX, Feb. 14. (AP)—Arizona—the baby State of the Union—is 17 years of age today. State, county and city offices are closed in honor of the occasion. Seventeen years ago today President Taft signed the Enabling Act that officially admitted the State of Arizona, the forty-eighth, to the Union.

New York Suit Counters Reno Action

Mr. and Mrs. Converse M. Converse

NEW YORK, Feb. 14. (Exclusive)—While her husband is seeking a Reno divorce, Mrs. Marian Converse started a separation action of her own in New York Supreme Court today against Converse M. Converse, grandson of Edwin Converse, who was one of the founders of the United States Steel Corporation.

Through her lawyer, James F. Lynch, Mrs. Converse asked Supreme Court Justice Levy for permission to serve her absent mate by publication. At the same time Mrs. Converse filed her bill of complaint against Converse. She charged him with cruelty, nonsupport and desertion.

Mrs. Converse, whose grandfather, the late John A. McCall, was president of the New York Life Insurance Company, stated she was without means and incapable of earning her own living. She asked allmony and counsel fees.

Young Converse has a $30,000 annual income, his wife said. He has already inherited $100,000 of a $400,000 trust fund left him by his grandfather, according to Mrs. Converse.

Converse left his wife in New York last July 11, she said, and went to Hollywood to live, but the following September returned to New York and in her absence packed his clothes and personal effects and left for the West again.

Converse since has filed a divorce action in Reno, charging extreme cruelty, but has not served Mrs. Converse with papers in the suit.

WILBUR ACTS IN DAM CRISIS

Indications are if Col. Donovan recommends it, the Secretary will approve the idea of further negotiation.

Secretary Wilbur believes that responsibility for the failure of the Phoenix conference rests on California, and more specifically upon the demands made by the Imperial Valley representatives on water allocation. In a brief statement given the United States Daily, he apparently absolves Arizona of blame for the lower-basin deadlock.

The recess was taken," he said, "because it seemed the conference was making no progress in arranging the differences expounded by the California delegation. The real fly in the ointment was a wide discrepancy of opinion over the water allocation claims between the Imperial Valley delegates and the Los Angeles district.

"The Arizona delegation previously had arrived at very amicable requirement demands, and the conference was progressing satisfactorily until the California divergencies arose."

STATE COMMITTEES' MEETING RECESSES

Without having reached any agreement, but still somewhat hopeful of reaching one, the two committees representing the Imperial Valley and other agricultural interests and the Metropolitan Water District adjourned last night until next Wednesday.

An official statement given to the press merely said that the matters are being discussed, and give a bit of the background. To insistent inquiries from reporters, however, the reply came that each side has yielded some from the positions taken at the Reno and Phoenix conferences. The inference is that whatever was yielded was not enough, and the two groups are going back to their people to see whether any more concessions can be made.

The official statement last night emphasized a point not generally recognized within California but which is obviously the source of much trouble not only within the State but in California's efforts to settle with Arizona on the matter of water allocation. That is the fact that when California ratified the six-State compact and in the Swing-Johnson bill, she limited herself to 4,400,000 acre-feet of Class A, or titled, water. All of the conflicting groups within the State want as much of this titled water as possible. Each group wants to take as little as possible of the surplus water, of which the State is to get one-half in addition to the Class A water.

The official statement said that the two groups are taking stock of the situation under the water limitations imposed by compact and by legislation, and discussion has been limited to a settlement on this basis.

"Each group was reluctant to break off negotiations and agreed to resume conversations next Wednesday," is the concluding sentence of the statement.

Divorce Suit His Valentine

CLEVELAND, Feb. 14. (AP)—Mrs. Marguerite Kaase Dekerejarto, Cleveland tea-room proprietress who stood by her musician husband in the $50,000 breach-of-promise suit brought against him by a New York dancing girl, presented him with a valentine yesterday in the form of a divorce petition.

The petition, filed here, charges Duci Dekerejarto with desertion. The violinist now is appearing in Hollywood.

The breach-of-promise suit was brought by Miss Gertrude McGushion, one of the McGushion twins of vaudeville, just three months after Dekerejarto's marriage to the widow, Mrs. Kaase. She obtained a $20,000 verdict.

PLANE BATTLES CANCER DEATH

began it. The work shall not suffer for lack of funds or any facilities that may be required. There are no restrictions."

The treatment, which has been made available at the clinic here to cases considered beyond surgical aid, takes the form of injections of a serum taken from the cortex of the adrenal gland of sheep. The discoverers, although greatly encouraged by results obtained, still regard the treatment as experimental and Dr. Coffey announced today that the serum will be sent to the Stanford University and University of California hospitals here and to universities in Southern California that it might be given rigid scientific tests.

Cancer is estimated to cause 115,000 deaths annually in the United States, 6000 of them in California. It causes about 20 per cent of the deaths of women between 45 and 65 years of age. Census Bureau reports indicate that the death rate for cancer has increased from 77.1 for each 100,000 of population in the United States in 1912 to 95.6 for each 100,000 in 1927.

NEW CANCER SERUM TO BE EXPLAINED

Illustrated talks on the newly found extract treatment for cancer will be given by Dr. Walter B. Coffey and Dr. John D. Humber, co-discoverers, and Dr. A. M. Moody, pathologist, at the annual meeting and dinner Monday evening of the attending staffs of the California Hospital.

The two surgeons of the Southern Pacific Railroad and the pathologist of the St. Francis Hospital in San Francisco will arrive here today for further clinics, which will be held in the Pacific Electric Building at Sixth and Main streets.

The addresses before the hospital staff, which will follow the dinner at 6:30 p.m., are to be illustrated by lantern slides, gross specimens and microscopic slides. The affair will be held in the ballroom of the Alexandria.

The first clinic is scheduled to be held at 9 a.m. today and another at 12 o'clock tomorrow, according to a message to G. S. Hall, resident Southern Pacific surgeon.

The message said that such cases as already have had treatment will be seen again today, with new cases accepted Sunday. Dr. Hall announced that all new cases must come prepared with a diagnosis and a letter of consent to the extract treatment from their physicians.

SENATE FIGHTS OVER TRIBUNAL

deplored the fact that the Supreme Court "has been set up on a pedestal and we have made idols of its members."

Denying any personal attack on Mr. Hughes or members of the court, the Nebraskan said, "We have tried to make it plain that the Supreme Court has been reaching out for more and more power until it has become common knowledge that it is performing legislative duties."

Senator Watson, Indiana, the Republican leader, said it was "unfortunate" that Senator Dill had intimated a revolution but Dill quickly denied he had proposed a revolution.

"I suggested constitutional methods that could be employed and would be employed," replied Dill.

Senator Walsh (Dem.) Montana, denied a contention of Senator Vandenberg that the Supreme Court had protected the South from military rule after the Civil War.

Scores Seized in Liquor Raids

MACON (Ga.) Feb. 14. (AP)—Sixty-two persons have been arrested today by Federal prohibition officers in a roundup of suspected liquor dealers here, and many more warrants remained to be served.

Preliminary hearings before the United States commissioner started at noon and of the first twenty persons appearing five pleaded guilty to selling liquor, three were dismissed and the remainder bound over to the Federal grand jury under bonds of $1000 each.

Wets to Continue Assault Next Wednesday

Michigan Governor's Arrival Draws Attention

Writer May Face Quizzing Before Committee

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14. (AP)—The organized drys are preparing to have their say after the organized wets have had their day before the House Judiciary Committee, which has brought nation-wide attention to itself by holding the first hearings on measures to repeal or modify the 10-year-old prohibition law.

Antiprohibitionists next Wednesday and Thursday will continue their assault begun this week before the House committee. They will be followed by witnesses whose names are being brought together by Edwin C. Dinwiddie of the national conference of organizations supporting the Eighteenth Amendment. Other drys also may appear.

GREEN EXPECTED

The arrival here tomorrow of Gov. Green of Michigan is being awaited with interest by his friends. He was named to the House committee by Walter W. Liggett, a magazine writer, as having attended a "wild party" at a roadhouse near Detroit. The executive is expected to address a letter to the committee offering to tell of conditions in Michigan.

Friends of the Governor said tonight they understand that he does not feel is necessary to answer the charges of the witness, but that he will offer to give the committee any information he has. Mr. Green is National Commander of the Spanish-American War Veterans, and has planned the trip to Washington for some time to attend the ceremonies at Arlington Cemetery in honor of the battleship Maine.

LIGGETT FACES QUIZ

Steps were taken by Representative Lambertson, Republican, Kansas, to have Liggett appear again before the committee next Wednesday in order that Atty.-Gen. Smith of Kansas may question him with regard to his charges that hard liquor can be bought in any town in that State.

Lambertson has been attempting to get in touch with Liggett in order to get him to agree voluntarily to go to Kansas and present his information before a grand jury. However, he made arrangements with Chairman Graham to have the magazine writer before the committee Wednesday to permit Atty.-Gen. Smith to cross-examine him.

Gov. Reed of Kansas joined Atty.-Gen. Smith in a plea to Lambertson to arrange for the examination of Liggett. The writer testified to the committee that the Governor succeeded in obtaining an appropriation from the Legislature in order to hire a group of "snoopers," whom Liggett charged with being law violators.

Woman Wanted in Bank Failure Gives Self Up

CHICAGO, Feb. 14. (AP)—Miss Laverne Lindgren, former cashier of the defunct People's State Bank of Maywood, a suburb, surrendered to police tonight after dodging them for a week pending posting of $10,000 bonds to guarantee her appearance on charges of accepting deposits while the bank was insolvent. She had been charged with embezzlement but this charge was dropped as one of the conditions of her surrender. She rose from a telephone operator to her position as cashier in three years.

The People's Bank, with deposits of $550,000, was closed last Saturday by State banking officials after officers of the institution said they discovered a shortage of $10,000 in the bank's accounts. Elmer P. Langguth, president of the bank, charged with embezzlement, was released on bonds of $100,000, retiring to seclusion, where he is said to have suffered a nervous breakdown.

JAZZ CAVORTS IN STRIPES

Hot Music and Merrymakers Make Iron Bars Rattle in Grim Old Leavenworth.

LEAVENWORTH (Kan.) Feb. 14. (AP)—Outside—towering gray prison walls, emblems of crime, tragedy, blighted hopes; inside—a crowded cabaret, a negro jazz band, laughter, lights.

The scene is Leavenworth penitentiary.

Paul Jackson, who a few months ago was the jolly, elephantine host of a St. Louis night club, was host. He stood once more in the center of a bright room full of round-topped tables, a cornet in his pudgy hand, a jazz band at his back and all his 300 pounds radiating geniality.

"All right boys," sang the ponderous Jackson. "Get hot."

He lifted his gleaming cornet with one hand and fired a broadside of triple-tongued notes across the room. The bandsmen rolled up their eyes, assumed expressions of ineffable woe and "stepped on the cat's tail" while the tom-toms beat.

Applause rolled across the room and echoed sonorously in granite corridors as a sobbing diminuendo released the orchestra from its sorrowful mien. The audience of 1000 men and women clapped for minute after minute before the next act of the "Lincoln's Birthday minstrel show" could be presented.

The show, produced entirely by prisoners, was presented Wednesday night to the 3300 inmates of the penitentiary. The audience last night was composed of residents of the city of Leavenworth, invited by the cast and the prison administration to see what can be done with "home" talent.

L. J. Callahan, officer in charge of recreation, explained in a short address that the entertainments are designed to stimulate men whose existence at best is monotonous; to keep within them an interest in the life to which some time they must return.

Certainly there was nothing expressive of monotony or boredom in the faces of the bandsmen, the waiters, the "habitues," as they smiled gleefully at the applause.

They moved with new pep into the second act, presenting Ortega Fidell, "king of the wire walkers;" a pair of jugglers who balanced lawnmowers, tables and chairs on their chins, and other professional entertainers who somewhere had strayed across the path of the law.

The curtain fell on the act of two narcotic addicts, once members of a great circus. The guests departed, laughing and chatting, through the great steel gates. The performers marched, single file, to their cells.

Police Quell Jobless Riot

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 14. (AP)—An unemployment demonstration near the City Hall by a crowd of men and women estimated at about 200, carrying placards, was broken up by police today.

Fifteen men and women were arrested, charged with inciting to riot, in the clash to prevent some of the leaders going up the stairway to the offices of Mayor Harry A. Mackey. Several of the marchers were struck by policemen and were reported as needing medical attention.

Conald and Hanna are being held for investigation and formal charges have not been placed against them. Graven said if any attempt is made to remove the men from jail by habeas corpus action, however, charges will be filed immediately.

Junior Hanna, son of Charles, whose early stories of the disappearance of Melvin sent Elias Arnold and his son Arthur to prison for child stealing, gave the officers the clew which led to the statement of Hanna and Conald. The Arnolds were acquitted at a second trial.

Junior a few days ago broke down and sobbed that his previous story of seeing Melvin lured into the Arnold home and later placed in a car, was untrue. He said he told it to protect his father.

FISHING JAUNT TO END TODAY

President Loath to Give Up Ocean Angling Joys

Executive Ready to Leave for Washington Tonight

LONG KEY (Fla.) Feb. 14. (AP)—President Hoover and his party returned to the houseboat Saunterer long after dark tonight from an all-day fishing trip to Sombrero Light, twenty-five miles south of here, and sent word ashore that the party had caught 120 pounds of fish.

Who caught how many pounds was not reported.

It was a full day for the Chief Executive, his fleet of vessels having pulled out from Long Key shortly after 6 a.m. The Saunterer and larger vessels returned about 2 o'clock, but Mr. Hoover and the others came back in small craft after the stars had come out.

FLOOD OF MESSAGES

Immediately after the President's return Capt. Allen Buchanan, his naval aide, went aboard the Saunterer with the largest sheaf of messages yet received at Long Key. There was no indication of their nature, but the fact that Capt. Buchanan took them out was taken to mean that they dealt with matters growing out of the London naval conference.

Today was the last opportunnty Mr. Hoover will have for a full day on the ocean. The train which will take him back to Washington tomorrow night will leave shortly after dark.

Luggage packing and moving will take up part of tomorrow afternoon. The special car in which he came from Washington will be placed on a siding here at noon and some of the party are expected to come ashore at that time.

AFLOAT SINCE MONDAY

When the President comes on land tomorrow, it will be the first time he has touched his foot on American soil since early Monday morning. However, he has been in close touch with American waters since that time.

The Saunterer has been anchored a mile or more off shore from Long Key except for the trip today and a similar one to Alligator Light two days ago. On her Mr. Hoover has stayed every minute except when out fishing in small craft. He was to have come ashore yesterday afternoon for pictures in case he caught any fish. Photographers waited all day but the President returned without a catch and went straight to the houseboat.

OUTING SHORTENED

The Presidential party is returning to Washington two days earlier than planned, largely, it is understood, because Mr. Hoover has not been able to keep in as close touch with the naval conference as he wished.

With Mr. Hoover today was Associate Justice Stone of the United States Supreme Court, Mark Sullivan, writer, and Dr. Vernon Kellogg of the National Research Council. All have been daily companions of the President since his vacation began and most of them have been on previous fishing trips with him.

Mrs. Hoover, Mrs. Stone and Mrs. Sullivan fished from a third boat.

Bratton Strikes at Statement of Aviation Chief

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14. (AP)—Senator Bratton, Democrat, New Mexico, in the Senate today characterized as "an insult to Congress" a statement in New York yesterday attributed to Clarence M. Young, assistant Secretary of Commerce in charge of aviation, regarding investigations of commercial air accidents.

Senator Bratton quoted Young as having said the Commerce Department does not make public the findings in its investigation of aviation crashes because it would "enable lawyers of the ambulance-chasing type to delve into the confidential files of the department."

"The whole attitude of the Department of Commerce on this question," Bratton said, "is against the public and on the side of the aviation companies."

Conquistador Priest's Bones Found in Chapel

GUAYMAS (Son., Mex.) Feb. 14. (AP)—Remains of the Jesuit priest, Francisco Eusebio Kino, who, in the time of the Conquest, proved that Lower California was a peninsula, have been located in the town of Magdalena, according to S. Davila of Magdalena, who has sought permission from the government to take charge of them.

Davila says that after investigation of old documents he discovered that the priest's remains were placed centuries ago in the foundations of the Magdalena chapel, which in 1832 was razed to make way for the building which now occupies the site and which he says rests on the old chapel foundation.

Hanging Slated for Good Friday

SAN QUENTIN PRISON, Feb. 14. (Exclusive) — Joseph Troche, 24 years of age, slayer of Mary Lorenzo, San Francisco telephone operator, on November 20, 1927, may win another stay of execution. He has won stays three times. Although the United States Supreme Court finally has ruled against him, it is discovered the date set for his hanging is Good Friday. No man has been hanged on that date in the history of the prison and. Warden Holohan said today he will refer the matter to Gov. Young in an effort to prevent a precedent.

Mills Explains Aims to Prevent Double Taxing

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14. (AP)—Opening an informal conference on prevention of international double taxation, Ogden L. Mills, Undersecretary of the Treasury, today told a group of business men that the Treasury wants to facilitate the flow of capital to countries needing it and to prevent taxation both at home and abroad.

The Undersecretary said that results can be achieved by applying the principle of reciprocal exemption to income from capital, from dividends and interest.

Mills added that the International Chamber of Commerce has drafted a uniform code of principles for eliminating double taxation of income, property and estate taxes, and that the Treasury Department has taken this code as a basis for proposed legislation.

Virginia Hills Given Model For New Education

First Lady's Touch Seen in Modern Furnishings

RICHMOND (Va.) Feb. 14. (AP)—Miss Christine Vest, mountaineer school-teacher, this week-end will move into her new home and work—the President's community school near Criglersville, high in the mountains of Madison county.

The new schoolhouse, erected in practically virgin territory, was conceived by President Hoover last August when Ray Buracher, 12-year-old barefoot mountain lad, slid through the President's summer camp guards and presented Mr. Hoover with a 'possum on his fifty-sixth birthday.

Since the school was planned, however, word has leaked out that Mrs. Hoover several times has added thoughts to its building and furnishings. In consequence the completed structure contains many features not originally proposed. There are electric lights, running water, wall sockets for electrically heated apparatus of various sorts, enormous fireplaces and storm doors. The classroom floor for thirty pupils is linoleum-covered. All other rooms are laid with woolen rugs. The kitchen sports an electric refrigerator.

Raymond V. Long, supervisor of school buildings of the Virginia State Department of Education, designed the school and executed many changes after consultations with the President and Mrs. Hoover. Mr. Long today reported the building in shape for occupancy at once.

Its cost, originally estimated at around $1200, will actually exceed $8000. This and the upkeep of the project will be borne by the Chief Executive, according to the best available information here.

GAS TAX RISE SOUGHT

BOISE (Idaho) Feb. 14. (AP)—Gov. Baldridge announced today he will call a special session of the Idaho Legislature to meet the 24th inst. to consider a proposal to increase the State gasoline tax from 4 to 5 cents a gallon to provide funds for a $1,000,000 highway improvement program.

Mussolini or Jefferson, Which Does America Follow?

In his First Inaugural, Thomas Jefferson said: "If there be any among us who would wish to dissolve this Union or to change its republican form let them stand undisturbed as monuments of the safety with which error of opinion may be tolerated where reason is left free to combat it." Have we abandoned Jefferson's position as one of impractical idealism? Have we adopted Mussolini's dictum that "Mankind is tired of liberty"?

The Unitarian Church is definitely committed to the ideal of freedom. Sunday at 10:50 A.M., E. Burdette Backus will speak on this subject at the First Unitarian Church, West 9th Street, just east of Vermont. Ada Marsh Chick at the organ. Double quartet from A Capella Choir of U.C.L.A. Public invited.

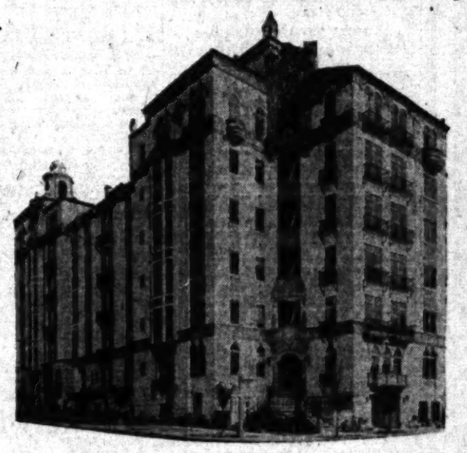
EL MIRADOR

1302 No. Sweetzer Ave., corner of Fountain



THE ULTIMATE in unfurnished Apartment Homes has finally been realized in this beautiful steam heated building, which welcomes inspection by Los Angeles apartment lovers today.

From the reinforced concrete subterranean garage, to the sixth floor, one innovation after another—new even to the most experienced eye—is discovered in rapid succession.

Two elevators serve residents and guests from the garage direct to the separate entrances of each apartment ranging from 3-4-5 and 6-room suites, spacious living rooms with beautifully decorated beamed ceilings. Electric fans which ventilate the kitchens and carry out cooking odors, electric refrigeration and waste chutes. Bedrooms of incomparable beauty, daintily decorated and with all appointments in perfect harmony of color and design. Cedar Closets. Each bedroom has adjoining bath in modern colored tile, with pastel tinted vitreous china fixtures and each with stall showers. Bath rooms are electrically heated.

The Bungalow Apartments on the top floor must be seen to be appreciated. Each is a complete residence in itself, even to promenades and patios. High slanting beamed ceilings characterize the spacious living rooms, while every other room is treated with such minute taste as to create a unit of perfect harmony.

Separate maid quarters, each with bath, complete the strictest requirements of the most discriminating.

BATTLE CERTAIN ON RADIO BOARD

Appointees to Meet Senate Opposition

Commissioners' Terms End Next Saturday

Maze of Issues Involved in Situation

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14. (NANA) Every angle of the radio situation in Washington today leads to considerations of a political nature.

The key to the whole situation is held by President Hoover, who is expected to make his appointments to the Federal Radio Commission shortly after he returns from his Florida fishing trip. Terms of all the present commissioners expire after midnight, Saturday, the 22nd inst.

Whether the President reappoints the present commissioners or names one or more new ones, vigorous debate is almost certain to ensue in the Senate when the nominees come up for confirmation.

That the fight over the Radio Commission's personnel will be protracted seems almost certain, for radio is fast developing into a political issue with local and sectional as well as national ramifications.

Since only one week remains before the terms of the present commissioners expire, there is every likelihood that the Federal Radio Commission will be without members for days, weeks or even a month after the 22rd inst., unless the Senate unexpectedly speeds the confirmation of at least three of the nominees.

On the one hand the failure of the President to reappoint Chairman Robinson or Judge Sykes will provoke an immediate onslaught upon the administration from the Senate coalition forces, reinforced by such old guards as Senators Goff and Hatfield of West Virginia, who are said to be back of the Robinson appointment.

On the other hand while the reappointments of Commissioners Saltzman, Starbuck and LaFount are regarded as certainties they will precipitate a battle along another front. It is understood that a majority of the Senate Committee on Interstate Commerce, which considers the radio appointments in the first instance, is being lined up in opposition to Gen. Saltzman and Mr. Starbuck, largely on account of dissatisfaction with their testimony before that committee during the recent hearings on the Couzens bill.

As far as can be learned, there is little or no opposition to Commissioner LaFount.

MANY ISSUES

Rumors are flying thick and fast, but they are all clouded by a lack of knowledge of President Hoover's intentions. Broadcasting conditions, the scramble for the short waves, the radio trust fight and a score of sectional and local issues are involved with each name, and they will all be brought to the fore when the Senate considers the men named by the President.

An example of the politics in the situation is furnished by the deductions which have followed rumors that President Hoover intends to replace Judge Robinson, a West Virginian, with ex-Gov. E. F. Morgan of West Virginia, also a Republican and now solicitor of the Department of Commerce. This, it is said, would be construed as a political slap at Senator Goff, who obtained for Robinson his original appointment of the radio board and who is now running for reelection to the Senate against stiff Democratic opposition.

JOBS TO BE FILLED

Meanwhile, the commission is merely plodding along, with the commissioners, all of them eager for reappointment, sitting on the anxious seat. The commission itself has before it the problem of appointing a chief engineer and two assistants. An honest effort is being made to keep these all-important jobs out of the political maelstrom.

Though an aura of secrecy surrounds the commission's intentions, if indeed it intends to name the engineers before its own fate is decided, the names most prominently mentioned for the chief engineer's post and Lieutenant-Commander T. A. M. Craven of the Navy, outstanding authority on radio; Prof. C. M. Jansky, Jr., formerly of the University of Minnesota, and Dr. C. B. Jolliffe, Bureau of Standards scientist.

WIFE SUES PRODUCE MAN

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 14. (Exclusive)—Leo Maller, Salinas and San Francisco produce dealer, was sued for divorce today by Mrs. Clara Maller, who charges desertion after four years of married life. Mrs. Maller seeks "suitable alimony" and half of all Maller's property, which she asserts is community property.

"SILENT CAL" GOES "TALKIE"

Coolidge Chatters Blue Streak in New Orleans; Sightseeing Precedes Departure for Here

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 14. (AP)—It is "Silent Cal" no more.

The bearer of this cognomen came to town last night and has been talking a blue streak since. He will talk about anything except politics. He just laughs when that is mentioned.

Those who had known the silent, stern occupant of the White House hardly recognized Calvin Coolidge, private citizen, when he reached here with Mrs. Coolidge from Florida on his way to California.

They came in on an ordinary Pullman coach and were hailed by hundreds of people at the station. They were the center of a parade up Canal street with a police escort sounding sirens. At the hotel suite swarms of callers passed through. Gov. Long of Louisiana was a visitor.

Mr. Coolidge said he is enjoying splendid health, but explained he always had good health.

"I am like the man who said, 'I have no digestion.'"

For a brief instant, the former President's gay humor gave way to a wry look when he disclosed that the landlord of his simple duplex house in Northampton, which he has called home since he was a struggling lawyer, has raised his rent.

"No, I am not paying the $37.50 rent I was before I went to Washington but I'll not discuss that."

He readily conceded that President Hoover is a better fisherman than he is.

"Mr. Hoover has had forty years more experience at fishing than I have," he said. "I never have been deep sea fishing. I prefer creek trout."

The trip today, he said, completed his visit to every State in the Union except Arkansas, and he hopes to visit Arkansas soon.

ROOMS RESERVED HERE FOR COOLIDGES

Hotel accommodations for former President and Mrs. Calvin Coolidge, en route from Florida for a visit in Southern California, were reserved yesterday at the Biltmore. They are due to arrive in Los Angeles over the Southern Pacific at 9:15 a.m. Monday.

While the Coolidges have not indicated how long they will remain here on their visit, Charles A. Cooke, official greeter of the Chamber of Commerce, will meet them en route to ascertain the former President's wishes as to the reception program.

Mr. Coolidge has characteristically said but little of the visit he will make here, but it is surmised by his local friends that it simply is a pleasure tour.

CHURCH "PLOT" LAID TO TORIES

Laborite Paper Points to Anti-Russian Campaign

Religious Leaders Declared Dupes of Politicians

Others Join Catholics in "Persecutions" Protest

LONDON, Feb. 15. (Saturday) (AP) In a three-column story displayed under large headlines, the Labor Daily Herald this morning declared agitation in Great Britain against the reported religious persecution in Russia is "a gigantic tory political plot."

The newspaper, which is in close touch with the Labor government, says that "there is intense concern among Labor members of Parliament about this stunt." It asserts that the agitation is being conducted by a special committee including Lord Brentford, who is "Jix," or Sir William Joynson-Hicks, was Home Secretary in the Baldwin government, Lord Cushendon and Lord Winterton. Both the last named are prominent tories also.

LEADERS DUPED

"Certain leaders in religion, whose good faith cannot be challenged, have unwittingly associated themselves with this plot," the Daily Herald adds. Among the financial backers of the movement, it names Lady Houston, widow of the well-known shipping magnate.

The campaign referred to by the Daily Herald was publicly initiated on Wednesday when the Archbishop of Canterbury and the Archbishop of York, chief prelates of the Church of England, joined with Cardinal Bourne of the Roman Catholic church, in denouncing the "persecution of Christians" by the soviet government. Several days previously Pope Pius had severely attacked such "persecution" in an encyclical.

UP IN PARLIAMENT

The reports were brought up in Parliament by Conservative members on Thursday, Godfrey Locker-Lampson asking Foreign Secretary Henderson whether he would take immediate steps to bring the question of religious liberty in Russia before the League of Nations under Article XI of the covenant.

Henderson replied that he had "grave doubts whether the course suggested by the right honorable gentlemen would promote the object he has in view." He added that he is awaiting a report on the situation from British diplomats in Russia.

DORAN AIRS PADLOCKING PROCEDURE

Hotels Not Enjoined if Management Not Linked to Liquor Violations

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14. (AP)—Prohibition Commissioner Doran said today that the announcement by Prohibition Administrator Campbell in New York City that he intended to seek a padlock injunction against the Manger Hotel, where agents asserted they purchased liquor, is not an indication of a national policy in prohibition enforcement.

The commissioner said the bureau's procedure is never to seek padlock injunctions against any hotel unless it has been definitely proved that the hotel management is participating in the law violations.

He said that generally it has been found that where any bootlegging is done within a hotel it is carried on by employees without knowledge of the management. Officials of the large hotels, he continued, always co-operated with the prohibition bureau in preventing violations of the law on their premises.

Fear of Insanity in Family Brings Death for Four

WETHERSFIELD (Ct.) Feb. 14. (Exclusive)—The dread fear of a strain of a family insanity has brought sudden death to four members of the family in four months.

This mental terror today drove Mrs. Florence G. Townley, 25 years of age, wife of James Townley, shell-shocked war veteran, to pen several farewell notes, gather her 4-year-old daughter, Alice in her arms, and turn on the gas. Both were dead when the husband returned home.

The notes she had written to Townley explained the obsession that had gripped her since childhood. She had heard much of the hereditary taint, far too much for her peace of mind. And she did not want to pass madness on to her little daughter. The only way out, she wrote, was to end her life and take a life with her.

Four months ago her sister, Mrs. George Hallaran of Weehawken, N. J., killed herself and an infant son by the same means and, it is said, for the same reason. This fortified Mrs. Townley's own resolution to die, and pointed the way.

Funds Obtained for Page School

BALTIMORE, Feb. 14. (AP)—Guarantee of sufficient income for the next three years for the Walter Hines Page School of International Relations and plans for starting the work at once with John V. A. MacMurray, former Minister to China, as director, were announced by Johns Hopkins University today.

The new school, planned in 1924 as a memorial to the late Walter Hines Page, a Johns Hopkins alumnus, who was Ambassador to Great Britain during the war period, is to study causes that lead to international differences in a manner similar to the research of the Johns Hopkins Institute of Law in its field.

SOVIET PAYING OUT PLATINUM

Precious Metal Shipped to America on Debts

Moscow State Bank Reserves Show Depletion

Lena River Gold Concession Seized from Owners

RIGA, Feb. 14. (Exclusive)—A shipment of platinum valued at about $500,000 arrived here today from Moscow for trans-shipment to America, where the Bolsheviks are obliged to meet short-term credits granted by American firms.

The Latvian authorities were requested to keep news of the shipment secret since the depleted reserves of the precious metal in the Moscow State Bank is causing a further fall in the value of soviet currency abroad. Today large quantities of soviet rubles were offered here for exchange at 17 cents, while the Moscow State Bank continues to quote roubles at 50 cents.

CANCEL CONCESSION

In connection with this report it is interesting to note that the soviet government has cancelled the concession to the American-British Lena Goldfields Company to exploit the gold fields on the Lena River in Siberia which was arranged by Walter Brown, a personal friend of President Hoover.

For several years the company returned large profits but the decreasing gold reserves of the Moscow State Bank resulted in a special Cheka commission being sent to Siberia to investigate the company. They recommended that the concession be cancelled and the gold fields operated by the Moscow State Bank.

SOVIET METHODS

Persecution of the Lena company began three months ago, ending with a search of the company's office in Russia and the arrest of many officials who were accused of refusing to sanction Communist agitation upon the premises of the company.

All foreign concessions in Russia at present earning dividends are being cancelled, Bolshevik economists reporting that they can return larger profits under soviet management. Germany is hard hit by the present policy because it held the largest number of concessions in Russia and the relations between Moscow and Berlin are cooling.

Butler Enters Massachusetts Senatorial Race

BOSTON, Feb. 14. (Exclusive)—William M. Butler, former United States Senator from Massachusetts, close friend of Calvin Coolidge and director of the latter's successful Presidential campaign against John W. Davis, and former chairman of the Republican National Committee, today re-entered the political arena with the formal announcement of his candidacy for the Republican United States Senatorial nomination at the September primary.

In his statement Mr. Butler pledged full support to Republican party principles, promised active work in the Senate on behalf of industrial Massachusetts and New England and on the part of prohibition, which he classed as "one of the great issues of the hour." He said another statement will be forthcoming within a month, in which he will meet the issue squarely.

Mining Veteran Hit-Run Victim

CASA GRANDE (Ariz.) Feb. 14. (AP)—W. R. Ramsdell of Los Angeles, 70-year-old Montana, Arizona and Mexico mining man, is near death in a hospital here tonight while authorities are seeking a motorist who failed to stop after he had forced Ramsdell's and another machine off the highway west of Casa Grande.

VETERANS' HOSPITAL EMBEZZLER SENTENCED

LITTLE ROCK (Ark.) Feb. 14. (AP)—J. D. Hudson, former disbursing agent of the United States Hospital here, was sentenced to five years in the Federal penitentiary at Atlanta and fined $3000 following his conviction by a jury in Federal court today on a charge of embezzling $4113.60 in funds belonging to the hospital and to veterans.

PEONS SLAY STUDENTS IN RELIGIOUS MIX-UP

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 14. (AP)—A dispatch to Universal Grafico says that four students of the University of Mexico were reported killed and seven wounded when they entered a hacienda in the State of Queretaro on a field trip and survey. The advices received by the paper stated that peons and agrarians mistook the mission of the student body for a religious mission.

AERO CLUB RATIFIES COSTE'S NEW RECORD

PARIS, Feb. 14. (AP)—The Aero Club of France today ratified the Dieudonne Coste record for speed and distance over a closed circuit set January 18. Coste's plane, carrying 1100 pounds of useful load, made 2725 miles in 23h. 22m. 29s.—an average of 116.5789 miles an hour.

FOREST SUPERVISOR DEAD IN ARKANSAS

HOT SPRINGS (Ark.) Feb. 14. (AP)—R. H. Charlton, 51 years of age, supervisor of the Ouachita National Forest and for twenty-seven years a supervisor of national forests in different parts of the country, is dead here of injuries suffered in an automobile accident at Huntington, Tenn., last Friday.

COOLIDGE LOSES NIGHT SHIRT

Garment Left in Florida, So He Buys New One In New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 14. (AP)—Somebody made a mistake in packing former President Coolidge's baggage in Florida. His sleeping garment was left out.

After spending a restless night trying to sleep in pajamas in a New Orleans hotel, the former President called a bell boy and sent him out shopping. The boy returned with a bundle.

Mr. Coolidge opened it and proudly lifted out an old-fashioned night shirt.

CAB STRIKE RIOTS STILL CONTINUE

Police Use Tear Gas to Disperse Mobs in Taxi Drivers' Disorders

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 14. (AP)—Tear gas was used by police again today to Quell crowds which sought to attack strike-breaking cab drivers and cab guards. Two cabs were burned during the day and drivers and guards were stoned in different parts of the city, where cab operators have been on strike for more than a month.

The gas was released late today, police said, when persons gathered along sidewalks threatened to rush cabs.

One driver was said to have suffered a possible fractured skull when his cab was the target for stones and bricks. He was taken to a hospital. Three other drivers and guards also were treated at hospitals for injuries suffered when their machines were attacked.

The brakes of a cab were released on a hillside street in the Oakland district and the car ran wild, overturned in a ravine and took fire. Another cab was set on fire, police said.

ALABAMANS WARRING ON HIGHER-UPS

Birmingham Opens Drive on Lawbreakers of Every Degree in Joint Campaign

BIRMINGHAM (Ala.) Feb. 14. (AP)—Law enforcement bodies of Birmingham and Jefferson county joined hands today, armed themselves with axes, sawed-off shotguns and search warrants and instituted a drive against bootleggers and other lawbreakers.

At least three and possibly other well-organized bootlegging gangs are operating in the city, authorities said, and the current drive is directed at the "higher-ups" who thus far have eluded arrest. The leaders are described as living in hotels and elite residential districts, directing activities of the actual rum sellers without exposing themselves.

Police Chief McDuff has issued orders to all hotels and restaurants in the city forbidding the serving of cracked ice, cocktail shakers and other accessories that may be used in mixing illicit beverages.

Veteran Award Reversals Hit

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14. (AP)—Comptroller-General McCarl was criticised today by Representatives Swing of California and Schafer of Wisconsin, Republicans, for rulings by his office reversing compensation awards determined by the Veterans' Bureau.

He appeared at the request of the House Expenditures Committee at its hearing on the Shreve bill to increase the salaries of the assistant heads of government departments.

McCarl, under questioning by the Californian, explained that his office does not reverse the decisions of the various departments unless they are "flagrantly wrong." Swing insisted the Comptroller-General is setting himself up as a court of last resort on findings of fact by the departments but McCarl contended he is only carrying out the duties of his office and "protecting the right of Congress to control governmental expenditures."

Huge Gain Made in Air Travel

CHICAGO, Feb. 14. (AP)—A 1000 per cent increase in air travel during January as compared with the best month of 1929 was reported by Universal Air Lines today and was attributed by Col. Halsey Dunwood, executive vice-president, to the new low passenger rates.

Universal planes flew 1,415,480 miles in the last six months of 1929, carrying 14,700 passengers, 145,177 pounds of mail and 475 pounds of express.

SHIP HITS LIGHTSHIP IN DENSE BRITISH FOG

LONDON, Feb. 14. (AP)—London went to work by candle light this morning, a thick fog enveloping the city and a large area of the country. The fog belt extended from Tynemouth to Ross and down to Calshot.

Shipping in the affected coastal areas was badly hampered and in the thickness over the canal the American steamer West Saginaw came in contact with the South Goodwin lightship but escaped undamaged.

POWER BOARD CHANGE URGED

Senator Couzens Has Bill to Shift Membership

Civilians Wanted in Place of Cabinet Members

Inquiry Will Begin Monday on Commission's Work

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14. (AP)—Reorganization of the Federal Power Commission, substituting three appointed civilians for its present membership of three Cabinet members, and allowing it free scope in employing assistant personnel, is proposed in a bill that Senator Couzens, Republican, Michigan, has prepared for introduction.

A searching inquiry into the conduct of the commission's affairs will begin Monday, Senator Couzens presiding as chairman of the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee. He has called Charles A. Russell, solicitor to the commission, as the first witness. The three members probably will testify in course of the investigation.

ANOTHER PROPOSAL

While connected with the reorganization bill, the inquiry looks toward another proposal by Senator Couzens to establish Federal control of all interstate transmission, distribution and sale of power. The Senator said he had deferred the second proposal in order to get the first through as soon as possible.

Numerous difficulties which have arisen within as well as before the commission are expected to be laid before the committee by Russell, who already has testified on the subject before a House Appropriations subcommittee.

The inquiry will embrace, also, reference to specific cases that have been pending for years—such as the proposal by interests said to be identified with Samuel Insull, to generate power at Cumberland Falls, Kentucky.

PERSONNEL PLEA

Annual reports and other public expressions of former members of the commission have declared a need for more personnel. One report asserted that the commission, under its present set-up, is faced with two alternatives of restricting development of water power or allowing it without adequate preliminary investigation and regulation.

The bill proposing general regulation of interstate sale and distribution, Senator Couzens said, will be introduced later, probably during this session.

Mexico Frees Berkeley Man

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 14. (AP)—Carleton Beals, American author and newspaper man, was released tonight after six hours' detention at the garrison headquarters of Mexico City. The American Embassy investigated reports that he had been held by the police, but had not been able to get in touch with him.

Beals, who resigned on January 23 as correspondent of the soviet news agency Tass, has written and lectured widely about Mexico. His American address is Berkeley, Cal.

It was understood that Beals, who was arrested about noon today, was released after the American Embassy had made representations to the Mexican government.

His detention was apparently caused by his article, "Mexico and the Communists," in the current issue of an American publication.

GIRL RECOVERING FROM SOB SPASMS

ATTLEBORO (Mass.) Feb. 14. (AP) A few moments of light sobbing at intervals of several hours were the sole remainder today of the violent spasms of uncontrollable sobbing which Miss Violet Miguel suffered for several days this week. The young woman left her bed today for the first time since stricken.

CHICAGO MAYOR DRAWS HIS PAY

First in Line as Ghost Walks in Borrowell "Sheet"

Third of Six-Week Salaries Distributed to Some

But Valentine Day Less Rosy for Other Employees

CHICAGO, Feb. 14. (Exclusive)—St. Valentine smiled on many of the 18,000 Chicago city employees today. They received two weeks' pay of the six weeks' salary due them. The disbursement was due to the fact that City Treasurer Charles S. Peterson, back from a vacation, yesterday discovered that certain funds accrued from city license collections and other miscellaneous receipts could be applied to pay rolls.

One of the first "employees" to obtain his check was Mayor Thompson, who up to Peterson's return had been unable to alleviate the "payless pay day" situation. His half month's pay of $750 was delivered to his office. The forty municipal judges of the Municipal Court were other early recipients. Then followed 354 clerks of the Municipal Court, 282 bailiffs and 173 City Hall janitors. The other half of the employees paid are employed in the City Hall.

NOT ALL PAID TODAY

No checks were delivered to the police, firemen, employees of the health, law, electrical departments nor the board of local improvements. Some of them will receive their belated valentines tomorrow.

Aside from the two weeks compensation which the city is now handing out, there is $11,211,863 in unpaid salaries due 45,826 employees. Tomorrow's conferences has to do with this default and future pay rolls.

Hopes of city employees for early payment of salaries still in arrears after today's disbursements hang on a conference to be held tomorrow. It will be in the office of Lewis E. Myers, who initiated the present effort for co-operation of the citizens' committee and city officials to obtain cash for pay rolls by the sale of tax-anticipation warrants.

PROBLEM UNSOLVED

Mayor Thompson and his aides so far have not been able to sell any of these securities. For the citizens' group there will be present Silas H. Strawn, Robert F. Carr and Ernest R. Graham; and for the city, Corporation Counsel Ettleson, City Controller Schmidt and John A. Richert, chief of the Council Finance Committee staff. Mr. Myers, who was invited by the citizens' group to sit in, will probably be elected chairman.

City, school and county employees are pinning their confidence upon Mr. Myers and other private citizens. The county has failed twice to sell $7,000,000 of tax-anticipation warrants. H. Wallace Caldwell, president of the Board of Education and his agents have been trying in vain for twenty days to make a sale.

STREET CAR DRAGS AGED MAN ALONG

William Kozlonski's Skull Fractured in Accident at Bakersfield; May Die

BAKERSFIELD, Feb. 14.—Escaping instant death when knocked down and dragged beneath the wheels of a street car at a downtown intersection here last night, William Kozlonski, 60-year-old employee of the Kern County Land Company, is at a local hospital suffering from injuries that may prove fatal.

According to a report at police headquarters, Kozlonski received his injuries while crossing the intersection of Chester avenue and Twenty-first street. The ranch worker was struck by a northbound Bakersfield and Kern Electric Railway Company's car at the southern end of the street intersection and was carried within a few feet of the Hippodrome Theater before Motorman W. F. Pollen realized that the vehicle had struck a man.

Pollen first became aware of the accident when the man's body was swung around in front of the vehicle's headlight, shutting off its rays. Before the car could be stopped Kozlonski was dragged beneath the wheels, narrowly escaping decapitation.

He was taken from beneath the machine without the aid of the department crew, however, and rushed to San Joaquin Hospital.

NEGROES LOSE PLEA FOR RADIO STATION

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14. (AP)—The Federal Radio Commission today denied the application of the Kansas City (Mo.) American, negro newspaper, for permission to build a broadcasting station. The application is said to have been the first filed by a negro organization for permission to operate a radio station.

TERRIER GIVEN "KEYS TO CITY"

Denver Bestows Rare Honor on Dog of Venerable Centenarian

DENVER, Feb. 14. (AP)—A middle-aged fox terrier, Trixie, today obtained privileges that the city of Denver ordinarily extends only to kings, prime ministers, presidents and other famous personages.

Manager of Safety Hershey gave Trixie the "keys to the city," and she is, by official order, exempt from all taxes, dues and other liabilities for the rest of her canine life.

John Harrington, her owner, today celebrated his 108th birthday and a new dog license and collar, together with the special privileges for Trixie, were among the remembrances. His dog is his boon companion.

GIGANTIC THEATER PROPOSED

NEW YORK, Feb. 14. (Exclusive) A large theatrical venture which will exploit television, radio, talking pictures and plays in one immense building has been proposed, to be erected on the site assembled by John D. Rockefeller, Jr., for the new operahouse. The location, Forty-eighth to Fifty-first streets between Fifth and Sixth avenues, which was rejected by the Metropolitan Opera Company, is now held by the Metropolitan Square Corporation, controlled by Mr. Rockefeller.

Plans for the new development have not proceeded beyond the preliminary negotiation stage. According to the tentative discussion the National Broadcasting Company, General Electric Company, Radio-Keith and Orpheum and other allied groups would unite to form a new type of amusement and theatrical center. Television, the baby of the amusement field, would have its first tryouts on a large scale and the link between talking pictures, radio and television will be made closer.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 14. (Exclusive)—Jumping from a seventh-story window, a woman who registered at a hotel on Third street as Mrs. M. G. Smith of Los Angeles, was killed tonight. In her plunge she crashed into the canopy in front of the hotel and then fell into the street. She registered this morning.

CONDEMNED WOMAN DECLARED NOT SANE

FLORENCE, Feb. 14. (AP)—Dr. R. W. Brown, former physician at the State prison here, today signed an affidavit in which he declared Eva Dugan, sentenced to be hanged next Friday, is insane. The affidavit, Stanley Samuelson, the condemned woman's attorney, said, will be used in an effort to have Warden Wright request the Pinal County Superior Court judge, E. L. Green, to order a sanity trial in an eleventh-hour attempt to save her from the gallows.

DELHI COLONY DROPS LAND FINANCE PLAN

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 14. (AP)—The scheme known as Plan W as a means of adjusting financial affairs of the Delhi State land colony was abandoned temporarily, at least, and a sixty-day period agreed upon for Delhi settlers to formulate and present to the State a new plan of settlement, at a meeting here today of the State Land Settlement Board with representatives of the colonists. Plan W would have reduced settlers' payments to the State to approximately $375,000.

TRAVELER BACK WITH REPTILES

South Sea Expedition Led by Millionaire Returns

Rare Animals Obtained for Museum Exhibits

Quest for "Serpent" Fails, Explorers Report

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 14. (Exclusive)—The Chancellor-Stuart expedition to the South Seas, Australasia and the Malay States returned to this city today on the Makura with a reticulated python and scores of cases of rare reptiles and animals, but without the fabled sea serpent which the expedition "thought" it might find.

Philip Matthiesen Chancellor, 22-year-old so-called millionaire cub reporter, who headed the expedition, only smiled ruefully when he was asked about the sea serpent. But the success of the hunt was evident in other ways in the loaded holds of the steamer, the reptiles and animals being the victims of Chancellor, Norton Stuart, Santa Barbara naturalist, Dr. Henry Sidebotham and C. H. Dabney, both of the Field Museum, Chicago.

The youthful explorer eloped in August, 1927, from Lake Tahoe to Carson City, Nev., with Helen Carroll Baines, 16, a descendant of one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence. On the ground of youth, the marriage was annulled by his father, Dr. Philip S. Chancellor of Montecito, who went to the South Seas to met his son, and who whisked him away south in an automobile soon after the Makura docked today.

WIDOW GETS DAMAGES

VISALIA, Feb. 14. (AP) A jury awarded Mrs. Cora Absher of Tulare $13,075 damages here today for the death of her husband, William Absher, killed when a truck hit his automobile July 27. Joseph C. Woo and Dan Woo of Fresno were defendants. Mrs. Absher had asked for $40,000 damages.

Michigan Man's Container Becomes Bomb When Put in Stove

Five policemen went to his house on Railroad street last night and somehow Phillips got the idea they wouldn't be friendly about the jug.

So he threw the jug in the stove. The stove exploded and the house caught fire.

All of which impressed the police as disorderly. As soon as they had put the fire out they jugged Phillips and made a written statement that such dealings with a jug amount to disorderly conduct.

CHICAGO DEATH GUNS BLAZE OUT

Victim of Yesterday's Killing Italian Pickpocket

Society Gains New Victory in War on Hoodlums

Seven More Indicted and Nine Arraigned

CHICAGO, Feb. 14. (AP)—An Italian identified at the detective bureau as Tony Lombardo, 35-year-old pickpocket, was shot to death in a West Side alley tonight. The slaying was the first major crime on the anniversary of last Valentine Day's massacre of seven gangsters.

The Italian's body was found by residents attracted to the scene of the firing by several shots. The man apparently had been killed with a shotgun.

Any advantages in the war on hoodlums today were on the side of society. Seven men, among them some "big shots" from the hoodlum camp were named in indictments for gun toting. They are Bernard O'Donnell, George Barker, William (Three-Fingered Jack) White, Thomas Vinceri, Herman Tinson, John Clekay and Albert Carter.

Arraignment of nine others indicted previously and assurance of their speedy trials, also was counted a police victory. Others of more importance obtained continuances to enable them to meet the high bonds set in the gun-toting indictments, among them Jack McGurn, asserted lieutenant of Scarface Al Capone, and Tony Accardo, his bodyguard.

"That's the ticket... Buy Life Income in Leimert Park"

... said their financial advisor

Last week a couple from Vermont sat in the offices of their business advisor. They had a few thousand dollars, and wanted to invest it where the principal would be safe and the income good. A friend had suggested buying an income lot in Leimert Park, then having an apartment building financed.

"An excellent idea," said the consultant. "That spot is close in, it's attractive, the transportation's good, and the price seems very sound.

"I don't believe you could do better. After all, real estate is something solid. They can't take it away from you. And the prospects of a sizable income look very good indeed. My advice would be to go ahead."

That afternoon, so this couple tells us, they made another visit to Leimert Park. Very carefully they inspected flats and apartments, to see how well they were renting and for how much. They read the provisions of the Community Association, insuring the beautiful character of Leimert Park residential-income streets for all time. They saw schools on the property, Yellow Tc carlines, golf courses across the street. They saw surrounding activity which promised better than usual increase in values. They came into the office and bought.

Our work isn't over. We are arranging to finance a six-family building for this couple. We are supervising the design so that it will be in harmonious keeping with our community plan. We will instruct the builder, follow construction through to completion, and then provide tenants.

What income will these people enjoy? Taking into consideration taxes, interest and possible loss through vacancies, a conservative estimate of their income is 24% a year on their investment.*

This case isn't unique. You, today, can find just as good an opportunity for life income at Leimert Park. It happens that income lot prices are extremely low and that several choice sites have just been put on the market. Quick profits—far better than usual profits—are available here now with a small investment. We can give you, definitely, the largest income for the money invested of any property listed on the map of Los Angeles County.

Building financing can be arranged—or simply hold on to your income lot for the demand that creates easy profits. Reliable builders in Leimert Park are able to accept good equities in trade.

Come out to Leimert Park today or tomorrow—see the bustling activity of builders, home-seekers, renters. Take paper and pencil and figure out how this surge of profit-making is going to benefit you.

BATTLE CERTAIN ON RADIO BOARD

Appointees to Meet Senate Opposition

Commissioners' Terms End Next Saturday

Maze of Issues Involved in Situation

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14. (NANA) Every angle of the radio situation in Washington today leads to considerations of a political nature.

The key to the whole situation is held by President Hoover, who is expected to make his appointments to the Federal Radio Commission shortly after he returns from his Florida fishing trip. Terms of all the present commissioners expire after midnight, Saturday, the 22nd inst.

Whether the President reappoints the present commissioners or names one or more new ones, vigorous debate is almost certain to ensue in the Senate when the nominees come up for confirmation.

That the fight over the Radio Commission's personnel will be protracted seems almost certain, for radio is fast developing into a political issue with local and sectional as well as national ramifications.

Since only one week remains before the terms of the present commissioners expire, there is every likelihood that the Federal Radio Commission will be without members for days, weeks or even a month after the 22rd inst., unless the Senate unexpectedly speeds the confirmation of at least three of the nominees.

On the one hand the failure of the President to reappoint Chairman Robinson or Judge Sykes will provoke an immediate onslaught upon the administration from the Senate coalition forces, reinforced by such old guards as Senators Goff and Hatfield of West Virginia, who are said to be back of the Robinson appointment.

On the other hand while the reappointments of Commissioners Saltzman, Starbuck and LaFount are regarded as certainties they will precipitate a battle along another front. It is understood that a majority of the Senate Committee on Interstate Commerce, which considers the radio appointments in the first instance, is being lined up in opposition to Gen. Saltzman and Mr. Starbuck, largely on account of dissatisfaction with their testimony before that committee during the recent hearings on the Couzens bill.

As far as can be learned, there is little or no opposition to Commissioner LaFount.

MANY ISSUES

Rumors are flying thick and fast, but they are all clouded by a lack of knowledge of President Hoover's intentions. Broadcasting conditions, the scramble for the short waves, the radio trust fight and a score of sectional and local issues are involved with each name, and they will all be brought to the fore when the Senate considers the men named by the President.

An example of the politics in the situation is furnished by the deductions which have followed rumors that President Hoover intends to replace Judge Robinson, a West Virginian, with ex-Gov. E. F. Morgan of West Virginia, also a Republican and now solicitor of the Department of Commerce. This, it is said, would be construed as a political slap at Senator Goff, who obtained for Robinson his original appointment of the radio board and who is now running for reelection to the Senate against stiff Democratic opposition.

JOBS TO BE FILLED

Meanwhile, the commission is merely plodding along, with the commissioners, all of them eager for reappointment, sitting on the anxious seat. The commission itself has before it the problem of appointing a chief engineer and two assistants. An honest effort is being made to keep these all-important jobs out of the political maelstrom.

Though an aura of secrecy surrounds the commission's intentions, if indeed it intends to name the engineers before its own fate is decided, the names most prominently mentioned for the chief engineer's post and Lieutenant-Commander T. A. M. Craven of the Navy, outstanding authority on radio; Prof. C. M. Jansky, Jr., formerly of the University of Minnesota, and Dr. C. B. Jolliffe, Bureau of Standards scientist.

"SILENT CAL" GOES "TALKIE"

Coolidge Chatters Blue Streak in New Orleans; Sightseeing Precedes Departure for Here

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 14. (AP)—It is "Silent Cal" no more.

The bearer of this cognomen came to town last night and has been talking a blue streak since. He will talk about anything except politics. He just laughs when that is mentioned.

Those who had known the silent, stern occupant of the White House hardly recognized Calvin Coolidge, private citizen, when he reached here with Mrs. Coolidge from Florida on his way to California.

They came in on an ordinary Pullman coach and were hailed by hundreds of people at the station. They were the center of a parade up Canal street with a police escort sounding sirens. At the hotel suite swarms of callers passed through. Gov. Long of Louisiana was a visitor.

Mr. Coolidge said he is enjoying splendid health, but explained he always had good health.

"I am like the man who said, 'I have no digestion.'"

For a brief instant, the former President's gay humor gave way to a wry look when he disclosed that the landlord of his simple duplex house in Northampton, which he has called home since he was a struggling lawyer, has raised his rent.

"No, I am not paying the $37.50 that I was before I went to Washington but I'll not discuss that."

He readily conceded that President Hoover is a better fisherman than he is.

"Mr. Hoover has had forty years more experience at fishing than I have," he said. "I never have been deep sea fishing. I prefer creek trout."

The trip today, he said, completed his visit to every State in the Union except Arkansas, and he hopes to visit Arkansas soon.

ROOMS RESERVED HERE FOR COOLIDGES

Hotel accommodations for former President and Mrs. Calvin Coolidge, en route from Florida for a visit in Southern California, were reserved yesterday at the Biltmore. They are due to arrive in Los Angeles over the Southern Pacific at 9:15 a.m. Monday.

While the Coolidges have not indicated how long they will remain here on their visit, Charles A. Cooke, official greeter of the Chamber of Commerce, will meet them en route to ascertain the former President's wishes as to the reception program.

Mr. Coolidge has characteristically said but little of the visit he will make here, but it is surmised by his local friends that it simply is a pleasure tour.

CHURCH "PLOT" LAID TO TORIES

Laborite Paper Points to Anti-Russian Campaign

Others Join Catholics in "Persecutions" Protest

LONDON, Feb. 15. (Saturday) (AP) In a three-column story displayed under large headlines, the Labor Daily Herald this morning declared agitation in Great Britain against the reported religious persecution in Russia is "a gigantic tory political plot."

The newspaper, which is in close touch with the Labor government, says that "there is intense concern among Labor members of Parliament about this stunt." It asserts that the agitation is being conducted by a special committee including Lord Brentford, who is "Jix," or Sir William Joynson-Hicks, was Home Secretary in the Baldwin government, Lord Cushendon and Lord Winterton. Both the last named are prominent tories also.

LEADERS DUPED

"Certain leaders in religion, whose good faith cannot be challenged, have unwittingly associated themselves with this plot," the Daily Herald adds. Among the financial backers of the movement, it names Lady Houston, widow of the well-known shipping magnate.

The campaign referred to by the Daily Herald was publicly initiated on Wednesday when the Archbishop of Canterbury and the Archbishop of York, chief prelates of the Church of England, joined with Cardinal Bourne of the Roman Catholic church, in denouncing the "persecution of Christians" by the soviet government. Several days previously Pope Pius had severely attacked such "persecution" in an encyclical.

UP IN PARLIAMENT

The reports were brought up in Parliament by Conservative members on Thursday, Godfrey Locker-Lampson asking Foreign Secretary Henderson whether he would take immediate steps to bring the question of religious liberty in Russia before the League of Nations under Article XI of the covenant.

Henderson replied that he had "grave doubts whether the course suggested by the right honorable gentlemen would promote the object he has in view." He added that he is awaiting a report on the situation from British diplomats in Russia.

Hotels Not Enjoined if Management Not Linked to Liquor Violations

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14. (AP)—Prohibition Commissioner Doran said today that the announcement by Prohibition Administrator Campbell in New York City that he intended to seek a padlock injunction against the Manger Hotel, where agents asserted they purchased liquor, is not an indication of a national policy in prohibition enforcement.

The commissioner said the bureau's procedure is never to seek padlock injunctions against any hotel unless it has been definitely proved that the hotel management is participating in the law violations.

He said that generally it has been found that where any bootlegging is done within a hotel it is carried on by employees without knowledge of the management. Officials of the large hotels, he continued, always co-operated with the prohibition bureau in preventing violations of the law on their premises.

Fear of Insanity in Family Brings Death for Four

WETHERSFIELD (Ct.) Feb. 14. (Exclusive)—The dread fear of a strain of a family insanity has brought sudden death to four members of the family in four months.

This mental terror today drove Mrs. Florence O. Townley, 35 years of age, wife of James Townley, shell-shocked war veteran, to pen several farewell notes, gather her 4-year-old daughter Alice in her arms, and turn on the gas. Both were dead when the husband returned home.

The notes she had written to Townley explained the obsession that had gripped her since childhood. She had heard much of the hereditary taint, far too much for her peace of mind. And she did not want to pass madness on to her little daughter. The only way out, she wrote, was to end her life and take a life with her.

Four months ago her sister, Mrs. George Hallaran of Weehawken, N. J., killed herself and an infant son by the same means and, it is said, for the same reason. This fortified Mrs. Townley's own resolution to die, and pointed the way.

Funds Obtained for Page School

BALTIMORE, Feb. 14. (AP)—Guarantee of sufficient income for the next three years for the Walter Hines Page School of International Relations and plans for starting the work at once with John V. A. McMurray, former Minister to China, as director, were announced by Johns Hopkins University today.

The new school, planned in 1924 as a memorial to the late Walter Hines Page, a Johns Hopkins alumnus, who was Ambassador to Great Britain during the war period, is to study causes that lead to international differences in a manner similar to the research of the Johns Hopkins Institute of Law in its field.

SOVIET PAYING OUT PLATINUM

Lena River Gold Concession Seized from Owners

RIGA, Feb. 14. (Exclusive)—A shipment of platinum valued at about $500,000 arrived here today from Moscow for trans-shipment to America, where the Bolsheviks are obliged to meet short-term credits granted by American firms.

The Latvian authorities were requested to keep news of the shipment secret since the depleted reserves of the precious metal in the Moscow State Bank is causing a further fall in the value of soviet currency abroad. Today large quantities of soviet rubles were offered here for exchange at 17 cents, while the Moscow State Bank continues to quote roubles at 50 cents.

CANCEL CONCESSION

In connection with this report it is interesting to note that the soviet government has cancelled the concession to the American-British Lena Goldfields Company to exploit the gold fields on the Lena River in Siberia which was arranged by Walter Brown, a personal friend of President Hoover.

For several years the company returned large profits but the decreasing gold reserves of the Moscow State Bank resulted in a special Cheka commission being sent to Siberia to investigate the company. They recommended that the concession be cancelled and the gold fields operated by the Moscow State Bank.

SOVIET METHODS

Persecution of the Lena company began three months ago, ending with a search of the company's office in Russia and the arrest of many officials who were accused of refusing to sanction Communist agitation upon the premises of the company.

All foreign concessions in Russia at present earning dividends are being cancelled, Bolshevik economists reporting that they can return larger profits under soviet management. Germany is hard hit by the present policy because it held the largest number of concessions in Russia and the relations between Moscow and Berlin are cooling.

Butler Enters Massachusetts Senatorial Race

BOSTON, Feb. 14. (Exclusive)—William M. Butler, former United States Senator from Massachusetts, close friend of Calvin Coolidge and director of the latter's successful Presidential campaign against John W. Davis, and former chairman of the Republican National Committee, today re-entered the political arena with the formal announcement of his candidacy for the Republican United States Senatorial nomination at the September primary.

In his statement Mr. Butler pledged full support to Republican party principles, promised active work in the Senate on behalf of industrial Massachusetts and New England and on the part of prohibition, which he classed as "one of the great issues of the hour." He said another statement will be forthcoming within a month, in which he will meet the issue squarely.

Mining Veteran Hit-Run Victim

CASA GRANDE (Ariz.) Feb. 14. (AP)—W. R. Ramsdell of Los Angeles, 70-year-old Montana, Arizona and Mexico mining man, is near death in a hospital here tonight while authorities are seeking a motorist who failed to stop after he had forced Ramsdell's and another machine off the highway west of Casa Grande.

VETERANS' HOSPITAL EMBEZZLER SENTENCED

LITTLE ROCK (Ark.) Feb. 14. (AP)—J. D. Hudson, former disbursing agent of the United States Hospital here, was sentenced to five years in the Federal penitentiary at Atlanta and fined $3000 following his conviction by a jury in Federal court today on a charge of embezzling $4113.80 in funds belonging to the hospital and to veterans.

PEONS SLAY STUDENTS IN RELIGIOUS MIX-UP

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 14. (AP)—A dispatch to Universal Grafico says that four students of the University of Mexico were reported killed and seven wounded when they entered a hacienda in the State of Queretaro on a field trip and survey. The advices received by the paper stated that peons and agrarians mistook the mission of the student body for a religious mission.

AERO CLUB RATIFIES COSTE'S NEW RECORD

PARIS, Feb. 14. (AP)—The Aero Club of France today ratified the Dieudonne Coste record for speed and distance over a closed circuit set January 18. Coste's plane, carrying 1100 pounds of useful load, made 2725 miles in 23h. 22m. 29s.—an average of 116.5789 miles an hour.

FOREST SUPERVISOR DEAD IN ARKANSAS

HOT SPRINGS (Ark.) Feb. 14. (AP)—R. H. Charlton, 51 years of age, supervisor of the Ouachita National Forest and for twenty-seven years a supervisor of national forests in different parts of the country, is dead here of injuries suffered in an automobile accident at Huntington, Tenn., last Friday.

COOLIDGE LOSES NIGHT SHIRT

Garment Left in Florida, So He Buys New One In New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 14. (AP)—Somebody made a mistake in packing former President Coolidge's baggage in Florida. His sleeping garment was left out.

After spending a restless night trying to sleep in pajamas in a New Orleans hotel, the former President called a bell boy and sent him out shopping. The boy returned with a bundle.

Mr. Coolidge opened it and proudly lifted out an old-fashioned night shirt.

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 14. (AP)—Tear gas was used by police again today to Quell crowds which sought to attack strike-breaking cab drivers and cab guards. Two cabs were burned during the day and drivers and guards were stoned in different parts of the city, where cab operators have been on strike for more than a month.

The gas was released late today, police said, when persons gathered along sidewalks threatened to rush cabs.

One driver was said to have suffered a possible fractured skull when his cab was the target for stones and bricks. He was taken to a hospital. Three other drivers and guards also were treated at hospitals for injuries suffered when their machines were attacked.

The brakes of a cab were released on a hillside street in the Oakland district and the car ran wild, overturned in a ravine and took fire. Another cab was set on fire, police said.

ALABAMANS WARRING ON HIGHER-UPS

Birmingham Opens Drive on Lawbreakers of Every Degree in Joint Campaign

BIRMINGHAM (Ala.) Feb. 14. (AP)—Law enforcement bodies of Birmingham and Jefferson county joined hands today, armed themselves with axes, sawed-off shotguns and search warrants and instituted a drive against bootleggers and other lawbreakers.

At least three and possibly other well-organized bootlegging gangs are operating in the city, authorities said, and the current drive is directed at the "higher-ups" who thus far have eluded arrest. The leaders are described as living in hotels and elite residential districts, directing activities of the actual rum sellers without exposing themselves.

Police Chief McDuff has issued orders to all hotels and restaurants in the city forbidding the serving of cracked ice, cocktail shakers and other accessories that may be used in mixing illicit beverages.

Veteran Award Reversals Hit

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14. (AP)—Comptroller-General McCarl was criticised today by Representatives Swing of California and Schafer of Wisconsin, Republicans, for rulings by his office reversing compensation awards determined by the Veterans' Bureau.

He appeared at the request of the House Expenditures Committee at its hearing on the Shreve bill to increase the salaries of the assistant heads of government departments.

McCarl, under questioning by the Californian, explained that his office does not reverse the decisions of the various departments unless they are "flagrantly wrong." Swing insisted the Comptroller-General is setting himself up as a court of last resort on findings of fact by the departments but McCarl contended he is only carrying out the duties of his office and "protecting the right of Congress to control governmental expenditures."

Huge Gain Made in Air Travel

CHICAGO, Feb. 14. (AP)—A 1000 per cent increase in air travel during January as compared with the best month of 1929 was reported by Universal Air Lines today and was attributed by Col. Halsey Dunwood, executive vice-president, to the new low passenger rates.

Universal planes flew 1,418,480 miles in the last six months of 1929, carrying 14,700 passengers, 145,177 pounds of mail and 475 pounds of express.

SHIP HITS LIGHTSHIP IN DENSE BRITISH FOG

LONDON, Feb. 14. (AP)—London went to work by candle light this morning, a thick fog enveloping the city and a large area of the country. The fog belt extended from Tynemouth to Ross and down to Calshot.

Shipping in the affected coastal areas was badly hampered and in the thickness over the canal the American steamer West Saginaw came in contact with the South Goodwin lightship but escaped undamaged.

POWER BOARD CHANGE URGED

Senator Couzens Has Bill to Shift Membership

Civilians Wanted in Place of Cabinet Members

Inquiry Will Begin Monday on Commission's Work

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14. (AP)—Reorganization of the Federal Power Commission, substituting three appointed civilians for its present membership of three Cabinet members, and allowing it free scope in employing assistant personnel, is proposed in a bill that Senator Couzens, Republican, Michigan, has prepared for introduction.

A searching inquiry into the conduct of the commission's affairs will begin Monday, Senator Couzens presiding as chairman of the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee. He has called Charles A. Russell, solicitor to the commission, as the first witness. The three members probably will testify in course of the investigation.

ANOTHER PROPOSAL

While connected with the reorganization bill, the inquiry looks toward another proposal by Senator Couzens to establish Federal control of all interstate transmission, distribution and sale of power. The Senator said he had deferred the second proposal in order to get the first through as soon as possible.

Numerous difficulties which have arisen within as well as before the commission are expected to be laid before the committee by Russell, who already has testified on the subject before a House Appropriations subcommittee.

The inquiry will embrace, also, reference to specific cases that have been pending for years—such as the proposal by interests said to be identified with Samuel Insull, to generate power at Cumberland Falls, Kentucky.

PERSONNEL PLEA

Annual reports and other public expressions of former members of the commission have declared a need for more personnel. One report asserted that the commission, under its present set-up, is faced with two alternatives of restricting development of water power or allowing it without adequate preliminary investigation and regulation.

The bill proposing general regulation of interstate sale and distribution, Senator Couzens said, will be introduced later, probably during this session.

Mexico Frees Berkeley Man

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 14. (AP)—Carleton Beals, American author and newspaper man, was released tonight after six hours' detention at the garrison headquarters of Mexico City. The American Embassy investigated reports that he had been held by the police, but had not been able to get in touch with him.

Beals, who resigned on January 23 as correspondent of the soviet news agency Tass, has written and lectured widely about Mexico. His American address is Berkeley, Cal.

It was understood that Beals, who was arrested about noon today, was released after the American Embassy had made representations to the Mexican government.

His detention was apparently caused by his article, "Mexico and the Communists," in the current issue of an American publication.

GIRL RECOVERING FROM SOB SPASMS

ATTLEBORO (Mass.) Feb. 14. (AP) A few moments of light sobbing at intervals of several hours were the sole remainder today of the violent spasms of uncontrollable sobbing which Miss Violet Miguel suffered for several days this week. The young woman left her bed today for the first time since stricken.

CHICAGO MAYOR DRAWS HIS PAY

First in Line as Ghost Walks in Borrowed "Sheet"

Third of Six-Week Salaries Distributed to Some

But Valentine Day Less Rosy for Other Employees

CHICAGO, Feb. 14. (Exclusive)—St. Valentine smiled on many of the 18,000 Chicago city employees today. They received two weeks' pay of the six weeks' salary due them. The disbursement was due to the fact that City Treasurer Charles S. Peterson, back from a vacation, yesterday discovered that certain funds accrued from city license collections and other miscellaneous receipts could be applied to pay rolls.

One of the first "employees" to obtain his check was Mayor Thompson, who up to Peterson's return had been unable to alleviate the "payless pay day" situation. His half month's pay of $750 was delivered to his office. The forty municipal judges of the Municipal Court were other early recipients. Then followed 334 clerks of the Municipal Court, 382 bailiffs and 173 City Hall janitors. The other half of the employees paid are employed in the City Hall.

NOT ALL PAID TODAY

No checks were delivered to the police, firemen, employees of the health, law, electrical departments nor the board of local improvements. Some of them will receive their belated valentines tomorrow.

Aside from the two weeks compensation which the city is now handing out, there is $11,911,563 in unpaid salaries due 43,836 employees. Tomorrow's conferences has to do with this default and future pay rolls.

Hopes of city employees for early payment of salaries still in arrears after today's disbursements hang on a conference to be held tomorrow. It will be in the office of Lewis E. Myers, who initiated the present effort for co-operation of the citizens' committee and city officials to obtain cash for pay rolls by the sale of tax-anticipation warrants.

PROBLEM UNSOLVED

Mayor Thompson and his aides so far have not been able to sell any of these securities. For the citizens' group there will be present Silas H. Strawn, Robert F. Carr and Ernest R. Graham; and for the city, Corporation Counsel Ettleson, City Controller Schmidt and John A. Richert, chief of the Council Finance Committee staff. Mr. Myers, who was invited by the citizens' group to sit in, will probably be elected chairman.

City, school and county employees are pinning their confidence upon Mr. Myers and other private citizens. The county has failed twice to sell $7,000,000 of tax-anticipation warrants. H. Wallace Caldwell, president of the Board of Education and his agents have been trying in vain for twenty days to make a sale.

STREET CAR DRAGS AGED MAN ALONG

William Koslonski's Skull Fractured in Accident at Bakersfield; May Die

BAKERSFIELD, Feb. 14.—Escaping instant death when knocked down and dragged beneath the wheels of a street car at a downtown intersection here last night, William Koslonski, 60-year-old employee of the Kern County Land Company, is at a local hospital suffering from injuries that may prove fatal.

According to a report at police headquarters, Koslonski received his injuries while crossing the intersection of Chester avenue and Twenty-first street. The ranch worker was struck by a northbound Bakersfield and Kern Electric Railway Company's car at the southern end of the street intersection and was carried within a few feet of the Hippodrome Theater before Motorman W. F. Pollen realized that the vehicle had struck a man.

Pollen first became aware of the accident when the man's body was swung around in front of the vehicle's headlight, shutting off its rays. Before the car could be stopped Koslonski was dragged beneath the wheels, narrowly escaping decapitation.

He was taken from beneath the machine without the aid of the department crew, however, and rushed to San Joaquin Hospital.

NEGROES LOSE PLEA FOR RADIO STATION

Denver Bestows Rare Honor on Dog of Venerable Centenarian

DENVER, Feb. 14. (AP) — A middle-aged fox terrier, Trixie, today obtained privileges that the city of Denver ordinarily extends only to kings, prime ministers, presidents and other famous personages.

Manager of Safety Hershey gave Trixie the "keys to the city," and she is, by official order, exempt from all taxes, dues and other liabilities for the rest of her canine life.

John Harrington, her owner, today celebrated his 108th birthday and a new dog license and collar, together with the special privileges for Trixie, were among the remembrances. His dog is his boon companion.

GIGANTIC THEATER PROPOSED

NEW YORK, Feb. 14. (Exclusive) A large theatrical venture which will exploit television, radio, talking pictures and plays in one immense building has been proposed, to be erected on the site assembled by John D. Rockefeller, Jr., for the new operahouse. The location, Forty-eighth to Fifty-first streets between Fifth and Sixth avenues, which was rejected by the Metropolitan Opera Company, is now held by the Metropolitan Square Corporation, controlled by Mr. Rockefeller.

Plans for the new development have not proceeded beyond the preliminary negotiation stage. According to the tentative discussion the National Broadcasting Company, General Electric Company, Radio-Keith and Orpheum and other allied groups would unite to form a new type of amusement and theatrical center. Television, the baby of the amusement field, would have its first tryouts on a large scale and the link between talking pictures, radio and television will be made closer.

Woman Suicide Held Angeleno

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 14. (Exclusive)—Jumping from a seventh-story window, a woman who registered at a hotel on Third street as Mrs. M. C. Smith of Los Angeles, was killed tonight. In her plunge she crashed into the canopy in front of the hotel and then fell into the street. She registered this morning.

CONDEMNED WOMAN DECLARED NOT SANE

FLORENCE, Feb. 14. (AP)—Dr. R. W. Brown, former physician at the State prison here, today signed an affidavit in which he declared Eva Dugan, sentenced to be hanged next Friday, is insane. The affidavit, Stanley Samuelson, the condemned woman's attorney, said, will be used in an effort to have Warden Wright request the Final County Superior Court judge, E. L. Green, to order a sanity trial in an eleventh-hour attempt to save her from the gallows.

DELHI COLONY DROPS LAND FINANCE PLAN

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 14. (AP)—The scheme known as Plan W as a means of adjusting financial affairs of the Delhi State land colony was abandoned temporarily, at least, and a sixty-day period agreed upon for Delhi settlers to formulate and present to the State a new plan of settlement, at a meeting here today of the State Land Settlement Board with representatives of the colonists. Plan W would have reduced settlers' payments to the State to approximately $375,000.

TWO DIE IN ARGENTINE POLITICAL GUN FIGHT

BUENOS AIRES, Feb. 14. (AP)—Two persons were killed and more than a score wounded, some seriously, in a clash last night between Conservatives and Radicals at Lincoln, Province of Buenos Aires. More than 400 shots were fired. Among the seriously wounded are the Conservative deputies, Frisco and Vicnart. One of the dead is a police sergeant. Several of those seriously wounded probably will die.

ANGELENOS SUED IN BAY CITY ACCIDENT

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 14. TRAVELER BACK WITH REPTILES

Rare Animals Obtained for Museum Exhibits

Quest for "Serpent" Fails, Explorers Report

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 14. (Exclusive)—The Chancellor-Stuart expedition to the South Seas, Australasia and the Malay States returned to this city today on the Makura with a reticulated python and scores of cases of rare reptiles and animals, but without the fabled sea serpent which the expedition "thought" it might find.

Philip Matthiesen Chancellor, 22-year-old so-called millionaire cub reporter, who headed the expedition, only smiled ruefully when he was asked about the sea serpent. But the success of the hunt was evident in other ways in the loaded holds of the steamer, the reptiles and animals being the victims of Chancellor, Norton Stuart, Santa Barbara naturalist, Dr. Henry Sidebotham and C. H. Dabney, both of the Field Museum, Chicago.

The youthful explorer eloped in August, 1927, from Lake Tahoe to Carson City, Nev., with Helen Carroll Baines, 16, a descendant of one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence. On the ground of youth, the marriage was annulled by his father, Dr. Philip S. Chancellor of Montecito, who went to the South Seas to met his son, and who whisked him away south in an automobile soon after the Makura docked today.

WIDOW GETS DAMAGES

VISALIA, Feb. 14. (AP) A jury awarded Mrs. Cora Absher of Tulare $13,075 damages here today for the death of her husband, William Absher, killed when a truck hit his automobile July 27. Joseph C. Woo and Dan Woo of Fresno were defendants. Mrs. Absher had asked for $60,000 damages.

JUG DANGEROUS THING TO HAVE

JACKSON (Mich.) Feb. 14. (AP)—William L. Phillips had a jug.

Five policemen went to his house on Railroad street last night and somehow Phillips got the idea they wouldn't be friendly about the jug.

So he threw the jug in the stove. The stove exploded and the house caught fire.

All of which impressed the police as disorderly. As soon as they had put the fire out they jugged Phillips and made a written statement that such dealings with a jug amount to disorderly conduct.

CHICAGO DEATH GUNS BLAZE OUT

Victim of Yesterday's Killing Italian Pickpocket

Society Gains New Victory in War on Hoodlums

Seven More Indicted and Nine Arraigned

CHICAGO, Feb. 14. (AP)—An Italian identified at the detective bureau as Tony Lombardo, 35-year-old pickpocket, was shot to death in a West Side alley tonight. The slaying was the first major crime on the anniversary of last Valentine Day's massacre of seven gangsters.

The Italian's body was found by residents attracted to the scene of the firing by several shots. The man apparently had been killed with a shotgun.

Any advantages in the war on hoodlums today were on the side of society. Seven men, among them some "big shots" from the hoodlum camp were named in indictments for gun toting. They are Bernard O'Donnell, George Barker, William (Three-Fingered Jack) White, Thomas Vinceri, Herman Tinson, John Clekay and Albert Carter.

Arraignment of nine others indicted previously and assurance of their speedy trials, also was counted a police victory. Others of more importance obtained continuances to enable them to meet the high bonds set in the gun-toting indictments, among them Jack McGurn, asserted lieutenant of Scarface Al Capone, and Tony, Accardo, his bodyguard.

...said their financial advisor

Last week a couple from Vermont sat in the offices of their business advisor. They had a few thousand dollars, and wanted to invest it where the principal would be safe and the income good. A friend had suggested buying an income lot in Leimert Park, then having an apartment building financed.

"An excellent idea," said the consultant. "That spot is close in, it's attractive, the transportation's good, and the price seems very sound.

"I don't believe you could do better. After all, real estate is something solid. They can't take it away from you. And the prospects of a sizeable income look very good indeed. My advice would be to go ahead."

That afternoon, so this couple tells us, they made another visit to Leimert Park. Very carefully they inspected flats and apartments, to see how well they were renting and for how much. They read the provisions of the Community Association, insuring the beautiful character of Leimert Park residential-income streets for all time. They saw schools on the property, Yellow 7e carlines, golf courses across the street. They saw surrounding activity which promised better than usual increase in values. They came into the office and bought.

Our work isn't over. We are arranging to finance a six-family building for this couple. We are supervising the design so that it will be in harmonious keeping with our community plan. We will instruct the builder, follow construction through to completion, and then provide tenants.

What income will these people enjoy? Taking into consideration taxes, interest and possible loss through vacancies, a conservative estimate of their income is 24% a year on their investment.*

This case isn't unique. You, today, can find just as good an opportunity for life income at Leimert Park. It happens that income lot prices are extremely low and that several choice sites have just been put on the market. Quick profits—far better than usual profits—are available here now with a small investment. We can give you, definitely, the largest income for the money invested of any property listed on the map of Los Angeles County.

Building financing can be arranged—or simply hold on to your income lot for the demand that creates easy profits. Reliable builders in Leimert Park are able to accept good equities in trade.

Come out to Leimert Park today or tomorrow—see the bustling activity of builders, home-seekers, renters. Take paper and pencil and figure out how this surge of profit-making is going to benefit you.

*INCOME CHART

ORANGE SHOW'S THRONGS GROW

Twenty Thousand More See Second Day of Exhibits

Fraternal Order of Eagles' Day Observed Friday

Former President Coolidge and Wife May Attend

SAN BERNARDINO, Feb. 14.—The second day of the 1930 season of the National Orange Show ended tonight with at least 20,000 more persons added to the army of boosters who will continue to broadcast the fact that this is the largest, most artistic and most educational of all the twenty annual expositions which have been staged by this national orange classic.

The vastness and beauty of the show are commencing to dawn on the multitudes who have milled in and out of the turnstiles since the opening yesterday morning. Every hour gives to the host of visitors some new glimpse into the really magnificent display which is presented for their entertainment and education.

Show officials were hopeful today that former President Coolidge and Mrs. Coolidge will be guests of the show Monday night. The invitation was extended to them today with indications that they would accept.

Today has been known as National Order of Eagles' Day. The presence at the show of the National Grand Worthy President and other officers high in the esteem of the membership of this organization has been an added interest which has helped to attract the thousands to the exposition. One fact which has been very gratifying to the show management is that a great deal larger number than usual of eastern tourists have been noted among the spectators. From nearly every State in the Union has come automobiles bearing their loads of human freight direct from the ice-bound, snow-covered East to this land of oranges and sunshine.

REVELATION TO EASTERNERS

To this army of easterns the show is really a revelation and a thrill proving itself as one of the best publicity mediums of the Southland.

The entertainment features provided today have been of the same high standard which were offered on the occasion of the opening last night. Jose Arias and his troupe of serenading Mexican troubadours is proving as highly satisfactory as they have in the past. Arias and his band add a colorful note as they pass through the throng giving forth such rythym and melodies as only a collection of stringed instruments can. Brooks' Banjo Boys, Patsy Daly, the one-girl review, a troupe of twelve dancers from Samoa in the South Seas, Solito Ruiz, Spanish dancer, and the Collier sisters, well-known song-and-dance specialists, all appeared on the program of entertainment offered today and this evening.

Tonight the Redlands High School Band and Orange Glee Club added their note of youthful enthusiasm to the show and the "Band of Nations," whose music delighted the throngs on the opening night, continued to be one of the most popular musical numbers ever offered by the show management. As was true last night, the various entertainers appeared upon a series of small stages arranged above the display racks, which are arranged along the sides of the building.

JUDGES BUSY ALL DAY

The judges of fruit were busy all day today and will have their findings complete so as to make their announcements of the prizes some time tomorrow. The men chosen to judge the feature exhibits will begin the first thing in the morning and the annual rivalry between communities of the Southland will no doubt be announced tomorrow afternoon. Mrs. "Chef" Wyman, Times culinary expert, and Mildred Kitchen of the Los Angeles Herald, will arrive tomorrow to make an expert examination of the many displays in the by-products department in which is shown a multitude of delicacies which use as a base one of the several fruits produced in this section. The two ladies will be tendered a reception tomorrow afternoon by the exhibitors in this department and an opportunity will be afforded the public to meet these much-talked-about experts in the line of producing better things for stomach and palate.

Tomorrow will also be one of the annual red-letter days at the show, at which time members of the California Publishers' Association will attend the orange show in a body as guests of the management. Before going to the show grounds they will be tendered a luncheon at the California Hotel. The same program will apply to a body of commercial secretaries, which will also attend the show as a group. With the most favorable impression created by the opening program last night all Southern California seems to be convinced that the twentieth National Orange Show is far better and much bigger than any of the former efforts of San Bernardino's highly pleasing annual event.

This is expected to add day by day to the enthusiasm and the attendance to the end that the 1930 show is almost sure to break all records from a standpoint of the number of visitors. The weather conditions are ideal and the traffic conditions never have been excelled so that the management is planning to play host to a record-breaking crowd of pleasure seekers tomorrow and Sunday.

JEWELRY STORE ROBBED

MAYWOOD, Feb. 14.—Burglars broke into the Maywood Jewelry store at 4422 East Slauson avenue, according to word at police headquarters, stealing jewelry valued at $500, according to Chester A. Hansen and wife, who are owners of the establishment. Quite a number of watches were among the stolen articles. Entrance was made by breaking the glass in the front door and then reaching in, unlocking it.

BANKER HITCH-HIKES HOME

Redlands Party Motoring in Morongo Valley Have Trip Interrupted When Car is Set in Flames

REDLANDS, Feb. 14.—An automobile fire that apparently started from a backfire, terminated a pleasure trip yesterday into Morongo Valley undertaken by Warren Roach, assistant manager of the local branch of the Security-First National Bank, and others in his party. When a short distance beyond Morongo Inn, where they stopped for gasoline, the machine backfired and was soon in flames.

The passengers got out of the car safely, and with a blanket and sand finally got the fire out, but not before the car was made useless to continue the journey. Warren Roach and his brother, William hitchhiked back to this city, arriving about 3:30 p.m., procured another car and returned to Morongo, where they had left their mother, Mrs. John J. Roach, and Mrs. Warren Roach, comfortably enjoying the hospitality of the inn. It had been planned to make the circle of the mountains, from here through Whitewater, Morongo Valley, Warren's Well, Victorville and home again.

Only Few Men Are Needed at Tujunga Dam

TUJUNGA, Feb. 14.—Work has been started on the building of Tujunga Dam, but there will be very few jobs for workers before next July or August. Not more than thirty-five men will be employed until excavations are completed and the work of pouring concrete begins. This will not be until well into the coming summer.

At that time the entire crew of men will not be more than 150, according to E. M. Whipple, superintendent of construction for Edwards, Wildey & Dix, the contractors. A party of workers from the County Road Department is staking out a road to lead to the dam site and a road grader has been started at the mouth of the canyon.

Most of the men now on the job are employed cutting out the growth of stunted shrubs at the places where excavations will be made, to obtain foundations for the walls of the dam.

Dunamis Knights Chapter Formed

POMONA, Feb. 14.—Bringing to a close the local celebration of the twenty-first anniversary of Boy Scouting, the installation of the local chapter of the Knights of Dunamis, Eagle Scout fraternity, was held in the local Elks' lodge rooms last night. C. J. Carlson of Los Angeles, honorary member of the grand chapter, was in charge. Officers were installed as follows: Carl Middleton, commander; Robert Harvey, senior counselor; Douglas Mann, junior counselor; Le Roy Gemmell and Vincent Combs, guides; Rolland Ehret and Carl Carlson, guards; John Beahrs, secretary, and Earl Middleton, treasurer. Chapter advisers are Dr. Hewlett Scudder, commander of the local American Legion Post; A. B. Whitney and L. R. Lucas.

Preceding the installation ceremonies a dinner was held in honor of Carlson, with Merrill E. Fellows, president of Old Baldy Council, Boy Scouts of America, and Carlson as honored guests, and L. D. Wallenstein, W. H. Michener, Glenn D. Smith, H. W. Shattuck, A. B. Whitney, L. R. Lucas and O. A. Alderson among those present.

OLD WAR CANNON TO BE PLACED IN PARK

NORTH HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 14. The local Legion post has asked permission of the park authorities to place the piece of artillery now in front of the office of Tom Law on Tujunga avenue, in some part of the new North Hollywood Park. The huge cannon was used during the World War and was a gift of the War Department to the Legion post here. When the gun is removed to the park it will be properly mounted on a concrete base and otherwise made into a permanent memorial.

DRUGGIST'S MOTHER DIES

HUNTINGTON PARK, Feb. 14.—W. H. Guest, local druggist, has received word of the death of his mother, Mrs. Phoebe W. Guest, at her home in Glassboro, N. J., Wednesday morning, at the age of 76 years. She was here for more than a year as the guest of her sons, one in this city, and Justice B. Guest of Los Angeles, who is also a druggist. She left here last September, returning to her home in the East.

DEATH PUTS OFF TRIAL OF WOMAN

Delay Granted When Court Told of Death of Mother She is Held for Attacking

WILMAR, Feb. 14.—Mrs. Grace Evans of 246 West Fifteenth street, Los Angeles, was to have appeared in the El Monte Justice Court today for a preliminary hearing on a charge of assaulting her 80-year-old mother, Mrs. Nellie Siler of 2108 Brighton avenue here. The hearing was postponed for two weeks when Mrs. Evans's attorney announced that the aged woman had passed away this morning. Meanwhile officers of the Temple City Sheriff's station will continue their investigation.

The charge against Mrs. Evans was filed by Mrs. Laura Strong about two weeks ago. Mrs. Strong, a nurse, was in attendance at the bedside of Mrs. Siler, who was critically ill with a cerebral hemorrhage. According to the nurse, the asserted attack took place when Mrs. Strong and Mrs. Siler remonstrated with Mrs. Evans for taking certain articles out of a desk belonging to the mother. Mrs. Siler is said to have suffered a relapse as a result of the altercation.

Funeral services for Mrs. Siler will be conducted Monday morning at the chapel of F. A. Utter & Son, Alhambra. She had been a resident of California for twelve years.

Neptune Fount to be Dedicated at Palos Verdes

PALOS VERDES, Feb. 14.—Public ceremonies to dedicate the new fountain of Neptune erected in Malaga Cove Plaza here will be conducted Sunday at 3 p.m. with representatives of the State, county and near-by cities participating.

The fountain, the gift of the Palos Verdes project to the community, it is a marble replica approximately two-thirds the size of the great bronze fountain of Neptune, erected in the city of Bologna, Italy, in the year 1563. The original figure was by Gian Bologna and the carved pedestals by Palmerita Lauretti, in collaboration.

It is reported that the present marble replica graced the courtyard of an old villa in the Gorizia region north of Venice before the war forever. Chapter advisers are Dr. Hewlett Scudder, commander of the local American Legion Post; A. B. Whitney and L. R. Lucas.

Aside from its appeal as a historic art object, the subject is considered particularly appropriate for this seaside community. It will be officially handed over to the community by Jay Lawyer, general manager of the Palos Verdes Estates project, and will be accepted by W. J. Braunsweiger on behalf of the art jury, the Homes Association, and the Board of Library Trustees, under whose auspices the ceremonies are held. Lieut.-Gov. Carnahan will represent Gov. Young at the ceremonies and C. Herrick Hammond of Chicago, president of the American Institute of Architects, will be among the speakers.

ONTARIO ELKS' LODGE NOMINATES OFFICERS

ONTARIO, Feb. 14.—First nominations of officers to serve Ontario lodge of Elks, No. 1419, were made during the annual past exalted rulers' night last night. Those nominated are: Guy Billington, Exalted Ruler; Karl Hass, Leading Knight; John Galvin, Loyal Knight; William Atchley, Lecturing Knight; John McCutcheon, Secretary; Vern Pittinger, Tyler; Trustees: Maurice Wall, W. W. Majors, George Gaylord; delegates to Grand Lodge at Atlantic City: William Springer and Ed Lowe. Officers and members of Ontario lodge will go to Pomona Lodge the evening of the 26th inst., to initiate a class of candidates.

SPANISH WAR RECALLED

Veterans of "Ninety-eight" Hold Homecoming Banquet at Col. W. G. Schreiber Camp in Pomona

POMONA, Feb. 14.—Memories of '98 were revived at the annual homecoming banquet of the Col. W. G. Schreiber Camp No. 51, and Schreiber Auxiliary No. 35, United Spanish War Veterans, last night when 200 members and guests assembled at the local American Legion Hall for the festivities. The banquet was the means of getting many comrades together who had not seen one another for many years, and many pleasant reunions were held. Commander C. S. Vanderbeck acted as toastmaster, while H. J. Gee, commander of the local camp, welcomed the visitors.

The address of welcome was delivered by Mayor C. C. Caves, while P. D. Swick, member of the G.A.R., gave personal reminiscences of the life of William McKinley. Col. Schreiber, after whom the local camp is named, was present, and welcomed his old comrades. Among the distinguished guests who spoke were State Commander A. C. Munson of Los Angeles, G. L. Gregory, patriotic instructor of San Bernardino; C. R. Judd, commander of Roosevelt Camp, Los Angeles; W. B. Leavenworth, State adjutant, Los Angeles; William Baxter, quartermaster of Roosevelt Camp, Los Angeles; Della Weeks Moore, nurse and captain, 1898, Santa Monica; C. H. Preis and A. V. Hughes, camp commanders, Ontario, and many others.

The main speaker of the evening was Antonio P. Entenza, past national commander in chief, who spoke on problems confronting the organization and nation.

PILOT PANCAKES PLANE ON BAY

He and His Passenger Escape Uninjured from Craft

It Sinks Ten Minutes After Landing on Water

Low Ceiling Ends Pickwick Airways Tia Juana Trip

SAN DIEGO, Feb. 14.—C. W. Gilpin, pilot, and an unidentified passenger narrowly escaped injury today when a mail plane of the Pickwick Airways sank after a forced landing in San Diego Bay off the foot of Fifth street.

Bound for Tia Juana, Gilpin and his passenger departed from Lindbergh Field at 6:05 a.m. The fog ceiling of 600 feet prevailed above the field, but as the plane swung southward over the bay the ceiling dropped and Gilpin found himself flying dangerously low. To avoid the danger of striking one of the warships anchored in the harbor he deliberately dropped the plane and made a "pancake" landing on the water, reports state.

Climbing out on one of the plane's wings Gilpin and his companion remained afloat for nearly ten minutes before the craft sank. The two were rescued by the crew of the destroyed Farenholt, berthed alongside the tender Altair. The navy crash boat from North Island was pressed into service in an attempt to raise the plane.

The plane left Lindbergh Field with no mail aboard, it is reported. Stops for mail were to have been made at Tia Juana, Mexicali and Nogales. The plane is one operated by the Pickwick Airways in carrying mail and passengers between Los Angeles, San Diego and Mexico City.

RIVERSIDE GIRLS HELD WITH MEN

Quartet Detained by Santa Barbara Police Awaiting Instructions

RIVERSIDE, Feb. 14.—Warren Hackler, 18 years of age, of Long Beach, faces a probable charge of child stealing, District Attorney's Investigator Kelly announced today after conference with Mr. and Mrs. H. Farmer of Hemet. Maxine Jones, 15, of San Jacinto, whose parents are not known to Kelly, is said to have visited the Farmer home on the 8th inst. in company with young Hackler. The two said they wanted the Farmers' 15-year-old daughter Dorothy to go to a picture show with them.

The trio left and, according to Farmer, his daughter has not returned since. Mrs. Farmer, the mother, will go to Los Angeles tomorrow and plans, she announced, to charge J. L. Stranahan, 24, and Jack Atkins, 19, both of Long Beach, with contributing to the delinquency of a minor. The San Jacinto girls are said to have been found in the company of Stranahan and Atkins at Santa Barbara, and all four are held by police there for Riverside authorities.

Kelly said that any prosecution of Hackler will have to take place in Riverside county, but that as the girls apparently joined the other two men in Long Beach, the charges against them will be heard in Los Angeles.

Chamber Takes Stand Against Worthless Ads

INGLEWOOD, Feb. 14.—A definite stand against worthless advertising schemes sold to merchants and business men by floating promoters was taken yesterday by the local Chamber of Commerce through its retail merchants' committee, when an agreement was signed by every retailer and business man in the city whereby the chamber will levy a fine of 100 per cent of any amount spent by any party to the agreement for advertising through any medum not specifically indorsed by the chamber. This indorsement is not required for newspaper advertising, but must be given, according to the agreement, before any of the signing parties may pay for advertising space on composite photographs, blotters, telephone pads, theater or church programs, thermometers or hotel registers, or the purchase of ex-service men's magazines, Memorial or Armistice Day cards, "Lest-We-Forget" cards, or patronize special advertising schemes, "blind" men, "out-of-luck" or "sick-relative" or "students-working-their-way-through-college schemes," and other types of solicitation, begging and petty graft.

Salesman Hit by P.E. Car at El Monte Dies

ALHAMBRA, Feb. 14. — Harry R. Brainard, 40 years of age, wholesale grocery salesman of 1837 South Third street, died early today from injuries received yesterday when his automobile was struck by a Pacific Electric train in El Monte.

According to reports of the Temple City Sheriff's office, Brainard was driving his sedan at a slow rate of speed and started across the tracks in the path of the train, although the wig-wag signal was in operation. Ralph McDonald, P. E. towerman, was an eyewitness of the crash.

AVIATOR WINS IN ODD SUIT

American Court Awards San Diego Flyer Cost of Ship Lost in Mexico

SAN DIEGO, Feb. 14. (AP)—E. C. Koehler, San Diego aviator, today was awarded $4500, the full amount he had asked for in his suit against Francisco Manzo, former Mexican revolutionary general, and former Governor Fausto Topete of Sonora, for loss of his airplane during the recent imbroglio below the border, by Judge Spencer M. Marsh in Superior Court.

In his opinion Judge Marsh commented that he did not believe the plane was worth $4500, its value "no doubt being padded" by Koehler, but that the defense had offered no contradiction to the estimate.

Evidence presented showed that the defendants had taken and wrecked Koehler's plane, the judge continued. He stated further that he did not exactly approve of the American aviator's action in running the chance of jeopardizing this country's neutrality "although this neutrality was not really involved." The recent Mexican trouble was not a real uprising of the people and consequently did not constitute a true revolution, in Judge Marsh's opinion. Therefore, neither of the defendants had standing as revolutionists, according to his ruling.

Neither the plane nor any of its parts was recovered by Koehler, although it was shipped as far north as Nogales, following the so-called "siege" of Mazatlan, it was brought out.

Bank Hold-up Feared When Rifle Speaks

SAN DIEGO, Feb. 14.—Passers-by, depositors and bank employees were considerably excited here this morning when a marine guard's rifle sent a bullet smashing through a plate glass window into the First National Bank at Broadway and Fifth avenue.

The marine, Corp. J. Harris, was waiting on the outside of the bank with another guard to convoy the monthly pay roll to the Marine Base when the accident happened.

Harris said he was holding the rifle in his hands when some one struck his arm, touching off the trigger. The bullet broke the window in the front and lodged in a wall in the bank.

Pat Keane, traffic patrolman on duty near by, heard the shot and rushed over to the bank, fearing that an attempt was being made to rob the institution.

Output Shows Lettuce Strike Not Succeeding

BRAWLEY, Feb. 14.—That the Imperial Valley lettuce industry has not yet been seriously affected by the strike of the packers which was called last Tuesday, was indicated yesterday when 167 carloads rolled to market. Shipments on Wednesday amounted to 183 cars and on Tuesday to 266 cars.

Additional workers are reported to have left the sheds in this city yesterday and strike leaders assert that they now have over 700 men in the walkout. It was asserted at the labor headquarters here today that 900 cutters and trimmers would leave the work tomorrow in a sympathetic strike.

The workers are asking for 5 cents a crate for packing and $1 an hour for time labor. The scale previous to the strike was 3 3-4 to 4 cents a crate and 75 cents an hour for time work.

While the shippers admit that they are short of help in many of the sheds they assert that additional workers are being secured to take the places of the strikers and point to the continued heavy output as evidence that the industry has not suffered seriously. Today's output will be about two-thirds of normal, it was stated.

Missing Mother and Babe Found in Los Angeles

BREA, Feb. 14.—Mrs. Lenora Huntley, 20 years of age, and her month-old babe, missing here since Monday of this week, have been located in Los Angeles, where the mother is making her home at 825 South Maple street, according to William Williams, Chief of Police.

Mrs. Huntley has informed Chief of Police Williams that she has left her husband, placed her child in a home and has gone to work. She admitted accepting a ride from Brea to Downey Monday with Mrs. T. B. Karcher of Anaheim. A. D. Huntley, her husband, went to Los Angeles today to attempt a reconciliation.

Finding the woman ends a search begun in fear that Mrs. Huntley had been driven by despondency to take her life in the rough, hilly country to the northward of Brea.

DR. FLOYD SMITH NEW SCOUT CHIEF

SAN FERNANDO, Feb. 14.—Dr. Floyd Smith has accepted the appointment as commissioner of the San Fernando district of the Boy Scouts Council of San Fernando Valley. He succeeds Willis Rowe who has resigned because of a press of personal business. Dr. Smith has a number of years experience in Boy Scout work. The winter camp of the Scouts in Elizabeth Canyon near Castaic will be open tomorrow and Sunday. Boy Scouts will be given tests which if passed will advance them on to higher Scout rating.

ANIMAL ACT FAILS TO CLICK

Crawling on All Fours in Simulation of Prowling Quadruped, Asserted Burglar Fails to Escape Notice of Constabulary; Two Arrests Made

INGLEWOOD, Feb. 14.—Crawling along the ground huddled up to imitate an escaped orang-outang or a meandering alley cat, failed utterly as a jail-dodging ruse for Richard Hightower, 4826 West Linden street, when he attempted this means of effecting egress from the scene of his asserted depredations and those of his brother, Harold Hightower, in a local warehouse last evening when officers of the law turned a flashlight full on the queer moving object, and Richard Hightower, the man, stood revealed, or more accurately speaking, squatted.

In response to a call from Sam Kreech of 4936 Linden street, that the warehouse in the rear of his store was being pilfered, Acting Constable Hernlein and Deputy Constables Rector and Snyder posted themselves at strategic points to watch developments, and shortly were amazed to see an animal of entirely new and unprecedented outline come ambling along the shady spaces near the shrubbery. When seized by the officers, the Lon Chaney understudy seemed slightly under the influence of liquor, according to the constable's records, and talked freely, implicating his brother Harold, who, too, was immediately arrested and, together with Richard, charged with burglary.

In the course of his confession Richard led the officers to a place in the rear of his home where two five-gallon bottles partly filled with wine were found.

Richard was booked on the charge of possession, pleaded guilty and was fined $50 or sentenced to ten days in jail. They will be arraigned on the burglary charge today.

MOUNTAIN ROAD PLANNED

Federal Bureau to Defray Cost of Oil-mix Paving on Entire Hemet-Idyllwild Highway, Engineer Says

RIVERSIDE, Feb. 14.—Paving of the entire Hemet-Idyllwild highway from the end of the county pavement at Valley Vista to Idyllwild Inn by the United States Bureau of Public Roads was announced today by the bureau's chief engineer, B. O. McBeth. Bids are to be asked almost immediately, McBeth stated, and it is expected that the project will be completed by August 1, next. The distance to be improved is more than fifteen miles and the cost will be approximately $50,000.

McBeth revealed that the government will specify a heavy oil mix for the job. This type of paving is said to have been found especially satisfactory on mountain highways.

Construction work will be under way most of the summer, but the highway will be kept open without interruption for travel to the San Jacinto mountain resorts. A one-way route will be maintained with officers on hand at all times to supervise a system of controls. The paving will be completed in 3600-foot sections, Engineer McBeth said, so that the road will be open for two-way travel at all places except the particular 3600-foot stretch where work is in progress.

The entire cost will be paid by the United States government. The announcement of the paving means that the road to the San Jacintos will be perhaps the finest mountain highway in the State, county officials declared today. It is a high-gear road and will be open at all times of the year.

GATHERING OF GYPSIES UNWANTED

Romany Families Coming Into Santa Barbara for Convention Ordered Away

SANTA BARBARA, Feb. 14.—With gypsies flocking here from the far corners of the State for a supposed convention, Chief of Police George Sloan yesterday issued an ultimatum to the wandering delegates to move on, and declared he will keep all the incoming delegates moving out of the city as fast as they arrive.

He ordered his men to clear out a camp or two within the city limits today. "I'm not going to have any gypsies' convention in this town," declared the chief as he advised everyone in town to nail down all movable articles about their houses and to keep all their children off the street after dark.

Two weeks ago Mike Toney announced a gypsies' convention for this city to unite the western wanderers against a supposed "King Bimbo" of Chicago. Of late, Toney, who is operating a fortune-telling booth here, denies any connection with the gypsy clan assembling here.

During the past few days, a half-dozen gypsy families have been railroaded out of town by the police. The convention was scheduled here for the first week in March, it was said.

Edison Company Named in Suits

VENTURA, Feb. 14.—Three more suits against the Southern California Edison Company for damages resulting from the Sulphur Mountain fire of September 16, have been filed in the Superior Court, totaling $21,753.

Steve Masseras asks $2329 for loss of a barn, hay, two wagons, fifty gallons of gas, ten gallons of oil, fifty almond trees, and other objects, which, he asserts, were destroyed because of the negligence of the Edison company when its power line across Santa Paula Creek broke and is said to have caused the conflagration that followed.

E. Gauge, asking for $4430, says that his losses were a house, barn, engine and engine house, chicken houses, line fences, timber and pasturage.

MOORPARK CHAMBER ELECTS

MOORPARK, Feb. 14.—C. M. Wilson was re-elected president of the local Chamber of Commerce at the annual meeting held here. Don Mentor will serve as secretary and Grayson Graham was named treasurer. It was disclosed in a report read that the Edison company will assist the local chamber in suspending two large road signs to guide tourists in and out of here.

SAN DIEGO CROPS POPULAR

County's Produce in Great Demand in Los Angeles and in Eastern Points, Agricultural Leader Says

SAN DIEGO, Feb. 14.—San Diego county is doing a lively and flourishing business shipping produce to Los Angeles and the East, County Agricultural Commissioner Robert R. McLean reported to the Board of Supervisors today. Business for 1929 exceeded that for the year before by 1252 railway carloads, the commissioner's report showed. Last year's shipments totaled 5607 carload lots. The year before the total stood 4355.

Such products as apricots, asparagus, avocados, green and dry beans, berries, cauliflower, celery, cantaloupes, cucumbers, corn, cactus, apples, eggplant, grapes, grapefruit, lemons, lettuce, oranges, peas, peppers, sweet and "Murphy" potatoes, rhubarb, squash, tomatoes, mixed vegetables and miscellaneous vegetables figured in the shipments.

The shipment report took no account of honey, beef or the other food-product shipments, which the commissioner roughly estimated at being on a like increase. Lemons loomed largest on the shipment total, with 1646 cars. Next went 1263 cars of celery; 473 cars of oranges; 619 cars of tomatoes; 130 potatoes of the Irish variety and four carloads sweets; 290 lettuce; 288 grapes; 316 cauliflower; 167 green beans; and even four carloads of the county's newest and considered likely to be the most important product of all, the avocado.

TWENTY-FIFTH SPOUSE TAKEN BY EX-WAR LORD

TOKIO, Feb. 14. (AP)—Word that the much-married Chang Tsung-chang, former war lord of Shantung Province, has wedded again at Beppu, Kyushu, where for a year he has been living as a refugee, reached Tokio today. The bride is a 17-year-old Chinese beauty, Chang Chu, who arrived in Japan recently from Dairen with Chang's mother. The wedding ceremony was performed last night. According to accounts, the new Mme. Chang is wife No. 25 for Tsung-chang.

In taking a new companion to share the tedium of his exile Chang apparently spared no expense. The nuptials were solemnized in Chinese rites at Beppu's finest restaurant. The room was decorated with gilt and scarlet hangings. After the ceremony there was a lavish feast, for which delicacies were brought from China. About forty Chinese refugees attended.

Until recently three of Chang's wives were living at Beppu. Accounts fail to mention whether any of them participated in the celebration. Other wives of the war lord are scattered through Shantung and Manchuria.

Chang has remained at Beppu since his abortive military invasion of Shantung in the spring of 1926. He is 49 years of age, is 6 feet 3 inches tall and weighs 235 pounds.

Minnesotans Get Ready to Bray in Unison Demanding Fairness for Farmers

WHITE BEAR (Minn.) Feb. 14. (AP)—The first "Sons of Wild Jackasses Club" the purpose of which is to "bray for fair treatment for the farmer," organized today with a list of 200 charter members.

Robert Freeman, St. Paul, is the founder of the organization, which adopted its name from the characterization which Senator Moses of New Hampshire recently applied to insurgent Senate Republicans—"sons of wild jackasses." Senator Moses was elected honorary chief bullwhacker of the order.

A white badge, the size of a half-dollar and bearing the silhouette of a jackass with his hind feet in the air, is the emblem of the club.

Freeman said the name and the button of the order will be copyrighted and that he believes the movement may swell to nation-wide proportions.

HARMONY SEEN FOR STEEL MEN

End of Sharp Practices on Coast Predicted

Merger Effects Interpreted at State Convention

Move for Skyscrapers Here Gains Strength

DEL MONTE, Feb. 14. (Exclusive) Recent important steel mergers on the Pacific Coast will rectify unsatisfactory conditions that have resulted in detrimental ulterior practices in the industry in the past, declared A. T. De Forest, San Francisco, vice-president of United States Steel Products Company, Columbia department, today's principal speaker at the California iron and steel conference here. De Forest expressed great optimism in discussing business prospects of the industry for 1930.

Pleading for an "unselfish honesty of purpose and the spirit of the golden rule," De Forest gave assurance of a fair policy in connection with eastern steel mill products offered for sale in Pacific Coast territory.

CO-OPERATION POSSIBLE

"Pacific Coast steel makers cannot consistently be hostile to sharing with other American manufacturers a fair portion of the Pacific Coast steel tonnage at fair market prices," said De Forest.

"The steel-manufacturing industry in California and in other western States recently has experienced changes in ownership, and an opportunity is presented, greater than ever before, for a leadership to be taken by these Pacific Coast steel makers in the adoption of policies that should lead to a co-operative service in the interests of the recognised distributors of steel products, and in the service to the growing, varied industries in Pacific Coast territory. It remains for the producers, distributors and fabricators of steel products in this territory to adopt a constructive program and a more uniform business selling policy, and the maintenance of selling values that will bring a fair return on capital invested, quality of product and for services rendered.

SKYSCRAPERS URGED

"Los Angeles will not attain its self-appointed objective of becoming the largest city in the world within fifty years unless it changes its building restrictions to permit skyscrapers in commercial areas," declared Charles F. Abbott, executive director, American Institute of steel construction, New York, in preface to his talk on "Ethics in Merchandising." His remarks were occasioned by yesterday's address by William A. Simpson, Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce representative.

Turning to his main subject, Abbott pointed out that the steel constructors of America have blazed the way for self-government on the part of American industries.

Robert Sibley, executive manager, alumni association, University of California, Berkeley, a guest speaker, talked on "The Spirit of a Business Association." He stressed the value of personal contacts made at meetings such as the present conference and urged the fundamental principle of service to society as the logical motivating purpose behind the iron and steel group, and all similar organizations.

HEIGHT LIMIT HIT

Most of the Los Angeles iron and steel men attending the conference today expressed themselves in positive terms as favoring a removal of present 150-foot restrictions on height of future buildings in the commercial district of Los Angeles. A few declined to take a definite position in this matter for the present.

W. B. Kyle, Los Angeles steel man, who had much to do with the construction of the new Los Angeles City Hall and Hall of Justice, was particularly forceful when interviewed today.

"The restriction should be removed," he declared. "Skyscrapers would make Los Angeles a more modern and more sightly city.

"You can see the desire for skyscrapers in the way that many recent Los Angeles buildings are taking advantage of technicalities to run up buildings which are virtually over 200 and 300 feet in height."

OIL BUILDINGS CITED

Mr. Kyle mentioned particularly the Texas Oil Building which, he declares, actually goes 230 feet in the air, with a signboard as "an excuse" for the extra footage beyond the 150-foot limit. He also mentioned the Richfield Building which, he said, is actually 330 feet high, due to special permits for signs and radio tower.

"I have talked with many of the leading steel men in Los Angeles and almost all of them favor higher buildings for the Los Angeles of the future."

Mr. Abbott asserted nothing will increase the prosperity of Los Angeles more today than a program of skyscraper building.

"Public interest should be the first consideration," he said. "The American Institute of Steel Construction recently completed a survey showing that sixty-five stories is the correct economical height of a skyscraper built on land worth $300 per square foot, buildings shorter or taller are not economical. Los Angeles boasts much property worth $175 to $250 per square foot.

"I understand certain investors are ready to invest millions in skyscrapers as soon as Los Angeles decides to adopt this inevitable solution to its construction problems. If Los Angeles restrictions can be abrogated in favor of municipal buildings, why is it not fair to revise them so as to save individual taxpayers and the public at large losses inevitable under the present system?

"Los Angeles is the only city in America that does not permit modern artistic skyscrapers. The modern American city's skyline is symbolical of its faith in its own progress and development."

GEM-LADEN TRUNK STOLEN

COMMON SCOLD FOUND GUILTY

New Jersey Woman Will Be Sentenced, Possibly To Term in Jail Cell

BELVEDERE (N. J.) Feb. 14. (AP)—Mrs. Sarah Grainer of Phillipsburg awaited sentence today as a common scold after conviction in Warren county court.

Mrs. Grainer, mother of five children ranging from 10 to 23 years of age, may be sentenced to as much as three years' imprisonment for misdemeanor, attorneys said.

Neighbors of the woman accused her of being noisy, abusive and insulting over a two-year period specified in the common law and a jury of five women and seven men found her guilty.

GUN USED IN DRY KILLING TRIAL CRUX

Fellow-Officers Testify for Federal Agent Who Shot Minnesota Autoist

DULUTH (Minn.) Feb. 14. (AP)—An attempt to show that the riot gun furnished Emmet J. White, United States Customs patrolman, was defective when he shot it and killed Gust Henry Virkkula, last summer, was made by the defense today in White's trial on a charge of second-degree murder in Federal District Court.

Four fellow-customs officers were presented as witnesses, two of them telling of tests made with the gun a few days after the killing, which indicated to their satisfaction that the gun "shot high."

Walter M. Nelson, customs officer in charge of the port of entry at International Falls, Minn., also told of finding two bottles in the Virkkula car. He said one was uncorked and had no odor, while the other had a cork, and although empty, had an odor of spirits. George A. Heisey, assistant United States District Attorney, however, said "we don't claim for a moment that these bottles justify the shooting."

Emil W. Servine, who was with White when the customs men signaled Virkkula to halt his car so that they might search it for liquor, said Virkkula slowed down until abreast of Servine, who held a cloth signal, then speeded up in a manner the officer considered characteristic of smugglers. He feared White would be run over, Servine said, and he yelled to him to "let him have it—shoot at his tires."

White fired, numerous shots penetrating the car in which Virkkula's wife and two daughters were riding, three large buckshot hitting the driver and killing him.

Treaty Drawn to Give Land Back to China

SHANGHAI, Feb. 14. (AP)—C. T. Wang, Foreign Minister of the Chinese central government, today announced draft of an agreement with Great Britain providing for retrocession to China of the leasehold of Weihaiwei. The agreement has been initialed and upon being approved by the British government will be signed.

Wang said that the agreement had been reached in negotiations with British Minister Lampson and that the retrocession of Weihaiwei would be the first step toward return of all leased territory in China now held by foreigners.

Williams Warns Cotton Growers

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14. (AP)—Carl Williams, representative of cotton on the Federal Farm Board, said today that the recent weakness in cotton prices should be taken as a sharp warning to growers.

The weakness of the present condition, Williams said in a radio speech over a nation-wide hook-up, rests on a low current rate of cotton consumption and trade anticipation of a larger crop in 1930.

"If they want a better price in 1930, it is not too late to plan to get it," Williams declared. "They can get it by cutting down the acreage."

Hoopa Valley's Survey Goes On

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14. (AP)—Secretary Wilbur today dismissed protests against resurveys of lands adjoining the Hoopa Valley Indian reservation on the Klamath and Trinity rivers in California.

The Secretary held hearings on the case in San Francisco last September and briefs were submitted recently.

Approval of the resurvey, which was directed by Francis E. Joy, was protested by persons interested in the lands and by sportsmen's organizations of California.

SHARK THOUGHT TOMB OF SHIPWRECK VICTIM

TAMPICO (Mex.) Feb. 14. (AP)—What are believed to be the bones of one of the crew of the fishing schooner Jose Luis, which foundered off the mouth of the Panuco January 22, were recovered in the stomach of a shark which was caught near the scene of the wreck. Parts of the man's clothing also were found and it was hoped to identify the victim through these. Four of the Jose Luis's crew have been missing since the ship was wrecked.

WALSH TO LEAD TARIFF BATTLE

Montana Senator Announces Attack on Aluminum

Republican Independents Expected to Assist

Couzens Loses Effort to Lift Graphite Duty

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14. (AP)—Notice that a drive will be started tomorrow by the Democrats to lower the existing aluminum tariffs was served in the Senate today by Senator Walsh, of Montana, acting minority leader.

The tariff was returned to its preferred status today after several days of debate on the Hughes nomination to be Chief Justice. Walsh said he will propose an amendment at the outset tomorrow to reduce the present duties of 9 cents a pound on sheet, bar and coil aluminum and 5 cents a pound on the crude product to 2½ and 2 cents, respectively. The latter were the rates in the Underwood Act of 1913.

INDEPENDENTS MAY AID

Republican independents, who have joined with the Democrats in an attempt to keep industrial tariffs as near their present level as possible, are expected to line up generally for the aluminum reductions.

The Senate completed action today on amendments to the earths, earthenware and glassware schedule, and individual amendments to the metals section will be in order tomorrow.

Senator Couzens, Republican, Michigan, lost an attempt to restore the present rate of 1¼ cents a pound on crystalline graphite, used in the manufacture of steel crucibles and pencils, the increase to 2 cents, previously approved, thus was left in the bill.

SLATE DUTY RAISED

Senator Dale, Republican, Vermont, was successful in sponsoring an amendment to increase from 15 to 25 per cent the existing levy on slate, while Senator Walsh, Democrat, Massachusetts, had adopted an amendment to increase the duties on children's paints.

Another amendment approved, as proposed by Senator Copeland, Democrat, New York, would lower the rate on machine-made perfume bottles and glass bottles, vials and jars fitted with ground glass stoppers, from 55 to 40 per cent ad valorem. The House bill provides a duty of 70 per cent on these bottles, while the Senate previously had approved a levy of 65 per cent.

Former Idaho Senator Dies

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14. (AP)—Fred T. Dubois, member of the United States section of the International Joint Commission and a former United States Senator from Idaho, died at his home here today.

Dubois was 78 years of age. He had been confined to his home only about a week after contracting a cold.

He had continued active in his duties with the international commission, which is engaged in controversies with Canada.

For Comstock's men the meet will be more or less a test affair before the Southern Pacific A.A.U. relay carnival at Long Beach next Saturday and the big dual battle against Stanford University at Palo Alto on March 1.

BOYD COMSTOCK

Today's meet is the first formal one of the season for college and club teams and quite a track gathering should be on hand to see just how much strength the Mercuries have mustered together for the more important meets coming up.

Such well-known performers as Heyman Brix, Jim De Mers, Ray Alf, Jackie Burton, Bob Maxwell, Ken Grumbles, Glenn Graham, Percy Nierbach, Al Forster, Hap Walker, Dick Pomeroy, Murray Schultz, Berle Goodheart and a host of others of more or less prominence will appear in the Blue and White of the club today. Brix, national shotput champion and American record-holder, will compete in both the shot and discus. Comstock is drilling Sig Herni and Jimmy De Mers in the platter event and will test them both out today. De Mers is naturally the favorite in the javelin, he having registered 220 feet last season.

Two men who are sure to be heard from plenty this year, make their debut today under Mercury colors. They are Ray Alf, midget sprint flash from Doane College, Nebras-

WALKER WINS FROM LOMSKI

Middleweight Champ Easily Beats Heavier Opponent

BY CHARLES DUNKLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

OLYMPIA STADIUM, DETROIT, Feb. 14. (AP)—Mickey Walker, middleweight champion of the world, made a successful invasion of the light-heavyweight ranks tonight by decisively defeating Leo Lomski, the Aberdeen (Wash.) Assassin, in a ten-round battle in the Olympia Arena.

MICKEY WALKER

Walker, conceding 9 3-4 pounds gave the western contender a one-sided lacing, easily winning seven of the ten rounds by a wide margin. Lomski could offer no defense for Walker's right-hand blasts to the chin and vicious left hooks to the head and body. He was in apparent distress in the ninth and tenth rounds and continually wrapped his arms around Mickey's body in an effort to stop his assault.

The match drew a record-breaking crowd for the Olympia Arena, attracting in excess of 17,000 spectators with receipts in the neighborhood of $50,000.

Walker, the toy bulldog of the ring, displayed no fear of his taller and heavier opponent. He assumed the offensive from the start, and by the time the concluding rounds were finished Lomski was so weary from the battering he received that all the fight had been knocked out of him. It appeared to be questionable whether he might be able to survive Mickey's well-directed shots to the jaw and heavy blasts to the body.

Lomski began to retreat in the sixth and in the seventh and was knocked staggering into a corner when Mickey connected heavily with a smashing right and left to the head and body.

Walker opened up an old gash over Lomski's left eye in the fourth round and kept hammering at it incessantly thereafter. By the time the tenth was finished Lomski was bleeding also from a wound over his right eye.

Lomski at no time appeared dangerous and did not come near winning a round unless it was the third, in which he managed to keep the New Jersey Bulldog at a safe distance with a long left jab to the face.

TROJAN FROSH SWAMP RIVALS

Yearling Track Artists Thump Prep Squads

Varsity Athletes Ready to Perform Today

Wykoff, Guyer to Hook Up in Sprint Events

BY RALPH HUSTON

Preparing for their participation in the A.A.U. relays a week from the U.S.C. fishemen triumphed rather handily over the combined forces of Redondo and Alhambra high schools at Bovard Field yesterday afternoon. The yearlings piled up 68 digits, as compared with 25 for Alhambra, and 24 for Redondo.

FRANK WYKOFF

The only development, as far as the frosh were concerned, was the fact that the yearlings will enter a speedy relay team to face the Trojan varsity in the 440 and 880 sprint affairs at the A.A.U. meet next week-end. Casey of Pomona, Dow of Redlands, Grey of Stockton and Ball of Downey clipped off the 440 in something under 43s., to indicate that they will give Wykoff, Guyer, Maurer and Draper a real battle.

RACE TODAY

Varsity contestants are scheduled to battle today on Bovard Field for places on the A.A.U. entry teams. All of Coach Dean Cromwell's leading stars are scheduled to perform. The sprinters will gallop 100 and 220 yards in preparation for their initial assault on the world's marks in the two sprint relays.

Howard Sayd, transfer from the University of Kansas, who will be eligible for the varsity next year, won both the 100 and 220 yesterday, loafing through the latter event to an easy victory. His points, of course, did not count. He galloped the 100 in 10s. flat, and the furlong in slightly more than 22s.

Carter, from San Luis Obispo, surprised even Tommy Davis, the most enthusiastic coach of them all, by hurling the discus 130ft. 6½in. to win the platter-tossing event. McKenzie, former Oxnard star, threw the javelin 175ft. 5in. to take first place.

Joe Bills, former Long Beach High athlete, who transferred to S.C. from Santa Clara, and will be eligible for the varsity next year, scored two victories, winning a novice high-hurdle event in 15.6s. and taking the 140-yard low hurdles in close to 15s. The novice highs were held in preparation for that event on the A.A.U. program. Al Vignolo and Bob Moffatt followed Bills to the tape.

Today's events promise to include a lot of thrilling action. Aside from the two short dashes Cromwell has not decided where he will run his charges, but close competition is assured in all races. Wykoff, Guyer, Maurer, Draper, Anderson, Tipton and Schnelle will gallop in the two dashes, and Hammatt, Hansen, Swede, Halstead, McGeagh, Fitzmaurice, Patterson and the rest will run anything from a 660 to a full mile. Vic Williams and J. Wakefield

HE PERFORMS TODAY

Here's Herman Brix, star weight man of the Los Angeles Athletic Club. He goes into action against Occidental at Patterson Field in the first track meet of the season today. Brix aspires to break the world's record in the shot. He will probably throw close to 50 feet today, and may better this mark.

NET QUEEN TO APPEAR IN TOURNEY

Helen Wills Entered in Annual Hotel Huntington Play Next Month

PASADENA, Feb. 14.—Mrs. Franklin Moody, formerly Helen Wills, will wield a tennis racket in competition for the first time since her marriage as an entrant in the Hotel Huntington's winter tournament, scheduled for March 14, 15 and 16. A telegram from the tennis queen, received by the hotel management from Berkeley today, states that she and Mr. Moody will arrive here a few days before the tournament.

HELEN WILLS

The tennis champion is using her married name in connection with her writing and art work, but she will continue to sign tennis tournament entry blanks with the name which has brought her good luck in all parts of the world.

As "Helen Wills," she will be pitted against the finest Coast tennis talent in the Huntington tourney, including: Midge Gladman, Helen Jacobs, Mary Grief, Mrs. Tom Williams, Mrs. May Sutton Bundy, Mrs. Gerald Stratford, Patsy McCoy and Edith Cross.

Carnera Wins in One Round

MEMPHIS (Tenn.) Feb. 14. (AP)—Primo Carnera, huge Italian battler, knocked out Big Jim Sigman of South Carolina in the first round of their eight-round bout here tonight.

The fight was as one-sided as have been all of Carnera's previous matches in this country. Sigman

PETE KILDUFF IS CALLED OUT

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 14. (AP)—Death today removed a member of Wilbert Robinson's pennant-winning Brooklyn National League club of 1920. Pete Kilduff, second baseman on the team Uncle Wilbert led in an unsuccessful world's series assault on Tris Speaker's Cleveland Indians of that year, died today at a hospital here following an operation for appendicitis.

PETE KILDUFF

It was Kilduff who paved the way for the unassisted triple play of William Wambsganss, second baseman for Cleveland, during the 1920 series, the only three-ply killing ever made in a world's series and one of the few ever made in the major leagues. Kilduff had led off with a single in the fifth inning of the game Sunday, October 10, moved to second on another single by Catcher Miller, but was out when Wambsganss, making a remarkable one-hand catch of Pitcher Mitchell's line drive, stepped on second before Kilduff could get back to the bag, then ran to meet and tag Miller who was running toward second.

Kilduff, who was born at Weir, Kan., April 4, 1894, got his professional start with Oklahoma City of the Western Association in 1914. He went to the Giants from Omaha in 1917, was traded to the Cubs that year and in 1919 was transferred to Brooklyn, where he remained several years.

He had a successful season last year as manager of the Alexandria club of the Cotton States League, and had signed to pilot the club again next season. He played at second base for Shreveport for several years before managing Alexandria.

LA BARBA SCORES KAYO IN MAIN HOLLYWOOD BOUT

Fidel LaBarba, weighing 123½ pounds, knocked out Charley Sullivan, Bakersfield Irishman, in the fifth round of the main event at Hollywood last night. Sullivan, who was no match for the fast and clever ex-flyweight champion, went down before a barrage of left hooks and uppercuts, which were concentrated largely on the body.

LaBarba started fast, and dropped Sullivan for no count in the first round with a left hook. He shaded his rival in the second canto, and then gave him a bad lacing in the third.

Continuing his left-handed attack, La Barba dropped Sullivan twice in the fourth round, once for no count, and then again for five seconds. Sullivan hit the canvas three times in the fifth round, for no count, nine and ten, successively.

Referee D'Arcy tossed Leo Lomelli and Don Burchard out of the ring in the fourth round of the semifinal, declaring it no contest. The so-called boxers were wrestling and tugging, and refused to punch. Their purses will be held up by the Boxing Commission.

By virtue of a knockdown scored in the final canto, Tommy Huffman

CRISLER AND WIEMAN ACCEPT MINNESOTA FOOTBALL JOBS

MINNEAPOLIS (Minn.) Feb. 14. (AP)—Herbert O. (Fritz) Crisler and Elton E. (Tad) Wieman today accepted their appointments as head and assistant football coaches, respectively, at the University of Minnesota. Their acceptances ended four weeks of pondering about who would be the successor to Dr. Clarence W. Spears, who went to Oregon University.

TEMPLETON'S TRACK MEN HANG UP SPLENDID MARKS

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Feb. 14.—Stanford's track team received a valentine today in the form of Charley Paddock, one-time fastest human, who appeared for practice with Dink Templeton's proteges this afternoon.

Some 200 track fans turned out to watch Paddock as he did a special exhibition century with Johnny Lauritzen, former Card sprint star. The time was alleged to be around 10 2-5s., and Lauritzen won by a foot. Paddock, however, staged a comeback and nosed out Herb Fleishhacker, 220-pound grid star and weight man, in an unannounced quarter-mile race.

The outstanding times and distances made in the regular team competition were turned in by Les Hables, who ran the century and the 220 in even times. Johnnie Morrison, who covered the 440 in 49 3-5s., Podge Smith, who made 15 flat in the high hurdles and 24 flat in the lows, and Erick Krenz, who tossed the shot 48ft. 2in.

RIVAL QUINTETS TANGLE AT OLYMPIC AUDITORIUM

Trojans in Line for Shot at the Title but Bruins May Spring Surprise This Evening

BY BRAVEN DYER

With a shot at the championship just around the corner, the Trojans of Southern California go into action against U.C.L.A. tonight at the Olympic Auditorium. The game is billed for 8 o'clock and will be preceded by an encounter between frosh teams of the two institutions.

CALIFORNIA FIVE PLAYS CARDINALS

Golden Bears Favored to Win Over Rivals in Game at Oakland

BERKELEY, Feb. 14. (Exclusive) Enthusiasm for the California-Stanford basketball match in the Oakland auditorium tomorrow night mounted to new heights today in a campus rally addressed by Coach Clarence "Nibs" Price of the title-seeking Golden Bear quintet. Price pointed out that a victory over the Cardinals plus a win for the U.C.L.A. Bruins over Coach Sam Barry's U.S.C. team means that the Golden Bears are once more in the race for the championship.

Since 1925 the Cards have not won a single game from their much-envied California brethren. In fact, of the forty-five basketball games played between California and Stanford, only seven have gone the way of the men from Palo Alto. The experts figure that Stanford is not altogether the underdog. The Cards whipped Santa Clara, whereas, the Bears bent the knee to the Santa Clarans. Long Johnny McCandless, the favorite son of Inglewood, is shooting baskets in glorious haste. It will be a real job

Victory tonight will assure the Trojans no worse than a tie with California, and should Stanford pull the unexpected it would mean the elimination of the Golden Bears. But Sam Barry and his charges are not figuring on Stanford eliminating the Bears. "Might happen," says Sam, "but we've got to fight our own battles and it's up to us to make sure by winning our own games."

JOHNNY LEHNERS

There is a strong likelihood of an upset tonight. In fact, this writer rather expects to see the Bruins win. The Trojans have not played at the Olympic this year. It should be a corking game and indications point to a capacity crowd of 8500 souls.

S.C. WON TWO

Last year Southern California, coached by Leo Calland, took two out of three games from U.C.L.A., dropping the final tilt, 44 to 33, after copping the others, 28 to 23, and 39 to 31.

This season the Trojans sprang a surprise by drubbing their foes in the opener, 33 to 16. But U.C.L.A. fans are confident that things will be different tonight, chiefly because Carl Shy, who did not play last

The Record for POPULARITY
—held by Goodyear Tires

THE single record that, in our opinion, really counts with careful tire-buyers is the popularity record which Goodyear has held for fifteen years: "More people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind."

It simply says that an overwhelming percentage of your fellow-motorists get the most value and every-day satisfaction out of Goodyear Tires.

The reason, of course, is that Goodyear builds nearly one-third of all tires sold in America, enjoys lowest costs, can give greater values.

May we analyze your needs and recommend the most satisfactory type of Goodyear Tires and Tubes for you? You will also appreciate our courteous, efficient service. If you prefer, we will call at your home or office.

GLENDALE HAS SPEEDY SQUAD

Close Races Anticipated in Sprint Events

A.A.U. Backs Annual Games at San Bernardino

Southland High Schools Hold Individual Tests

Practically every high school and junior college in Southern California will enter the Orange Show invitational relay carnival which is to be held at the San Bernardino High School field today. Individual events will be held only in the prep school divisions, the jaysees competing only in the relay events.

A four-man quarter-mile race, a medley relay, and a four-man mile relay are on schedule for the junior collegians. Glendale J.C., with a speedy quartet consisting of Treharne, Slocum, Beatty and Gilman, will make a strong bid to win the sprint event. Long Beach, Pasadena and Compton have also entered strong teams and plan on giving the Glendale team plenty of competition. Compton's sprint relay team will consist of Banks, Whalen, Holdsworth and Richards, it was announced by Coach Herschel Smith. The medley relay, consisting of two 440-yard runs, an 880, and a mile, should be one of the features of the day. The final baton-passing event in the jaysee division will be the four-man mile event, each man running a quarter-mile.

The high-school division will have the four-man 880 relay in addition to those named above. The discus, broad jump and pole vault are some of the field events that have been scheduled.

Inglewood, Huntington Beach, South Pasadena and Compton have held tryouts for the relays during the past week and expect to garner plenty of trophies.

Noble Breaks Brawley Mark

BRAWLEY, Feb. 14.—Weller Noble shot a snappy 68 to fracture the course record in the annual Brawley lettuce tournament here today. Weller, who is playing in the guest flight, was four under par.

Earl Sennes and O. C. Harris staged the closest match in the championship flight, over a thirty-six-hole route, the former winning 1 up in thirty-seven holes. Elmer Sears was four down at the end of eighteen holes, playing with Ray Christianson, but came back in one under par to win, 3 and 2. H. H. Law shot a 68 in the morning round to win over Joe Ward, 1 up. B. R. Frizzell and Frank E. Scott, two Southern Pacific officials, meet in the semifinals of the defeated eight, fourth flight, tomorrow. Today's results:

CHAMPIONSHIP FLIGHT

First round—Don Rae defeated Frank McLane, 5 and 4; Reid Rowan defeated Martin Leughman, 2 and 1; Jack Strobel defeated Harold Rae, 3 and 2; Ben Peterson defeated Ole Olson, 7 up; A. W. Monroe by default to Dr. L. Longshore, 4 and 3; Earl Sennes defeated O. C. Harris, 37 holes; H. H. Law defeated Joe Ward, 1 up; Elmer Sears defeated Ray Christianson, 3 and 2.

Second round—Reid Rowan defeated Don Rae, 1 up; Jack Strobel defeated B. Peterson, 3 and 4; A. W. Monroe defeated Earl Sennes, 3 and 2; Elmer Sears defeated H. H. Law, 3 and 2.

HOLLYWOOD KICKERS TACKLE PASADENANS

Los Angeles City League soccer football elevens shift back to loop competition tomorrow afternoon with four games slated, two at Loyola Field and another double-header at the Pasadena Rose Bowl. The Hollywood Sheiks, defending champions and again favorites to win, face the fast-coming Pasadena A.C.C. eleven in the Loyola Field 3 o'clock feature. Pasadena has enough strength and speed to give the Hollywood kickers plenty of competition. The Loyola opener pits Richfield against the Spanish-Americans.

One of the day's best games will be the Viking-Scot clash at the Pasadena Rose Bowl at 3 o'clock. Along with the Magyars, L.A.A.C. and Pasadena, the Norsemen are putting up a great fight for second-place honors. The Crown City opener will bring the Sons of St. George against the Magyars.

PEREGRINA, FELDMAN SIGNED BY EAST SIDE

Leo Newman of the Eastside Auditorium yesterday matched Joe Peregrina and Willie Feldman for the main event at the new arena a week from Monday night. Peregrina is the local Mexican middleweight who recently gave Bert Colima a great fight at the Olympic. Feldman is a New York middleweight who has won a big majority of his bouts in the East.

Monday night's main event will be between Matty Mario and Sammy Jackson. The former is the eastern welterweight who was shaded by Jackie Fields at Hollywood some three years ago. Jackson is the local colored middleweight who took two decisions over Bobby La Salle and boxed two great bouts with Paul Delaney, getting a win and a draw.

RABBIT PUNCHES

BOESEKE AND PEDLEY

THE WEST has two outstanding candidates for the polo team, which will represent the United States against Great Britain in the international matches this summer. And two real ones, too—Elmer Boeseke and Eric Pedley.

Mr. Louis Stoddard, chairman of the United States Polo Association, is the disseminator of this interesting information. He has been a visitor in our midst this winter and was referee of the classic between Argentina and Midwick last Sunday.

And after praising Boeseke and Pedley the polo chairman fills the old cup of joy to overflowing with the statement that he believes the West is developing polo players faster than any other section of the country.

Among the crop of comers he lists young Lin Howard, son of the automobile magnate, as the most promising.

"He will be a star within two years," says Mr. Stoddard.

* * *

THE NEW LINE-UP

LAST year's United States polo four was composed of Averill Harriman at No. 1, Earl Hopping at No. 2, Tommy Hitchcock at No. 3 and Winston Guest, back.

Mr. Stoddard intimates that Tommy Hitchcock, the greatest polo player of all time, will play back on this year's team. Guest doesn't crave the position, but Hitchcock, who can perform in any spot, will take it.

That leaves No. 2 open with Pedley given a splendid chance to beat out the other eligible athletes.

Hitchcock and Guest are cinches, and Boeseke is close to it in Mr. Stoddard's opinion.

Pedley has the rush to beat off from the boys who are squeezed out by the proposed switch in team positions.

At any rate California has an excellent opportunity to be represented in noble fashion when the United States and the British Lion start whacking the white ball around this summer.

And if both the Messrs. Boeseke and Pedley make the grade there'll probably be a celebration at Midwick for the homebreds that will cause a commotion in the next county.

A SANTIAGO OFFERING

NOTING that Mr. Hayden Wadhams, matchmaker of the Olympic, was in search of opponents for Armand Santiago on March 4 Mr. Joe Roth, manager of Eddie Mack, dropped in with a suggestion yesterday—and a story that goes back a couple of years.

After Mr. Roth had acquired a business representation in the fighting goods of Mr. Mack he sent his boy out one night against a guy named Murdock.

This Murdock person won a decision from Mack, and in a rematch the verdict was reversed after a terrific squabble. Thereupon Mr. Roth thought so highly of Murdock that he also added him to the stable as a fighting asset.

And Murdock is the offering for Santiago. He has had four straight fights in San Francisco, and Mr. Roth reports that his boy was responsible for the tripling of the "gate" receipts. That is, comparing his last fight with the first. He beat Tommy Cello, Willie Siegel and fought two draws with Frankie Stetson.

HIT THE TRAIL

MR. ROTH is one of those old-fashioned individuals who believes one can wear out his welcome by staying too long in one spot.

Wherefore, after Mack fights Maurice Holtzer at the Olympic on the 25th inst., and Goldie Hess on March 11, Mr. Roth and his fighter are moving on to other pastures.

But Mack was born in Santa Fe, and he likes to fight for the home folks.

Santa Monica Juniors Win

In an interclass track and field meet held at Santa Monica High yesterday the junior class won first place with 61 points. The seniors took second with 38¼ while the sophomores trailed with 13½.

The best mark of the day was made by John Lyman, who tossed the 12-pound shot 48ft., 5in. Lyman also won the discus with 120ft. Lyman placed third in the State meet and third in the Southern California meet last year in the shot put.

100-yard dash—Won by Lisler. Time, 10 1-5s.

440-yard dash—Won by Sheegrue. Time, 58s.

880-yard run—Won by Haler. Time, 2m. 14s.

Mile run—Won by Linley. Time, 5m. 8s.

70-yard high hurdles—Won by White. Time, 10 1-5s.

220-yard low hurdles—Won by Monroe. Time, 26s.

Relay—Won by juniors. Time, 1m. 42s.

Shot—Won by Lyman. Distance, 48ft. 5in.

Discus—Won by Lyman. Distance, 120ft. 10in.

Broad jump—Won by Wood. Distance, 19ft. 8in.

Brose Seeks New Records

SAN DIEGO, Feb. 14.—If his showing in practice to date is any indication, John Brose, San Diego State College's star weight artist, is going to establish at least two new all-Southern California Conference records this season.

Today he tossed the hammer 144ft., 11in., which is within five inches of the all-conference record established several years ago by Barnes of Pomona. At this time last season he was having difficulty throwing the weight 120 feet. Brose, whose State college record is 136ft., 10in., won the 1929 conference title.

After the session with the hammer Brose heaved the discus several times between 130 and 135 feet. He established the all-conference mark of 131ft., 7 in., as a sophomore in 1927. His State college record is 140 feet.

Brose also is a pretty fair artist with the shot.

SOUTH PASADENA IN WIN OVER HOOVER

South Pasadena Tigers won an overtime 20-18 basketball game yesterday from the Hoover cagers. At the end of the regular scoring period, the count was tied 18-18. In the extra session McDavid of South Pasadena shot the winning basket giving the Tigers the victory. The line-ups:

Hoover (18)		So. Pasadena (20)
Gray (6)	F.	McDavid (11)
Stanford (12)	F.	Clark (1)
Yarick	C.	Tomerline
Hidds	G.	Mathews (2)
Robertson	G.	Palmgren (3)

Substitutes: For So. Pasadena—Everett (2).

Hoover	8	4	5	3—18

Seniors Take L.A. High Meet

The senior A class of Los Angeles High School amassed 74 points yesterday afternoon to walk away with the victory in the annual interclass track meet on the Roman field. The upper classmen were not headed at any stage in the meet, their closest rivals being the second semester juniors who collected 14 digits. The senior B class was third with 8 points. Among the outstanding performances of the day's program were Lory Rothert's leap of 11ft. 6in. in the pole vault, Wall's heave of 48ft. 7 1-2in. in the shotput, and Crawford's mark of 21ft. in the broad jump. Dave Foore was high-point man with 14 points, including two first places and one tie for first.

The summary:

100-yard dash, first heat—Won by Bray; second, Wall; third, Chandler. Time, 10 1-10s. Second heat—Won by Charles Chambers; Higgins, second. Time, 10 1-10s. Third heat—Won by Gooch; Grubaugh, second. Time, 10 7-10s. Final heat—Charles Chambers and Bray tied for first; Stewart, third. Time, 10 4-10s.

440-yard run—Won by Garver; Haslett, second; Carman, third. Time, 54 4-10s.

880-yard run—Won by Foore; Gentry, second; McGee, third. Time, 4m. 57s. dat.

High jump—Dave Foore and Bransby tied for first place, and Almada, Grotts, Seymour, Sampson, Chambers, Wiseman and Meiser tied for third. Winning height, 5ft. 7in. Third-place height, 5ft. 4in.

Broad jump—Won by Crawford; Almada, second; Foore, third. Distance, 21ft.

SAN PEDRO WALLOPS COMPTON FIVE, 32-22

The San Pedro Pirates defeated the Compton Lions yesterday afternoon at San Pedro, the score being 32-22. Garcia of the Pirates led the scoring with 12 points. In a preliminary game the Compton lightweights nosed out the Pirate Class B five, 18-17. The line-ups:

San Pedro (32)		Compton (22)

Ocean Cruiser Racing Plans Are Arranged

The second annual all-California long-distance power-boat ocean race will be staged on April 24-27, Long Beach Yacht Club officials announced yesterday. Eleven entries have already been received for this event, which is the longest power-boat race in the world. Besides the Long Beach Yacht Club, the St. Francis of San Francisco and the Santa Barbara yacht clubs are co-operating in staging the event. The race is open to cruisers and express cruisers of less than 110 feet over all that are owned and chartered by a recognized yacht club. The course is from Long Beach to San Francisco, a nautical distance of 446.1 miles.

Caltech Frosh Lose to Tigers

Coach Don Parker's Lincoln High oval pounders yesterday snowed the Caltech frosh tracksters under an 81¼-22¼ score in a meet held on the Engineers' cinderpath. The Tigers took ten first places out of the twelve events, making clean sweeps in the one-mile run, high jump and 440-yard dash. The Lincoln boys also won the four-man half-mile relay.

The times and distances recorded for the meet were mediocre. Capt. Reed of the Tigers took high-point honors with 11 1-4 points. Lee Guttero, the prep basketball sensation of this year, did some high stepping and broad jumping to collect 10½ digits for second high-point honors.

The summary:

Angelita Will Take First Dip

The Angelita, a slim water bird, defender of the King of Spain trophy, will dip her nose in the blue Pacific this morning at 11:30 o'clock at Los Angeles Harbor. It is this craft, syndicated by the California Yacht Club, designed and built here, that will attempt to retain the beautiful silver trophy in the quarters it now occupies.

Owen P. Churchill, whose eight-meter Babe, skippered by Ted Conant, brought the trophy to the California club, will be challenging from the Catalina Yacht Club. According to the deed of gift, the Babe is not eligible to defend the trophy but can challenge for it.

An elaborate ceremony will feature the launching of the eight-meter boat, with Commodore Pierpont Davis and members of the California Yacht Club attending.

STEPHENS TO FACE TORRES IN RING GO

Jack (Red) Stephens, jaw-crushing member of Wirt Ross's stable, will make his big effort at a fistic coup tonight, when he tackles Johnny Torres, Mexican featherweight ace, in the main event at the Main-street Athletic Club. During the last several weeks Stephens has knocked out a half-dozen Mexican 126-pounders. Torres ranks at the head of the list and if Stephens can "take" him he will be on top of the heap. They met twice as preliminary boys at Hollywood two years ago, each scoring a knockout.

Other bouts tonight include Paul Duarte vs. Oscar Rankins, 154 pounds; Joe Borda vs. Johnny Chrismas, 133 pounds; Casey Read vs. Dave Rodriguez, 145 pounds; Leo Thompson vs. Andy Dias, 138 pounds, and Mickey Romo vs. Joie Rich, 115 pounds.

UPLIFTER POLOISTS FACE TOUGH BATTLE

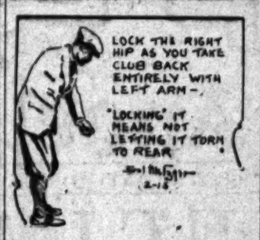
The Uplifters Club Polo four faces a tough assignment tomorrow afternoon when it engages Clair Brunson's Buccaneers on the Beverly Boulevard turf. Brunson has had his teammates working out on Will Rogers's private field during the week, polishing up their team play, and reports that he is ready to give plenty of battle to the fast-scoring ranch riders.

PANTHERS TO END BASKETBALL SEASON

The California Christian College Panthers will wind up their basketball season tonight when they entertain Coach Harper's Southwestern quintet on their home court. Wally Newberry, a senior, will be playing his last game for the college.

Newberry is 30 years of age, is married, and has the distinction of having played on the school's first basketball team back in 1921, after which he left school for some years.

Lock Hip in the Upswing



BY SOL METZGER

There are two forces involved when one swings his club back in control of his left arm. One is a pull to the right that causes the golfer to brace his right leg in order to maintain his balance. As the backswing continues the club is swung upward and back over the shoulders. This causes one to be pulled slightly to the rear. The failure to understand this is the reason for so much false conception of the pivot.

The pivot is nothing to worry over. It is a misnomer in the first place. The point here is merely to keep one's balance. When that is done the pivot takes care of itself. So, when you brace the right leg starting back, also lock the right hip. By locking it is meant holding the right hip joint in position so it will not tilt or swing back.

Unless you do this the right hip will swing back and you actually will pivot and lose your balance. What really happens in the correct backswing is that your left hand, swinging the club back and up, pulls your left side around when you brace the right leg and lock the right hip.

Unless you understand the pivot you cannot hope to shoot good golf. Sol Metzger has a new illustrated leaflet which he will send to anyone wishing it. Address Sol Metzger, in care of The Times, and inclose a stamped, addressed envelope.

Baer in Quest of Scrap Here

Max Baer, Oakland heavyweight who has knocked out thirteen men in eighteen fights, is willing to box the winner of the Les Kennedy-Dynamite Jackson fight.

The Oakland youngster, whom the north is touting as the best-looking heavyweight since Jack Dempsey fought there, is at present under suspension over managerial trouble.

Baer was to have fought Ernie Owens on March 4, but the bout has been canceled. The Oakland sensation has never lost a decision. Two fouls have been registered against him.

Kennedy is favorite over Jackson, although the young negro figures to give the lanky longshoreman and copper miner an argument.

The negro is a stand-up fighter, a good boxer and can punch. Wirt Ross has Jackson training at Soper's ranch as if it were a championship fight.

Eastern Pucks May Play Here

Negotiations to bring at least one and probably two of the best eastern professional hockey teams here to meet the California Hockey League winner in the annual east-west classic at the Winter Garden Ice Palace have been opened by Garden officials. Offers have been wired to the Boston Bruins, world champions, the Chicago Black Hawks, the Detroit Cougars and the Minneapolis Millers, it was announced yesterday by Floyd Carleton, one of the owners of the Garden.

The Bruins already have announced their intention of invading the West and so it practically is a certainty that they will appear against the best California league team at the Garden.

WATER POLO TOURNEY DRAWINGS ANNOUNCED

First-round drawings for the Southern California A.A.U. water-polo tournament, which opens Monday evening at the L.A.A.C. tank, were announced yesterday by Morrison Egbert, A.A.U. swimming chairman. Coach Clyde Swendsen's Hollywood A.C. team will meet U.S.C. in one game Monday, while in the other contest the Venice Swimming Association sextet faces the Pacific Coast Club.

The two winners of these games will draw for the right to meet Coach Fred Cady's L.A.A.C. Mercuries in the semifinals Tuesday. The championship finals will be played Wednesday.

CADETS WILL STAGE RING AND MAT BOUTS

The Black-Foxe Military Institute is completing arrangements for an intraschool boxing and wrestling tournament to take place next month. Coach Fred Vesel already has fifteen entries for the wrestling division with sixteen cadets throwing their military caps into the ring for boxing honors. The weights will vary from 90 to 165 pounds. Matches will be made in every class from the juvenile pre-fly weight for the little soldiers, to the middleweight limit for the husky youngsters in the senior classes.

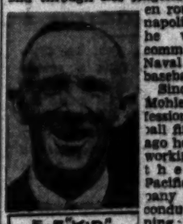
Mohler Off for Annapolis

E. P. Mohler, one-time star second-baseman of Coast League fame, slid through Los Angeles yesterday en route to Annapolis, where he will take command of Naval Academy baseball affairs.



Since "K i d" Mohler left professional baseball fifteen years ago he has been working with the Southern Pacific Company as freight conductor, running between Indio and Yuma, Ariz.

The Mohler family seems to follow the old adage, "Like father, like son." Just as the famous "Kid" was a great athlete in his day, so his son, "Orv" is making his bid for fame in football at U.S.C., and promises to be one of the bright and shining lights of next year's varsity.

Mohler will report for duty at Annapolis the 23rd inst. to get indoor practice under way. Practically the entire varsity team is intact with great prospects for 1930.

Trojan Netmen Trim Sagehens

The tennis forces of the University of Southern California yesterday white-washed those of Pomona College, taking all six matches played.

The feature of the day's competition was the singles match between DeLars of S. C. and Vendt of Pomona. The Trojan won out after a terrific struggle which lasted 2h. 20m. The second set, won by Vendt, went to twenty-six games.

The complete results follow:

Singles—DeLars (U.S.C.) defeated Vendt (P.), 12-14, 6-3, 6-4; Geiler (U.S.C.) defeated Foley (C.), 6-2, 6-3; Barr (U.S.C.) defeated Hall (C.), 6-1, 6-3; Bowers (U.S.C.) defeated Mackey (P.), 6-2, 6-0.

Doubles—Geiler and Barr (U.S.C.) defeated Vendt and Foley (P.), 6-2, 6-4; Bowers and Mansfield and Crane (U.S.C.) defeated Ford and Mosher (P.), 8-6, 6-1.

VENICE CAGERS LOSE TO WOODROW WILSON

The Woodrow Wilson basketball team handed the Venice cagemen a 24-to-16 defeat yesterday, in a game played on the Gondoliers' floor. The game was close and hard fought, with Venice always within striking distance but unable to take advantage of their opportunities.

The Wilson lightweights suffered their first setback of the season when they were nosed out by the Venice babes, 24 to 20. The line-ups:

Peacock (4)	F.	Lessers (4)
Burns (4)	F.	Gottlieb (4)
Abrahms (2)	C.	Hall
Long	G.	Duffield (7)
Masterson (12)	G.	Cuppy

PANTHER SOPHS IN TRACK MEET WIN

Final results of the interclass track meet under the direction of Assistant Coach Philip Taylor, held last Wednesday afternoon at California Christian College, gave first place to the sophomore class, with 56 2-3 points. The freshmen garnered 37 1-3 points, while the seniors, with 28 points, led the juniors with 22 points.

Fahy Johnson, sophomore, led the individual scoring by taking first in the 100 and 220-yard dashes, the shot-put, high and broad jumps.

A triangular meet at Fullerton next Wednesday has been scheduled with the Fullerton Jaysee, Whittier College and California Christian College teams.

FOUR EVENTS LINED UP FOR SPEEDWAY

Dr. Fred Loring and his staff of Legion Speedway officials announced yesterday that four events already have been arranged for the speed program to be held at the track February 23, and that a fifth is in the making.

The 100-lap grind, which has grown popular among devotees of auto racing hereabouts, will headline the forthcoming program. The twenty-four-lap consolation race will again be held, as will the Italian Helmet Dash.

TROJANS ARRANGE DIAMOND CONTEST

The Trojan baseball team will meet the National Baseball School next Thursday afternoon in its first practice engagement of the year, Manager Ted Halfhill announced yesterday. He also is trying to arrange a game with the Crowley All-Stars for next week, although nothing definite has been arranged. Initial infield practice was staged yesterday, a host of candidates working out at the close-up positions.

Cagemen Use Ancient Trick

BY SOL METZGER

The Syracuse basketball play we described yesterday has an antecedent or ancestor. Most plays have. A coach sees a clever idea and immediately develops it further. That's the game.

In this play the two forwards drive in for a tap to the left front of their center. This is an old trick of the game, as this wedge formed by forwards No. 2 and No. 3 driving for a given point behind the opposing center not only blocks this opponent from a free break to his rear to defend the basket, but usually jumbles up the two opponent guards of Nos. 2 and 3 as well.

As No. 2 takes the tap No. 3 uses the same reverse pivot described yesterday and beats it for the basket, taking an overhead hook pass from No. 2.

New Mark Set by Andromeda

AGUA CALIENTE (B. C., Mex.) Feb. 14.—The attack on the Agua Caliente track record for a mile and one-sixteenth continues. Brown Wisdom set the original mark at 1m. 48s. Along came Listo last week and shaved it to 1m. 44 4-5s. Then Sidney Grant took a try at it Wednesday and ran the distance in 1m. 4⅘-5s. This afternoon Andromeda, San Diego-bred filly, racing for Benny Creech, tackled a band of five others going a mile and one-sixteenth in the St. Valentine's Handicap. All she did was run the distance in 1m. 44 3-5s., a fifth-second lower, and win.

Andromeda went to the front at once and drew into a two-length lead when the field had gone a half. She was hard put to hold her lead in the stretch drive, but managed to finish a half-length in front of Battle Ax. Negopoli got the show. Results:

First race, six furlongs—Brunswick (Crowley), won; Marshall (Richardson), second; Hawkshaw (Woolf), third. Time, 1:13.

Second race, one and one-sixteenth miles—Brownie Smile (Redding), won; Outwriter (Cannon), second; Pezaud (Morse), third. Time, 1:47 2-5.

Third race, three furlongs—Joy Maehata (Schuweiler), won; Ella Maehata (Cannon), second; Carlie (Morrison), third. Time, 0:36 2-5.

Fourth race, six furlongs—Black Thorn (Corbett), won; Henry Turner (Morse), second; Lone Crooks (Rosales), third. Time, 1:13 2-5.

Fifth race, five and one-half furlongs—Lady Mowbray won; Shasta Chief (Shuttle), second; Marlowene (Clevenger), third. Time, 1:06 2-5.

Seventh race, one and one-sixteenth miles—Gallatin (O'Brien) won; Dolores (Mulroney) second; Soldier (Greco), third. Time, 1:48.

WILDCAT GIVEN SEVERE LACING

bloom, warmed to his task, turned in the third with his bewildering attack and Hudkins's period of dominance was over.

With the exception of the seventh round, when Rosenbloom, infuriated by low blows, turned and tried to slug with the Wildcat only to lose the round, Hudkins could not win another session. The fans cheered the rough fellow from Nebraska on, his trainers exhorted him, he tried everything he had, but as Maxey continued to slap him about the ring, Huckins wilted. At the end his bedraggled expression plus the water that dripped from his blond hair, left him bristling still like a wildcat, but rather like one that had just been tossed into a river.

Several times during the struggle, Hudkins, in his wild tantrums, landed low blows. Instead of complaining to the referee, Maxey put on a burst of speed with each low blow and smashed out his venom on Hudkins's blond head. There was a great deal of rough work and both were inclined to keep right on punching after the final bells for the rounds. There were no knockdowns and neither was cut or badly bruised at the close.

Many times the frantic Hudkins urged Rosey to come in and fight. Each request resulted in Maxie turning on steam and cuffing Hudkins all over the ring. The general result was a highly exasperated Wildcat, and, at the end, a completely beaten, but game gladiator.

Freddy Lenhart, Spokane, lightheavyweight, punched out a ten-round decision tonight over Rosey Rosales of Cleveland in a gruelling semifinal to the Ace Hudkins-Maxey Rosenbloom battle. The crowd booed the decision lustily. Lenhart weighed 177½; Rosales, 170.

GLENDALE FIVE COPS COAST LEAGUE TITLE

Coach Bert Stanley's Glendale Dynamiters cinched the Coast League basketball title last night as a result of the 26-to-19 victory over the Pasadena quintet, in the Tigers' gym.

Glendale took an early lead which they lost in the second quarter, and were trailing the Tigers by two points at the end of the first half. Stanley then inserted his first string which had rode the bench for the first half. The game from this point on was all Glendale.

The line-ups:

Glendale		Pasadena
Tone (2)	F.	Geddare (3)
Diestel (2)	F.	Ballrop (6)
Isaac (3)	C.	Crosby (7)
Dennis	G.	Love
Jordan (2)	G.	Cabot

Substitutions: Glendale—Nibley (8.) Page (4.) Egu (4.) Barton (2.)

SCORE BY HALVES

Glendale	9	17—26
Pasadena	11	8—19

MERCURY CAGERS COLLECT EASILY

The league-leading L.A.A.C. quintet scored another easy victory in the Southern California A.A.U. basketball league last night, when the Mercuries defeated the Los Angeles Y.M.C.A., 41 to 25. Coach Twogood left "Rags" Wilcox, Jimmy De Mers and other regulars on the side lines, while Nip McHose hung up 17 points to become high man for the evening.

EYE OF SHIPPING ON PACIFIC AREA

West Coast Held Attracting Wide Interest

Salvage Chief Visits Port on Inspection Tour

Trip Prompted by Revival of Shipbuilding

BY WALDO DRAKE

All American shipping interests are focusing their attention on the Pacific Coast, as having a place in the sun in the present revival of the American Merchant Marine. That is the opinion of Capt. R. D. Gatewood, new chief of the United States Salvage Association, with offices at New York. Capt. Gatewood, former navy constructor and manager of the department of maintenance and repair of the United States Shipping Board, is on the first leg of a thorough survey of the Pacific Coast shipping conditions.

"This is an inspection trip to familiarize myself with the individuals and the practices being employed in carrying out the work of the United States Salvage Association on the Pacific Coast," he explained. "The association constitutes a bureau of survey and appraisal for practically all American marine insurance underwriters, with representatives at practically all principal Atlantic and Pacific ports and agencies throughout the world."

Beginning of the new construction program for Pacific merchant services under the American flag, said Capt. Gatewood, was one incentive to his west coast tour, on which he is being accompanied by David Young of San Francisco in charge of all salvage and damage work on the Pacific Coast for the United States Salvage Association. He will leave tomorrow for San Francisco, later visiting Portland and Seattle before returning to New York.

Capt. Gatewood also stressed the optimistic outlook of the shipping situation on the Great Lakes. The United States Salvage Association will today open its first Great Lakes office, at Cleveland, he said, adding that American marine insurance underwriters are now carrying more than $50,000,000 worth of insurance on lake tonnage. Accompanying him on his survey of the local operation has been Banning Young, local representative of the association, and David Young.

NEW-TYPE GERMAN CRAFT PUT TO TEST

The odd canoe-shaped bow and hull of the North German Lloyd liner Donau proved its worth on this voyage out from Hamburg, according to Capt. Herman Grantas, who brought her in yesterday on her third voyage. In a forty-eight-hour full gale encountered by the Donau near the Azores, the ship rode out the storm as though she were steaming through a placid lake, according to the skipper.

For Los Angeles consignees, the ship brought 2215 tons of pipe, fertilizer, paper and rags. Capt. Grantas announced that N.G.L.'s new motor liner Trave, a sister of the Saale, will arrive here on her maiden voyage about March 6. The Saale sailed early yesterday for Hamburg with 2000 tons of local cargo aboard.

Appointment of John F. Kelly, now auditor of the United States Intercoastal Conference's weighing and inspection bureau, as special San Francisco representative of the bureau, was announced yesterday by Thomas G. Widmyre, Pacific Coast manager of the United States Intercoastal Conference. Mr. Kelly will begin his new duties on the 17th inst.

Mr. Kelly will be a liaison man between the intercoastal carriers and the shipping public, serving to explain the various services and help iron out all difficulties.

Lasco's cabin liner Calawali will sail at noon today for Honolulu, carrying sixty-five passengers and 2000 tons of freight, including another of the Navy's new Douglas bombing planes for the air station at Pearl Harbor.

The Lasco coastwise liner Yale will simulate a sea-going caravan next week, when she brings in a delegation from Islam Temple of the Mystic Shrine, San Francisco, bound for a friendly visit to the nobles of Al Bahr Temple at San Diego. The excursionists will pass through here on the 20th inst., and will return north on the liner Harvard the 23rd inst. Howard McKinley, illustrious Potentate, will head the travelers.

Christenson-Hammond Line, hereafore having terminals at Berth 59 in the outer harbor, has been assigned berthage at Berth 188, Wilmington, it was announced yesterday by George T. Darragh, contracting freight agent for the line. The new location shortens the trucking haul to Los Angeles by five miles. Vessels sail to south of Puget Sound Mondays and Wednesdays, and to Puget Sound Wednesdays.

BROKERS' CLASS IN SECOND TERM

Stock Exchange Institute to Open Again Monday

Five New Courses Added for Coming Semester

Prominent Business Men to Conduct Lectures

Preparing for a record enrollment of more than 2000 students, the Los Angeles Stock Exchange Institute will swing open its doors Monday to launch its second semester with the number of courses doubled and the addition of many business leaders to take part in the lecturing program.

Dr. Gordon S. Watkins, director of the institute, who announced the new curriculum yesterday, will personally conduct one of the courses. Dr. Watkins made a tour of the United States and Europe studying stock-exchange procedure and their institutes before the Los Angeles school was organized.

FACULTY ENLARGED

Others who will personally conduct classes include Floyd E. Sanford, secretary and manager of the exchange; Arthur N. Lorig, secretary and treasurer of the Cypress Petroleum Company, and Guy T. Burroughs, president of the Burroughs Letter Service Company.

Among those who lectured last semester and who will continue in similar capacities are Paul F. Cadman, investment counselor of Leib-Keyston and former associate professor of economics at the University of Southern California; Floyd T. Burtchett, assistant professor of economics at the University of California at Los Angeles; John C. Clendenin, director of research of the exchange; Lewis A. Carman, manager of Haskins & Sells, certified public accountants, and Earl J. Miller, dean of men and associate professor of economics at the University of California at Los Angeles.

The institute was conceived and founded last year and opened for its first classes on December 30, last, with an initial enrollment of 1866 students. This is reputed to be the largest enrollment for any similar institute outside of New York City. Only members and persons employed by members of the Los Angeles Stock and Curb exchanges, the personnel of the exchanges and individuals sponsored by members are eligible for membership. The last named are offered associate membership privileges only.

NEW COURSES LISTED

The new classes that are being added to the curriculum are: Analysis of financial statements, investment banking, business barometers and forecasting, effective business letters and practical public speaking.

Sessions for the second semester will be conducted as follows:

Monday—"Brokerage Practice and Stock Exchange Organization and Operation" by Floyd E. Sanford; "Analysis of Financial Statements" by Arthur N. Lorig.

Wednesday—"Corporation Finance" by Dr. Cadman; "Business Barometers and Forecasting" by John C. Clendenin; "Effective Business Letters" by Guy T. Burroughs.

Thursday—"Investments." Part II, by Dr. Cadman, and "Brokerage Accounting" by Lewis A. Carman; "Practical Public Speaking" by Gordon S. Watkins.

Friday—"Business Economics" by Earl J. Miller; "Elementary Accounting" by Mr. Carman.

Class sessions for the second semester, which will open Monday and close May 31, will be conducted from 5:15 to 6:15 p.m., one meeting a week for each subject. Class enrollment of each student will be limited to two courses. Upon completion of four required courses and any two of the elective courses, the student will be awarded the institute certificate of graduation.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, Feb. 14. (AP)—An early advance on relatively firm Liverpool cables was checked by selling of liquidation and was followed by reactions during today's trading. After selling up to 16.18, May eased off to 16.05, or even with yesterday's closing quotations, but met rather better demand just below the 16-cent level and the midafternoon market was steadier with the active months ruling 3 to 10 points net higher.

Gradual Gain in Volume of Trade Noted

NEW YORK, Feb. 14. (AP)—Dun's review tomorrow will say:

Three months after the culmination of last autumn's speculative collapse, considerable recovery has been made in certain channels from the deleterious effect of that severe disturbance. The unevenness of the business improvement, the lack of even approximate uniform gain, gives the general situation a decidedly variable aspect, yet recuperation is clearly under way. A gradual betterment, slowly widening in scope, marks the present trend, and this is more to be desired than a swift advance whose duration might be shortened by its rapidity. Adjustments in production and in prices are still to be completed, but the process is causing less unsettlement than had been apprehended in some quarters.

The stronger tone of the stock market, well sustained in recent weeks, has contributed to the more cheerful feeling in commercial circles, while the passing of the monetary tension is regarded as being constructive in its bearing on the future trade. Some of the statistical measurements, although comparing unfavorably with those of a year ago, are giving plainer signs of an upturn from the low point of December, with steel output leading.

Weekly bank clearings, $8,331,272,000, a decrease of 29.3 per cent from that of a year ago.

Consumption of Cotton Records Gain in January

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14. (AP)—Cotton consumed during January was announced today by the Census Bureau as 577,235 bales of lint and 62,393 of linters, compared with 453,892 and 52,544 in December and 668,286 and 69,359 in January a year ago.

Cotton in hand January 31 was held as follows: In consuming establishments, 1,830,006 bales of lint and 196,301 of linters, compared with 1,844,248 and 364,291 on December 31, and 1,768,165 and 204,011 a year ago.

In public storage and at compresses 5,406,771 bales of lint and 94,350 of linters, compared with 5,914,422 and 85,657 on December 31 and 4,615,312 and 82,756 a year ago.

Exports during January totaled 728,737 bales of lint and 12,572 of linters, compared with 910,321 and 11,067 in December and 788,505 and 27,226 in January, last year.

INITIAL DECLARED

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 14. (Exclusive)—Mesta Machine Company today declared an initial quarterly dividend of 40 cents and an extra of 10 cents on the new common stock, placing the issue on a $1.60 annual basis. This is equivalent to $16 on the old stock which was split ten for one and which paid $12. The dividend is payable April 11 to stock of record March 15.

Richfield Adds Oil Outlet Unit

Richfield Oil Corporation of New York has acquired the Northwestern Oil Company, Inc., its distributing agent formed in 1927 for Long Island and which later entered the New York metropolitan area, C. M. Fuller, president of the Richfield Oil Company of California, the parent organization, announced yesterday.

About 100 retail-dealer outlets, fifty commercial accounts and contracts with approximately twenty-five large estates in Long Island, have been added to Richfield's sales by the deal, Mr. Fuller said. It is expected that Richfield will increase its direct sales through the merger by approximately 5,000,000 gallons annually not counting oils and greases, he stated.

CONGOLEUM NET UP

NEW YORK, Feb. 14. (Exclusive) Congoleum-Nairn, Inc., reported today net income for 1929 of $2,213,830, equal after preferred dividends to $1.29 a share on 1,641,026 common shares, against $1,462,046 in 1928, or 83 cents a common share.

NEW BOND OFFERINGS TOTAL SHADES LOWER

New public financing in the United States during January, excluding domestic and Canadian municipals, aggregated approximately $803,834,000, as compared with $690,500,000 in the same month last year, according to compilations announced yesterday by Otto P. Schwarzschild, editor of American Underwriting Houses and Their Issues.

The compilations include stock issues as well as bond and notes. Preferred stocks of a set par were considered at par, while all no-par stocks were calculated at public offering prices. The record was compiled from advertisements of syndicate offerings, and the head of the syndicate was assumed to be the firm appearing in the leading position in the advertisement.

An analysis of the month's financing shows that public utility offerings totaled $403,949,000 or slightly over two-thirds of the total while the investment trust group follows with $65,825,000 and the railroad issues stand third with $42,483,000.

J. P. Morgan & Co. appeared during the month at the head of syndicates totaling $235,088,000; Harris, Forbes & Co. ranked second in respect to issues headed with $70,500,000 and close behind them was Halsey, Stuart &Co., Inc., with $69,615,000.

Harris Forbes & Co., in respect to total business, either as head or participant, accounted for the largest volume with $339,500,000. The Bankers Company of New York ranked second in this respect with $308,280,000, while the National City Company followed closely with $306,088,000. The Guarantee Company of New York was fourth, appearing in a total of $278,088,000.

BY EARLE E. CROWE

Prospects of new government business and the expansion of air-mail systems are encouraging a revival of interest in airplane-manufacturing stocks. Within the last few days more has been heard of such stocks as United Aircraft and Curtiss Wright than at any time since last fall.

Both of these companies are leading manufacturers and are also interested in transport companies carrying air mail. As manufacturers of airplanes and airplane motors, United Aircraft and Curtiss Wright are particularly interested in the reported program of the Army and Navy to build up new fleets of faster fighting planes to compare with the new planes recently developed by the British Royal Air Force. The British have lately appeared in the air with planes capable of 220 miles an hour.

SURVEY STARTED

The Navy Department, it is reported from Washington, has commissioned the Curtiss-Wright Corporation to prepare designs for a new high-power lightweight engine, and also to undertake a study of more efficient fighting planes, adequate fuels, propellers and other accessories for high-speed flight. The sum of $35,000 has been appropriated for the survey.

United Aircraft's Boeing division is evidently making a bid for the army fast-plane business, according to reports of recent tests at Wright Field of a new Boeing fighting plane. The tests developed a top speed of 206 miles an hour and an average of 196 miles when flown by several different pilots. The Curtiss Aeroplane division of the United Aircraft is understood to have developed a plane capable of similar performance.

Boeing, however, is further reported to have made tests at Seattle a few days ago of a new high-wing monoplane which is expected to do better than 220 miles an hour. This plane will be taken east for demonstration before army and navy authorities.

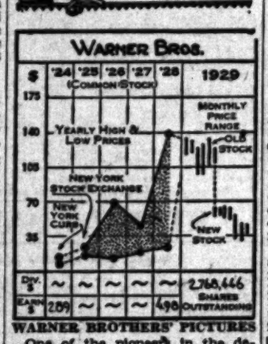
Should the Army and Navy launch substantial building programs of high-speed fighting planes, the engine makers and the builders of aircraft fortunate enough to produce results will win some valuable contracts that should materially affect 1930 operating results. Perhaps the Douglas Aircraft Company, which does substantial business for the government, and the Fokker Aircraft Company, one of the well-known manufacturers, will also submit designs.

EXPANSION PROMISED

All of the principal manufacturers of engines and aircraft should share in whatever fillip is given to air transport by the proposed expansion of the air mail under the legislation recently introduced in Congress. Under this bill the Post-office Department has the authority to extend existing routes and establish new ones wherever necessary, which will mean more airplanes.

United Aircraft operates, through its Boeing division, the San Francisco-Chicago and Los Angeles-Seattle air-mail routes, Curtiss-Wright is identified with Transcontinental Air Transport, which uses Ford planes equipped usually with the Wright engines. Fokker Aircraft supplies its product to Western Air Express, West Coast Air Transport, Mid-Continent Air Express, Universal Aviation and other lines.

WHAT'S BEHIND YOUR STOCK



WARNER BROTHERS' PICTURES

One of the pioneers in the development of the sound motion picture, Warner Brothers has participated fully in the subsequent rapid growth of that phase of the industry through the medium of Vitaphone Corporation, wholly owned subsidiary. Contracts with the Western Electric Company, American Telephone subsidiary, provide for payment to Vitaphone of 3 per cent of gross revenue received from licenses granted to other companies in the motion-picture industry. In addition to its strong patent position, Warner Brothers, together with Stanley Company, controlled company, owns 87 per cent of Stanley Company stock, providing more than 300 theaters as an outlet for pictures.

Net income for the year ended August 31, 1929 showed a marked gain over that for the preceding year, amounting to $17,271,805, or $6.33 per share on the common, as compared with $3,044,842, or $1.86 per share in the 1928 fiscal year. That these excellent earnings were not made at the expense of the balance sheet position is shown by the net working capital, which, at the end of August, 1929, amounted to $16,314,973 against $1,063,368 a year before.

CAPITALIZATION

Subsidiary funded debt, $43,060,047; funded debt, $20,000,000; preferred stock, $2.20 cumulative (no par,) 269,969 shares; common stock, (no par,) 2,748,446 shares.

Current data: Company has formed Warner Brothers Pacific States Theaters to establish theater chain on the west coast, group to include a $5,000,000 first-run theater in Hollywood.

London Market Trading Light

LONDON, Feb. 14. (Exclusive)—The stock market had a quiet tone today with little business transacted. Issues of trans-Atlantic interest were easier. The oil and mining groups had a quiet tone. Columbia Graphophone issues were lower. Tobacco shares generally were quiet with Imperial Tobacco shares easier. Artificial silk and textile securities were easier. Courtaulds had a steady tone. Margarine issues were quiet. Molasses, match and rubber securities were steady. Ford Motors, Ltd., was quoted around £2 18-16.

The gilt-edged division had an easier tone. Foreign issues generally were quiet. Home rails were dull while Argentine rails were again weak.

BANKERS TO ATTEND THEATER PARTY

As its annual social function, a theater party will be given by the women's committee of the American Institute of Banking next Tuesday evening at the President Theater, according to an announcement yesterday by Evelyn Anne Davis, chairman of the committee. Bankers may obtain tickets from members of the women's committee or at the chapter rooms, 742 South Hill street.

LOWER OUTPUT OF WORLD SUGAR SEEN

NEW YORK, Feb. 13. (Exclusive) Lamborn Company issued today a forecast of world sugar production for the year 1929-30 of 27,252,000 tons, against 28,057,000 tons during the 1928-29 season, off 805,000 tons, or 2.87 per cent. Consumption for 1929-30 has been estimated at 27,637,000 tons, against 26,967,000 tons in 1928-29, up 670,000 tons, or 2.22 per cent.

COURTAULDS NET INCOME DECLINES

LONDON, Feb. 14. (Exclusive)—Courtaulds, Ltd., reported today a net income for 1929 of £3,743,827 after all charges, against £5,171,996 reported for 1928, a decrease of £1,428,169. A final dividend of 6 per cent on the common stock was declared, against a final dividend at this time last year of 10 per cent.

SOLVENTS NET GAINS

NEW YORK, Feb. 14. (Exclusive) American Solvents & Chemical Corporation reported today consolidated net income for 1929 of $800,627 equal after preferred dividends to $2.66 a share on 180,562 common shares, against $670,708 in 1928.

NET INCOME OF NEVADA COPPER OFF

Decrease Reported of $2,303,698 from That in Preceding Quarter

NEW YORK, Feb. 14. (Exclusive) Nevada Consolidated Copper Company today reported for the quarter ended December 31, last, net income of $3,213,711 after depreciation but before depletion and Federal taxes, equal to 66 cents a share on 4,857,248 capital shares, against $5,517,409 or $1.14 a share in the preceding quarter and $6,536,819 or $1.34 a share in the 1928 quarter.

Net income for the year ended December 31, last, was $19,241,893 or $3.96 a share, as compared with $16,894,912 or $3.48 a share on the same share basis in 1928.

D. C. Jackling, president, reported that the net cost per pound of copper produced after crediting revenue from gold and silver and other miscellaneous earnings and income from subsidiaries was 9.14 cents in the fourth quarter, as against 9.23 cents in the preceding quarter. These costs include all operating and general charges of every kind except depreciation and reserve for Federal taxes.

The net production of copper from all sources, he added, for the fourth quarter totaled 85,068,066 pounds, as against 78,381,399 pounds in the first quarter, 72,616,900 in the second quarter and 80,190,553 in the third quarter.

Final Chapter Near Close in Armour Crash

CHICAGO, Feb. 14. (AP)—Armour & Co., meat packers, will have some 25,000 additional stockholders Monday.

Holders of voting trust certificates issued by Armour & Co. at the time J. Ogden Armour retired from active management, after losing $1,000,000 a day for 130 consecutive days, will have the right to claim actual stock for certificates the 16th inst. The voting trust certificates were issued for J. Ogden Armour's personal holdings of common stock, which he released to meet obligations following the war. They have been traded on New York, Chicago and San Francisco stock exchanges since. Gradually the public has acquired them.

With the passing of this stock, once owned by Armour, into the hands of smaller stockholders, the number of shareholders in the company will approximate 80,000 persons. Trading will be permitted in the voting trust certificates for only a few weeks after the trust has expired.

Thus is written the final chapter of the J. Ogden Armour business failure. Signing of the armistice November 11, 1918, ending the World War on that date instead of the following summer as most military men had predicted, found Armour & Co. with tremendous stocks of meat on hand and no market. The government canceled all contracts and Armour's huge personal fortune was swallowed in the crash.

Stewart-Warner Issues Report

CHICAGO, Feb. 14. (Exclusive)—Stewart-Warner Corporation issued today its pamphlet report for 1929 showing earnings for 1929 equivalent to $5.37 a share on 1,273,480 capital shares outstanding as reported in the preliminary report. In 1928 the net was equivalent to $6.09 a share on the same share basis.

C. B. Smith, president, in his remarks stated that fundamentals appear to be generally sound and indications of a gradual return to normal conditions are much in evidence. The recession of the last quarter did not constitute a new experience, he said, and need cause no surprise if they recur from time to time in the future.

Rate on Matson Navigation Up

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 14. (Exclusive)—Directors of the Matson Navigation Company today declared a quarterly dividend of $1.50 on the common stock, which increases the annual rate from $4 to $6 a share. The dividend is payable tomorrow.

It was stated after the meeting that the directors plan to maintain the new quarterly rate as a regular dividend.

CONGRESS CIGAR NET EARNINGS DECREASE

NEW YORK, Feb. 14. (Exclusive) Congress Cigar Company, Inc., today reported for the year ended December 31, last, net income of $2,882,116 after all charges and taxes, equal to $8.23 a share, as against $2,984,805, or $8.52 a share in 1928.

CONTINENTAL CAN NET EARNINGS UP

NEW YORK, Feb. 14. (Exclusive) Continental Can Company, Inc., today reported for the year ended December 31, last, consolidated net income of $8,967,802 after depreciation and Federal taxes, equal after preferred dividends, to $5.02 a share on 1,725,045 common shares as against $6,690,796, or $4.35 a share on 1,459,991 common shares in 1928.

EARNINGS STATED

NEW YORK, Feb. 14. (Exclusive) Airstocks, Inc., today reported for the period from January 15, 1929, to December 31, last, net income of $293,842 after expenses and provision for Federal taxes, equal to $3.26 a share on the capital stock outstanding on December 31, last.

EARNINGS OF SUN LIFE HIGH

Earned Interest Rate on Mean Invested Assets of Canadian Company 7.02 Per Cent

BY JOHN F. SINCLAIR

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—When T. B. Macaulay, president of the Sun Life Assurance Company, made the annual report of his company's activities he showed that the rate of interest earned on its "mean invested assets" had risen to 7.02 per cent. With bonuses and stock privileges accruing on the company's holdings eliminated, the rate of return was 6.60 per cent.

"We believe in the future of Montreal, of New York, of Chicago, and all our great cities. We believe still more in the future of both Canada and the United States, and our investment policy is based on that confidence," said this Scotch president of Canada's largest life-insurance company.

"What effect had the stock market drop on Sun policy?"

"When investing our funds we have an eye to the distant future—ten, twenty, thirty years hence," said Mr. Macaulay. "Through our large stock holdings we have become permanent partners in the great utility and other corporations which serve our large cities."

United States government bonds, preferred and common stocks in American institutions owned by this Canadian company, totaled $300,000,000 out of combined assets of $460,000,000.

The British electrical industry has been making great strides in recent years. In 1913, the electrical output in all its branches amounted to $146,000,000, an impressive increase over the $68,000,000 done in 1907. But in 1928, the business reached $418,500,000, about three times the prewar figure and six times the amount handled twenty years ago.

British electrical exports are competing in several places successfully with its American and German competitors. Last year, about $92,000,000 of its electrical equipment was exported, an increase of 140 per cent over 1913.

Unlike the industry in the United States, the British industry until recently had not been concentrated in the hands of a few firms, but in the last twelve months a series of amalgamations have taken place, which leads one to suppose that the same developments which have taken place in the United States will take place in England.

Today three British groups in the electrical industry employ about 38,000 workers.

The consumption of cigarettes shows another year of remarkable expansion for 1929. It registered a gain of 12.3 per cent over 1928, with the total number of cigarettes consumed reaching 115,000,000,000, an unthinkable figure.

The four principal producers of cigarettes have already laid out their campaigns of advertising for 1930, which center again on women smokers. Another large gain is expected both in sales and in profits during the current year, with estimated output of 133,000,000,000 cigarettes.

Cigars are holding their own. Their consumption was about 1.5 per cent larger in 1929 than in 1928. The downward trend has been checked, temporarily at least, by the 5-cent cigar, which is responsible for 54 per cent of the total output.

It looks as though many of the cigar companies will be forced into other lines, and that before long only a few companies handling the outstanding popular-priced brands will be left.

Cigarettes, however, have the inside track and no one appreciates it more than the manufacturers themselves.

Bank Rate Down at Kansas City

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14. (AP)—The Federal Reserve Board announced today that the Federal Reserve Bank of Kansas City had lowered its rediscount rate from 4½ to 4 per cent on all classes of paper of all maturities effective tomorrow. Action of the Kansas City bank makes four Federal Reserve banks which have established a 4 per cent rediscount rate in the last ten days.

The other banks on this rate are New York, Chicago and Boston. The remaining eight banks of the Federal Reserve System are on a 4½ per cent basis.

Kroger Grocery Earnings Jump

NEW YORK, Feb. 14. (Exclusive) Kroger Grocery & Baking Company for the year ended December 31, last, today reported net income of $6,375,789 after all charges, including depreciation and Federal taxes, equal after preferred dividends to $3.64 a share on 1,726,726 common shares.

This compares with $5,323,586, or $3.47 a share on 1,534,618 common shares in 1928.

MATHIESON ALKALI ANNUAL INCOME UP

NEW YORK, Feb. 14. (Exclusive) Net income of Mathieson Alkali Works, Inc., for the year ended December 31, last, was reported today at $2,324,276 after depreciation, depletion and Federal taxes, equal after preferred dividends to $3.31 a share on 650,436 shares. This compares with $2,091,401, or $2.95 on the same number of shares in 1928.

LOAN EXECUTIVE ON CONFERENCE BOARD

Daniel Carrington-Imboden, secretary and general manager of the Mercantile Building-Loan Association of California, was elected a member of the executive committee of the Savings, Building and Loan Conference of the Pacific Coast at the annual meeting held this week in Los Angeles.

WOOL MART UNDERTONE STRONGER

Fine and Medium Types Reported Active With Prices Against Buyer

BOSTON, Feb. 14. (AP)—The Commercial Bulletin of Boston tomorrow will say:

There is a stronger tone in the wool market again this week and prices for wool in this market are rather against the buyer. Demand has centered especially on fine and fine-medium wools, both for the worsted manufacturers and the top-makers.

The manufacturing position evidently is improved although by no means to the extent that the mills could wish. Current operations, however, draw one inevitably to the conclusion that business is better in the goods market."

Foreign markets are distinctly stronger. There has been better clearance reported in Australia, at prices a shade above those prevailing last week-end. New Zealand and South America also are sightly firmer as well as South Africa.

There has been some tying up of wool in the west on winter loans.

The rail and water shipments of wool from Boston from January 1, 1930, to the 13th inst., inclusive, were 30,912,000 pounds against 23,008,000 pounds for the same period last year. The receipts from January 1, 1930, to the 13th inst., inclusive, were 27,360,300 pounds against 37,582,700 pounds for the same period last year.

Oil Investment Shares on Curb

Petroleum Corporation of America common stock has been approved for listing and will be called for trading Monday on the Los Angeles Curb Exchange, Phillip S. Lee, secretary and manager of the Curb, announced yesterday. The company has an authorized capitalization of 10,000,000 nopar shares, of which 3,250,000 are now outstanding.

Petroleum Corporation was organized as an oil investment trust in January of last year. Under Delaware laws it is empowered to acquire securities of oil companies and interests in all branches of the oil industry. It may also engage directly in the oil business and deal in securities generally. The stock is also traded on the New York Curb Exchange.

YOUR INCOME TAX

No. 11.

Salaries paid employees constitute one of the largest items of business expenses which are deductible from gross income. To be allowed such, claims must conform closely to the words of the revenue act, which provides for the deduction of "a reasonable allowance for personal services actually rendered." The test of deductibility is whether the amounts paid are reasonable and whether they are, in fact, purely for personal services. Money paid an officer of a corporation for which no services are rendered, or for services inadequate to the compensation, is not deductible as salary. Reasonable compensation is held to be an amount that ordinarily is paid by like enterprises in like circumstances for like services. For example, an officer of a corporation received in 1929 compensation in excess of the amount ordinarily paid for services such as he rendered, and which bore a relationship to the amount of his stock holdings. The excess would not be treated as salary, but as a distribution of earnings of the corporation, and the amount of such excess would not be considered a deductible item.

LOS ANGELES EXCHANGE

Prices Close Generally Firm After Early Weakness in Utilities

Irregular reactionary tendencies marked the movement of prices on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange. The list opened generally weak, but toward noon worked to lower levels as profit-taking developed among the utilities. The trend was combated, however, by fair resistance and toward the close a stronger tone was in evidence. Practically all changes marked on the list at the close of the session were fractional and these were divided more or less equally into gains and losses. The utilities, however, were most affected. Pacific Lighting closed down 2 1-4 points and Pacific Public Service, on 1,100 shares, 1 point to 32½. Southern California Edison slipped back 1 point to 64. The rights held firm. Bank of America of Delaware, which was a market leader, was down to 41 1-8, but recovered some buying with a spurt to 41 1-4. The close at 43½ was the same as Thursday's last sale. Emsco Derrick and Moreland Truck were strong spots of the market, advancing 1 point each to 20 and 6½, respectively.

Transamerica held within a narrow range and closing at 46 5-8, was down 1-8. Security-First National Bank firmed up 1-4 to 110 1-4. California Bank advanced ½ to 113½. Pacific Finance was an active trader and yielded 1-4 to 38 3-4.

NEW YORK BOND PRICES

NEW YORK, Feb. 14. (AP)—Communication company bonds played leading roles in today's market. Aside from those issues and a couple of convertible rails the list had little depth and net changes in seasoned obligations were in minor fractions.

American Telephone debenture 5s of 1960 and 1965 moved in large volume, but went nowhere. The combined turnover for the two was approximately $650,000, principal amount, almost evenly divided. The convertible 4½s, showing transactions of about $730,000, touched the year's high at 132 and then eased off for no net change.

The recently issued International Telephone 5s were active but failed to vary from the previous close. The same company's convertible debenture gained ⅝ on the day.

Santa Fe convertible 4½s and Chicago Northwestern 4½s traded briskly. Dealings were especially heavy in the former, which sold up to the new 1930 high at 140½. At the closing quotation of 140 the bond was up a point from the Thursday final and total sales of slightly more than $350,000.

Standard rails were dull. There was virtually no change in Atchison general 4s. Baltimore and Ohio 5s and Chesapeake and Ohio 4½s.

Foreign bonds were again in the sharpest movement of the market. Wickwire Spencer Steel 7½s, which rose to the best levels in months, reflecting a belief that the report of the receiver appointed to settle affairs of the company would be favorable to the mortgagees would be forthcoming soon. The certificates of deposit for the first 7½ advanced while the convertible 7½ rallied 3½.

Columbia Gas and Electric 5s (May) lost ½ point, to 100, the lowest of the year. Shell Union Oil 5s rose nearly a point in transactions of fair size. Schnico 6½s made another advance, the "p" bond mounting 4 points and the "w" issue 2 points.

Western Union collateral 5s fell 2 points.

United States governments eased on higher money rates. Treasury 4¼s of December-March and Liberty Fourth 4¼s lost about ⅛ point and Liberty First 4¼s 1 point.

Activity in foreign bonds dwindled.

New offerings of the week reached the total of $150,465,000, compared with $82,473,000 last week and $73,674,000 in the corresponding period a year ago.

The quotations here represent sales of bonds (in thousands of dollars) and the high, low and closing prices in order given. To expedite transmission, the cents in the quotations are omitted when the same as the figure both bid and asked.

OIL NEWS

BY HOWARD KEGLEY

Gusher obtained in F. G. Anderson No. 1 well, just west of the State highway on Patterson ranch at Goleta, has resulted in the leasing of several parcels, approximately 200 acres, by the Standard Oil Company of California, it was announced yesterday. Pressure in the new producer is said to be such that the project should come under the head of a "wide shut-off test to be made."

Anderson No. 1 spudded-in about two months ago and now bottomed at 1,700 feet with eight and one-half inch casing cemented at 1,680 feet. About 130 feet of oil sand was penetrated with considerable gas pressure, the operators in charge being inclined to believe that a new pay zone has been encountered. Another sand was penetrated at 1,600 feet and from that to present bottom the gas pressure has been extremely heavy. The operator reported that the formation encountered is similar to that found in the Ellwood oil field. The underlying sand was less than two miles west of the General Petroleum's More No. 3 on the Ellwood lease.

Two miles east of the Langman No. 1 for Standard Oil Company's Bolsa Chica County No. 1 recently abandoned with bottom being cut but after failing to find oil to justify further drilling. Location of the Langman No. 1 A. Tenchilli's No. 1 in the same district which is standing with bottom of the hole cemented.

Number of operators, including Edward L. Doheny, George F. Getty, Incorporated, Ralph Wheaton, and General Petroleum, are said to be interested much of the territory in the Goleta district, believing that development of a new field there will duplicate what happened at Santa Fe Springs.

Following along the coast, the Standard Oil Company of California and associates of the General Petroleum Corporation have drilling in progress. These five projects are all adjacent to the More ranch discovery. Standard's More No. 1 successfully passed through the bottom at 4833 feet and encountered a crooked hole, which the No. 3 now is drilling below the point of last.

Additional parcels have been leased recently by the Elwood Oil Company and the Honolulu Consolidated Oil Company in the Goleta district. At Sheriff, where Pacific Western has brought in Ferguson No. 1 for a 1,000-barrel producer, a water shut-off test is to be made.

"TIMES" THEATER GUIDE

MOTION PICTURES

Boulevard, Wash. at Verm't.—"Clancy in Wall Street." Charlie Murray and Lucien Littlefield frolic through a story about Irishmen and Scotchmen.

Carthay Circle, Carthay Center—"Devil May Care." The adventurous spirit of Metternich's days is brought to life by Ramon Novarro in an acceptable musical drama of love and bravery.

Criterion, 642 South Grand—"Anna Christie." Greta Garbo speaks the lines of Eugene O'Neill's heroine in fine style. Clarence Brown has done some of his best directing.

Filmarte, 1228 Vine—"The Last Performance." Reviewed in today's Times.

Grauman's Egyptian, 6708 Hollywood Blvd.—"The Laughing Lady." Ruth Chatterton emerges as another gallant lady who laughs in the face of scandal and wins Clive Brook. Average.

Hollywood, Edwy. at 7th—"The Mysterious Island" and Paul Whiteman, in person, in fantastic film, will play to a spelling cast, and telling a yarn about the first submarine.

Palace, Edwy. bet. 6th & 7th.—"Hot for Paris." Rough humor and broad comedy. Should prove fair entertainment. Malcolm St. Clair directed and El Brendel clown together.

Rits, 3200 Wilshire.—"Oh, Yeah." Robert Armstrong and Johnny Gleason unite again for a comedy about two brakemen and their belles.

R.K.O., Hill at 8th.—"Wall Street." Mild finance is the subject of this offering. Fair but quite like screen fare.

Uptown, Western at 10th—"Their Own Desire." Bet below.

United Artists, Edwy. at 9th.—"Lummox." Fannie Hurst's novel of a girl who spends a lagging way across the screen with Winifred Westover giving a feeling performance.

Warners' Downtown, Hill at 7th—"Son of the Gods." An unusual picture of fine characterization, relating Chinese life on the continent. Barthelmess in a Chinese role.

STAGE

Belasco, Hill at 11th—"Journey's End." R. C. Sherriff's fine war play is produced capably by an English company with Basil Gill.

El Capitan, Hollyw'd Blvd. nr. Highland —"Ladies of the Jury." The jury proves itself as quite a humorous group in this farce comedy led by the capricious Mary Boland.

Majestic, Edwy. at 9th—"New Moon." The popular operetta is well put on, featuring the song hit, "Lover Come Back to Me." Percy Ames and Joseph Houston.

Mayan, Hill at 11th—"Bambina." Some nice music though not much plot, despite this Venetian importation. Rodney Welford's personality stands out, and there are Ernest Wood and Al St. John.

Mason, Geary bet. Stockton & Powell—"The Garden of Allah," tense and beautiful annual pageant of the settling of California, up to its usual standard. With H. B. Warner.

Music Box, 6126 Hollywood Blvd.—"And So to Bed." James M. Fagan's adventurous comedy of seventeenth century naughtiness, delightfully done by members of the City Center Repertory Theater.

President, Edwy. at 6th—"Olive and Table," big business in a canning factory, with Kolb and Dill arousing roars and the audience laughing just as much.

Vine-street, 1615 Vine—"Gun-Up." Comedy in the days of Tennessee mountains, bringing drama, tragedy and Lucille LaVerne in her perennial masterpiece.

VARIETIES

Follies, 4th and Main—Burlesque.

CITY NEWS—EDITORIAL

ACT REACHED ON PLAY AREAS

Education Department and City Schools Agree

Co-operation in Varied Activities

Clashing to be Avoided Wherever Possible

During several years in which the Playground and Recreation Department and Los Angeles city schools have sought some form of agreement on playground activities, which was received with success only when the Playground and Recreation Commission approved a co-operative plan which has been approved by the Board of Education, an agreement covering relationship and activities already existing and which it is desired to have prepared recently at a meeting of a joint committee.

PLAN OUTLINED

Details of the two departments meeting and accepting responsibility in providing areas, facilities and supervision may be required to meet the needs of the city. Before exchanging of service, the Playground and Recreation Department intends to improve no less its playgrounds close to schools or contemplated school sites, and granted the latter is of a character to meet the needs of the school of which it is the center.

CONFERENCE SHOWN

Before a city playground, although schools or is close to school ground, the Board of Education is to refrain wherever possible from establishing supervised activities during school hours on such playground, the Playground and Recreation Department may render its services for the neighborhood.

SUPERVISOR DECIDES HE WON'T RUN

Beaty Declares Salary of $5000 Insufficient So He Will Let Office Go

Fred T. Beaty, Supervisor from the First District, yesterday announced he will not be a candidate to succeed himself at the forthcoming August primary.

FRED T. BEATY

Beaty's announcement was contained in a statement in which he also put to rest rumors that he intends to resign and become a candidate from Southern California for Lieutenant-Governor.

Beaty indicated he is retiring from the Supervisorial contest because he does not feel that he can live on the salary of a Supervisor, which is $5000 a year.

Beaty was first elected to office four years ago as Supervisor from the First District, which includes parts of Long Beach and Pasadena, Montebello, Whittier, Pomona and other cities and territory east of Los Angeles city.

Asked whether he is interested in any particular candidate who may seek his office at the August primary, Beaty replied "positively not." His statement, in part, follows:

"Fifteen years ago the people of Los Angeles county set the salary of the Supervisors at a figure which they considered at that time fair for such public service, and it has not been changed since. I am free to admit that I cannot afford to continue as a public servant, as my future is still ahead of me, not behind me.

"At this time I wish to express my sincere appreciation of the many expressions of pledges of support from friends in the district who wish me to continue to represent them as Supervisor. But I feel I have given my fair measure of civic and public endeavor to the people I represent and serve."

ILLINOIS GROUP TO PICNIC

De Witt county (Illinois) folk will assemble for their eighteenth annual picnic, Sunday the 23rd inst. at Westlake Park, Anne McPherson, secretary of the association, announced yesterday. A program will follow the noon luncheon.

CELL DOOR SHUT ON MISS BERGER

Income-Tax Adviser Starts Serving Sentence

Jovial Pose Forsaken When Jail Bars Clang

Lack of Room Raises Query as to Destination

In a more cheerful mood than she has shown since her indictment more than a year ago, Miss J. Marjorie Berger, Hollywood income-tax adviser, recently sentenced to two years and six months in a Federal prison, yesterday appeared at the office of United States Marshal Stitell and surrendered herself to begin her term. After laughing and talking with office attaches she was taken to the County Jail by Deputy United States Marshal Mangerina.

Miss Berger was convicted by a jury in the court of former United States District Judge Henning on charges of having aided in the making of a false and fraudulent income-tax return for Dorothy Mackaill, motion-picture actress, for the year 1926. Six other indictments are pending against her but have not been set for trial.

DELAY MOVE FAILS

A last-minute effort to gain another stay of execution of judgment was made by Miss Berger's attorneys, who advanced the need of caring for necessary business. This was denied by United States District Judge James, who had previously set 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon as the time she would have to surrender.

Miss Berger was asked whether she had any preference as to where she would go to serve her term, and she said: "Not so far as I am concerned." She exhibited a bandaged index finger, which, she said, had been bitten by a rabid dog, breaking the bone. Her jovial attitude lasted until she reached the women's quarters in the County Jail, when she broke down and wept.

NOTABLES AT TRIAL

The trial of Miss Berger attracted considerable attention, calling for the testimony of many motion-picture notables. Among these were Dorothy Mackaill, Dorothy Sebastian, King Vidor, Eleanor Boardman Vidor and others.

The woman's Federal prison at Alderson, W. Va., has been designated as the place for Miss Berger to serve her term, but it was stated at the marshal's office that the prison is already overcrowded. It was thought possible she would be sent to the San Francisco women's jail at Ingleside. While awaiting a prison designation Miss Berger will remain in the County Jail here.

HEALTH TEACHING STARTED

County to Train Sanitary and Quarantine Workers at New Institution

Establishment in Los Angeles county of one of the first public health schools in the country was announced yesterday by County Health Officer Pomeroy. The new school is located at the county health center in Belvedere Gardens.

Its purpose is the training of sanitary inspectors and quarantine officers. Dr. A. S. Baker, director of the health center, has been appointed dean.

The total lack of concentrated public-health instruction in California has retarded the efficiency of the administration of public sanitation and enforcement of health laws to a considerable degree, Dr. Pomeroy said.

There is an outstanding need for an accredited college of public health and preventive medicine with a course as complete as that of a law college, he said.

TROJANS TO ENTERTAIN HIGH SCHOOL PRESS

The journalism department and student press organizations of the University of Southern California will be hosts to 300 high-school journalists of Southern California Newspaper Day, March 1, according to announcement by John McCoy, student chairman. The program will feature talks by newspaper men and women of Los Angeles, sectional meetings, luncheon, and awarding of the Crobie Allen placque to the best high-school paper.

BEAUTY BECOMES BRIDE IN DIRIGIBLE

Wedding Ceremony Performed High Over City Hall

Superior Judge Guerin, Mrs. Phillip Singer (nee Edith J. Chernick) and Phillip E. Singer

"How's this?" asked Lieutenant-Commander Karl Lange, pilot.

"Perfect," chorused Edythe J. Chernick, Miss Winnipeg of 1928, and Phillip E. Singer, New York master of ceremonies.

"You all ready?" queried the fourth passenger in the blimp's upholstered cabin—Judge Walter Guerin.

"All set," replied the couple in the rear seat.

So the judge conducted the ceremony that made Singer and Miss Chernick husband and wife. Lange was the witness and the sound of an occasional clang of a street-car gong from the streets below served as a musical accompaniment.

When the couple had both contributed their "I do's," Lange started the two motors of the blimp again and landed the newlyweds at the Goodyear airship dock.

It was the first marriage in a blimp or other lighter-than-air craft on record.

The couple met in Hollywood a year ago and will return here to make their home following a honeymoon to Winnipeg.

LARGE PAINT PLANT WILL BE ERECTED

Arco Company Selects Los Angeles as Location for $200,000 Branch

Establishment in Los Angeles of a $200,000 plant by the Arco Company, paint, varnish and lacquer manufacturers, was announced yesterday.

The concern plans the immediate erection of three buildings and an output in the first year of operation worth $2,000,000. It is reported that several hundred men will be employed.

Details were reported by Grossman & Joseph, realty brokers, who handled the transaction, whereby the company acquired a tract of land 200 by 353 feet in the Goodyear Tract and fronting on East Fifty-ninth street between Central avenue and Avalon Boulevard.

The factory buildings will include a paint manufacturing plant 100 by 100 feet, a lacquer plant 50 by 100 feet and a varnish plant 30 by 60 feet. The largest building is to be of brick and steel construction and the others of reinforced concrete. All are to be one story in height.

The company now operates large factories at its home office in Cleveland and at Toronto, Can. Samuel D. Wise, president, and S. D. Weil, vice-president, are now in Los Angeles.

It is expected that ground for the plant will be broken within thirty days.

Governor Starts for Sacramento

With the intention of returning to Los Angeles on the 27th inst. Gov. Young departed for Sacramento yesterday. He left shortly before noon in order to fill a speaking engagement in the evening in Tulare.

While in Los Angeles, the Governor launched the first meeting of the California Constitution Commission, that will report on the present constitution and draft a substitute, and played a leading part in seeking to iron out whatever differences might exist between California groups over the amount of water to be derived from the Boulder Canyon dam project.

RESIDENCE CURB PLAN GOES OVER

Council Again Will Take Up Next Week Proposed Rule for City Employees

The ordinance proposing that all city employees must reside within the city limits was taken before the City Council yesterday and, while gaining a majority sufficient for success, failed to get unanimous consent and therefore will be held up one week.

The vote was 10 to 5, Councilmen Martin, Randall, Ingram, Sanborn and Webster voting in opposition.

The ordinance, while exempting temporary employees and those whose duties require them to live beyond the city boundary, proposes that within a year all employees of the municipality establish a residence within its limits.

STRIP TO BE VACATED

The City Council yesterday adopted an ordinance declaring the intention to vacate a small strip of ground in Juanita avenue between First and Temple streets.

FAREWELL FETE GIVEN TO HJELTE

City and Civic Leaders Honor Playgrounds Chief as He Retires from Post

City officials and civic leaders last night paid tribute to George Hjelte, retiring superintendent of the playgrounds, with a banquet at the Chamber of Commerce. The farewell dinner was attended by a number of playground officials from several near-by cities and was presided over by Joe Scott. Mr. Hjelte resigned as head of the playground department a month ago and leaves shortly for Westchester county, New York, and will be succeeded by Raymond Hoyt, who has been superintendent of construction for the department.

Juvenile Court Judge Scott, in an address of appreciation for the work of Mr. Hjelte for the playgrounds of the city, said that the problems of juvenile delinquency were lessened in the presence of a highly developed playground system. Other speakers included Mrs. C. O. Bryant, member of the Board of Education, and Harold G. Ferguson, president of the Los Angeles Realty Board.

Mr. Hjelte has headed the playground department for four years and came to Los Angeles from Berkeley, where he held a similar position, and he was previously assistant superintendent of physical culture for the State Board of Education. He recently accepted a position as director of recreation for Westchester county, where a program of expenditure of $42,000,000 for parks in Mt. Vernon, White Plains, Bronxville and Yonkers is involved.

IOWANS PLAN PICNIC AND EXPECT 125,000

Judge Ralph H. Clock, president of the Iowa Association, announced yesterday that plans have been completed for the annual all-day picnic of the Hawkeyes to be held at Lincoln Park, Saturday, the 22nd inst. The program will be featured by the Cotton Blossom Singers of Mississippi in a group of Southern melodies. About 125,000 former residents and tourists are expected to attend.

OIL-GAS DISPUTE DECISION URGED

Situation Receives Attention of Business Leaders

New-Law Proponents Score Over Opposing Group

Discussion Marks Meeting Called by Chamber

A resolution asserting that it was the sense of the meeting that governmental agencies should do everything possible to expedite decision on the new State conservation laws, aimed at overproduction of oil and waste of natural gas, was adopted by a majority vote at a meeting of representatives of various business organizations yesterday under the auspices of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce.

The resolution was not adopted, however, without spirited opposition. A counter proposal, also in favor of conservation but declaring that such conservation could be achieved by agreement within the industry to curtail drilling without State interference, received nearly as many votes as the one adopted.

Although approximately 150 men from different business organizations were present, when the vote was taken those balloting by standing apparently were largely members of opposing factions of oil men, both groups numbering not in excess of twenty-five. The remainder of those present did not vote, obviously being unable to decide which course to advocate.

HECTIC ARGUMENT

Somewhat hectic argument preceded the voting and, when the meeting broke up, several members of the oil groups remained to continue their unofficial argument. No agreement had been reached when they finally dispersed.

The meeting was called to order shortly after 10 a.m. by John C. Austin, president of the chamber. He presented L. P. St. Clair of the Union Oil Company, who told those present that the oil industry faces a crisis and that unless waste and overproduction are stopped demoralization of the industry will result, to be followed by an inevitable reaction, not only in local, but national business conditions. He reviewed the history of the development of Southern California and showed its close association with the development of the oil industry.

FIGURES PRESENTED

"The value of crude oil production last year was $750,000,000 and two-thirds of the oil was shipped out of the State, largely to foreign countries, the money returning here to be distributed to thousands of employees and stockholders," he said. "Now we are producing nearly twice as much oil as we have a market for, storage capacity is full and waste of natural gas, much of it incident to overproduction, will total in value between $30,000,000 and $50,000,000 in one year."

St. Clair declared that efforts to curb production within the industry have failed and it has become obvious that some force from without is necessary to exert an authority over the situation. For that reason, he said, the gas laws enacted by the last Legislature were sought. Since their passage, however, he declared, they have been attacked from various angles and at present their constitutionality is at issue in the Superior Courts. He sees in the final court decision upholding these laws the only remedy for the situation.

OTHER LEADERS SPEAK

Victor Rossetti, president of the Los Angeles Clearinghouse Association, and other metropolitan business leaders followed St. Clair and echoed his views. Rossetti presented the resolution that was finally adopted.

The counter-resolution was presented by Henry S. Woolner, president of the Woolner Oil Corporation of Long Beach, one of the leaders of the opposition. He contended that curtailment of drilling is the answer to conservation, but that the larger oil companies refuse to consider this method. Louis C. Dodelan was another oil man opposed to the Rossetti resolution. Other independent oil men also were heard.

Some charged that gas companies serving domestic gas to Los Angeles refused to take gas from their wells even as a gift, while at the same time the companies are paying the larger oil companies for natural gas. As the use of natural gas pressure is indispensable to the production of crude oil, they argued that such a condition is unfair to the small producer.

It was asserted, also, that the

NEVER GREW UP

Every time I go to a luncheon of commercial organizations I find them starting and ending the proceedings by singing little kindergarten songs at each other. You smile; then you shake hands with the business giant next to you and call him Willie—or whatever his first name may be. I am always tempted to warble the only kindergarten song I can remember:

MYSTERIES!

In one of his "Fables in Slang" George Ade tells about a wife who burned with suspicion because her husband went to numerous lodge meetings. She found that if one pours water over the wrists of a sleeping man he will answer all questions. Thus did she extract from him all the secrets, passwords, rituals and mysteries of all his lodges. The next time he started for a lodge meeting she just watched him with a pitying smile.

Charles Evans Hughes has a legal mind and an integrity of character that have been honored all over the world. It is an instance of the great good fortune of the United States that he consents to become Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States. But it is a pity that his pathway to that high office has to be smeared by a group of pinhead radicals in the Senate.

ROCK-PLANT VOTE SOUGHT

Referendum Steps Taken at Gathering Held to Open Fight on Bell Ordinance

Representatives of a number of community organizations at an informal meeting last night started the move to obtain a referendum on the ordinance signed by Mayor Porter last Monday, which will permit the Alphonso E. Bell interests to establish a quarry and rock-crushing plant in the Santa Ynez Canyon.

The first step taken was the formation of a new oranization, intended to have a city-wide membership, to carry on the referendum fight and to continue in existence afterward as a guardian against any further attempts to establish any heavy industry in any residential section of the city. The sentiment expressed at last night's meeting is that if the citizens cannot trust the political officers of the city to protect their home areas from despoilation they must organize to protect themselves.

The new organization is called the Home Zone Defense Association and at last night's meeting an executive committee of seven members was elected. They are Thorwald Siegfried, attorney prominent in the fight against the Bell project, chairman; Dr. G. A. Briegleb, Arthur Taylor, E. L. Leonard, C. M. Conant, O. W. Lord and Mrs. Sylvia Morrison.

This committee at once arranged for a mass meeting next Monday night at 8 o'clock in the Orange Room of the Miramar Hotel, at which all interested citizens will be invited to join the new organization and a full slate of officers will be elected. The speakers at the mass meeting will include Dr. Briegleb and Arthur Webes.

TIRED COUNCILMEN VOTE THEIR CARS BACK AGAIN

The cynical observations of the City Hall's cynical observers, expressed some days ago when the City Council voted away from itself the police chauffeurs and automobiles which constitute the aldermanic transportation system, were justified yesterday when the city fathers voted their cars and drivers back to themselves again.

The action was taken on motion of Councilman McAllister to rescind all former measures. He was joined by ten colleagues, Barthel, Henning, Holland, Ingram, Jacobson, Lewis, Martin, Webster, Williams and President Sanborn. Councilmen Burns, Cooke and Randall opposed McAllister's motion. Davis was absent. The result is that the Council has its seven free-ride cars, six policemen and an investigator to drive them.

Cooke expressed disgust for the situation by suggesting that two days of the week be set aside as "reconsideration days." Williams voiced the opinion that the Council is incapable of settling so weighty a problem as that of transportation and suggested a committee. Martin pleaded with the "fellows" not to make fools of themselves and Webster advised him this couldn't be done.

Randall termed the performance a "monkey show" and proposed the collection of an entrance fee, so the city might gain some little revenue from the representatives of "The Peepul."

BERMAN CENTER OF STORM

Counsel Battle All Day as Julian Case Bright Boy Balks All Efforts to Elicit Answers

Eleven lawyers crowded about the counsel table in Superior Judge Tappaan's court, yesterday spent five hours in bickering, comment, open quarreling and many objections and succeeded in getting nowhere in their efforts to take a deposition from Jacob Berman, alias Jack Bennett, one of the central figures in the crash of the former Julian Petroleum Corporation.

The deposition for use in the $15,000,000 stockholders' suit against the Los Angeles Stock Exchange and a group of local stock brokers, was started Thursday afternoon, dragged through all day yesterday, and will be continued Monday.

Berman, who followed S. C. Lewis, his former employer and president of the old Julian company, to the witness stand yesterday, became the center of what some of the courtroom spectators described as "much ado about nothing." When he left the stand last night he was clinging to his constitutional rights and refusing to testify on the grounds he might incriminate himself.

All day long Joseph L. Lewinson, who, with Guy R. Crump, represents the plaintiffs in the case, put question after question to Berman and in most cases received no answer at all except the witness' refusal to answer.

From all sides of the counsel table came objections and general remarks directed at Lewinson and his line of questioning and in each case a storm followed.

VICTIM STRUCK WHILE ASLEEP

Mrs. Reynolds Says She Left Him to Die Alone

Other Woman Named in Case Explains Friendship

Seattle Records of Shooting Shed Light on Act

Digging into the past for facts concerning her life, police late yesterday uncovered a ten-year-old shooting affray which they declare fixes unquestionably as jealousy the motive that impelled Mrs. Effie Reynolds, 42-year-old semi-invalid, to slay her husband, Alger, with a butcher-knife as he slept, shortly before dawn yesterday in their bungalow-court home at 1009 West Eighth street.

They found an account of the incident, they reported, among the police records of Seattle; and when they exhibited it to the assertedly confessed murderess for confirmation, Mrs. Reynolds admitted it, according to Capt. Cato, explaining that the previous shooting likewise had been actuated by "another woman."

RECORD OF SHOOTING

According to the Seattle records, Capt. Cato said, Mrs. Reynolds made an attempt on her husband's life on June 13, 1920, while they were living there, by shooting him in the head. The shooting occurred in a building where Reynolds was employed as an engineer. Only the intercession of the wounded husband and his refusal to appear against her saved Mrs. Reynolds from prosecution on a charge of attempted murder. The records show she was dismissed from custody after being fined $100 for discharging firearms.

Confronted with the record, Mrs. Reynolds disclosed neither the "other woman's" name nor other details of the shooting, save the statement that a woman had figured in the case.

WOMAN IN JAIL

Revived after suffering several near-collapses during the day, Mrs. Reynolds last night was locked in the County Jail, booked on a charge of murder. An inquest will be conducted at 2 p.m. Monday. In the meantime police will ask the District Attorney's office to issue a formal complaint.

Unsmotionally and with only the beckoning finger of unrequited love to lead her on, according to the police theory of the case, Mrs. Reynolds plunged a razor-sharp butcher-knife into her husband's throat when he fell asleep after discussing their marital differences with her during the earlier hours of the night.

CONFESSION MADE

And while the husband, to whom she had been married for eighteen years, staggered gropingly about the bedroom with blood gushing from the gaping wound, Mrs. Reynolds stoically disrobed, bathed herself, washed her clothing, dressed, and departed in a taxicab to the home of her niece, Mrs. Rose Mitchell, at 4942 Sunset Drive.

Such was the manner in which the police reconstructed the slaying of Reynolds from their investigation and the asserted confession of the woman at Central Police Station shortly after she had given herself up.

"Yes, I killed him," she declared, according to police, "I loved him. He was being taken away from me. I couldn't stand it. I can't just remember how I did it. I was in a daze."

NAMES HER "RIVAL"

Reynolds was a stationary engineer, said to have been a vigorous man. Mrs. Reynolds, as she talked to Detective Lieutenant Condaffer and Captain of Detectives Cato at Central Police Station, appeared frail and anemic. Her face was pale and thin. Her light blue eyes stared stupidly. She seemed not to realise what had happened.

The other woman in the case, according to the police, was Mrs. Helen Wesben of 458 East Forty-third street. Mrs. Wesben, it was stated, was employed as janitress in the same building that Reynolds worked as an engineer. Mrs. Wesben's husband, police said, is a barber.

According to the story said to have been related by Mrs. Reynolds, her husband and Mrs. Wesben had become friendly. Her husband had denied this, she said, but had threatened her with divorce. Acting on her own suspicions she had succeeded, she said, in getting her husband to visit Mrs. Wesben with her on the 4th inst. At this meeting Mrs. Wesben corroborated the husband's assertions that there was nothing between them, according to police, but Mrs. Reynolds apparently was not convinced.

STABBED SLEEPING MATE

Thursday night Mrs. Reynolds and her husband quarreled until about 2 a.m. She admitted this, the police stated. Then her husband went to bed. He slept. Mrs. Reynolds, unable to sleep, rose from her bed about 4 o'clock.

"I went into the kitchen to get a drink," she is said to have declared in her confession. "I saw a knife lying on the sink. I picked it up, went back into the other room and, oh, I don't know why I did it! I was in a daze!"

But police declare she admitted stabbing her husband twice in the throat and bathing and washing her clothes as he died.

After she had dressed Mrs. Reynolds went to the home of her niece. She told her niece what had occurred. The latter called George Wells of 1309 Myra street, Mrs. Reynolds's brother. Wells called a taxicab and, with Mrs. Mitchell, accompanied Mrs. Reynolds to Central Police Station where she gave herself up.

FAINTED AT SCENE

Later Capt. Cato and Detective Lieutenant Condaffer took her back to her home. They wished to reconstruct the murder scene. But as she entered the blood-spattered bedroom Mrs. Reynolds fainted.

The detectives then took Mrs. Reynolds to the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital. She was revived and returned to Central Station.

In the meantime other detectives found Mrs. Wesben. She willingly accompanied them to Capt. Cato's office. She was asked to make a statement.

"I know Mr. Reynolds," she said, "but it is absolutely not true that we were too friendly. I only knew him a short time. Mrs. Reynolds is mistaken if she says we were more than casually friendly."

Mrs. Wesben was then told that Reynolds was dead. She said nothing but her face paled. Recovering from the shock of the news she listened calmly to the details of the slaying.

"We were just casual friends," she said.

At this moment Mrs. Reynolds was brought back from the hospital. Not knowing that Mrs. Wesben was seated in Capt. Cato's office, Detective Lieutenant Allen and Policewoman Ross started to take Mrs. Reynolds within.

"THAT'S THE WOMAN"

Mrs. Reynolds stopped suddenly at the doorway. She stood rigid a moment, staring at Mrs. Wesben seated near the captain's desk. A gasp parted her lips.

"That's the woman," she cried shrilly, raising an accusing finger.

Mrs. Wesben glanced toward the doorway at the sound of the other's woman's voice, but before she could reply, Mrs. Reynolds was quickly pulled back out of the office by the policewoman.

She was noticeably excited by the other woman's presence in the captain's office but said nothing further. A few moments later she was taken out another exit and escorted to the County Jail. Mrs. Wesben was allowed to go home.

BERMAN BALKS AT QUESTIONS

which swept around the counsel table.

From what could be learned last night from various counsel it appears that when the attempted questioning of Berman comes to an end some time next week a commitment for contempt will be asked of Judge Tappaan.

The matter of the present depositions first came up in Judge Tappaan's court several weeks ago, when Miss Leontine M. Johnson, at one time Lewis's private secretary; Lewis and then Berman were called to testify. Both Miss Johnson and Lewis gave their versions of matters connectde with the old Julian company.

SUSPECT AT PATTON, MURDER CASE CLOSES

Murder charges against Sterling M. Duncan, night watchman accused of slaying his employer, Carl J. POET ASKS AID TO SAVE PROPERTY

Mrs. Lawrence, Crippled Hollywood Writer, Needs $27,000 by Monday

Appeal for assistance in saving from foreclosure a $75,000 property in the Montebello oil field district upon which only a $27,000 mortgage exists was broadcast yesterday by Mrs. Ida Eckert Lawrence, 1566 Gordon street, a crippled poet of Hollywood.

Mrs. Lawrence's illness has become almost unendurable under the stress of worry over the possible loss of her property and her friends who have rallied to her assistance declare that the $27,000 must be in escrow before Monday noon if her property—her life's fortune—is to be preserved to her.

Mrs. Lawrence and her friends affirm they have been hindered in their efforts to sell the property or raise the amount to lift the mortgage.

The property comprises twelve acres on San Gabriel Boulevard, and is adjacent to the Montebello oil field with good showing for oil production, and is ample to secure any loan or financial assistance offorded Mrs. Lawrence, her friends say.

She is anxious to have the property before foreclosure hour Monday come into the hands of someone who will assist her out of the financial problem, and she will receive any interested party at her home, 1566 Gordon street.

CAR DEATH PROBATION PLEA WINS

Harwell D. Merritt Gets Freedom After Promising to Pay Victim's Bills

A flawless record and promises to pay hospital bills and funeral expenses resulting from the injury and death of Evelyn Plasterer, 409 North Kenwood street, Glendale, yesterday caused Superior Judge Hardy to grant probation to Harwell D. Merritt, 36-year-old engineer.

Merritt, who lives at 1224 Fifth street, Santa Monica, was charged with manslaughter following an automobile accident on Brand Boulevard, Glendale, between Broadway and Wilson avenue, November 23, 1929.

H. D. Roberts, deputy probation officer, said Merritt supplied evidence proving he returned to assist the victim after the accident but was arrested by officers before he could find a place to park his car.

SHIREY GANTED FIVE-YEAR PROBATION

Evidence indicating that Charles E. Shirey left the scene of an automobile accident October 23, 1929, to get aid for two persons struck and injured by his automobile, yesterday caused Superior Judge Hardy to release the defendant on probation for five years. Shirey was charged with failure to stop and render aid.

Rug Sales Pair Held for Bunko

Asserted attempts to sell cheap rugs to credulous business men on the pretext that they were of oriental origin and had been smuggled into the United States yesterday resulted in the arrest of two men on suspicion of bunko. The pair are booked as Edgar Piegen, 26 years of age, of 544 Gladys street, and Edward McGovern, 27, of the same address.

According to Detective Lieutenants Warren and Marshall of the Central bunko detail, Piegen and McGovern plied their assertedly fraudulent trade in downtown office buildings. Their arrest followed complaints registered by the Better Business Bureau.

larger companies can pump gas from one field to put pressure on the deep sands of another field, at an expense prohibitive to smaller organizations. Another Long Beach oil man wanted to know if it is true that cheap oil from Venezuela has destroyed the eastern market for western oil, and asked if a proper tariff would not settle the overproduction question.

Yesterday's meeting was the outgrowth of a meeting held last Monday between committees representing the Clearinghouse Association, the California Oil and Gas Association, Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association and the Automobile Club of Southern California, at which time it was decided that the oil situation presents a grave peril to Southern California's prosperity and that the aid of the public should be enlisted.

Invitations to attend yesterday's meeting were extended to chambers of commerce, hotel men, real estate dealers, druggists and many other groups in the hope of getting a representative cross-section of the community's business life.

RETURNS EXPECTED TODAY IN FLOW TESTS

That the Signal Hill field will not surpass its peak of 300,000 barrels of oil a day established in September, 1923, during the present six-day flow test, is the belief of field officials seeking to establish a new potential to enable the entire field to be curtailed for the duration of the agreement expiring April 31, next.

With thirty-six gaugers active at Signal Hill and seven at Seal Beach, first returns from the six-day flow test are expected this morning. Umpire Neil E. Anderson anticipates that the deep and shallow sand producers at Signal Hill will not exceed a total daily flow of 160,000 barrels.

The Signal Hill field has approximately 500 deep-zone producers and more than 400 shallow producers. The latter are not being subjected to the test as their potential is already established.

At Seal Beach there are 200 shallow and deep-sand producers, all of which will be gauged during the present test. Before the State-wide curtailment order became effective that field was good for about 35,000 barrels daily and that was whittled to 25,000 barrels.

As for the Santa Fe Springs field, the situation there is similar to that at Signal Hill. Umpire Paul Grimm expects returns this morning and early estimates place its probable daily average at less than 275,000 barrels.

Failure of the Oscar Howard No. 7 in the extreme southwesterly portion of the Santa Fe Springs field to discover a still deeper producing zone has apparently discounted the field's possibilities of surpassing the record set in August, 1923, when the field produced 346,000 barrels daily for a short time.

FLEA FOR SUSPENSION OF STATE'S SUIT FAILS

On the plea that the Santa Fe Springs operators cannot agree to oil curtailment in the face of present litigation, Attorney Neil S. McCarthy, representing three defendants, yesterday made an unsuccessful move for suspension of the State's injunction suit to prevent waste of natural gas by the fixing of a gas-oil ratio. Superior Judge Haslett denied the motion.

"I believe if the hearing is suspended the large and small operators can get together and agree," McCarthy said in offering his motion. Attorney James S. Bennett, counsel for the State, objected, and attorneys for other defendants expressed a desire that the hearing proceed to a court ruling on validity of the new Gas and Oil Conservation Act.

Arguments on the constitutionality of the new law are expected to conclude next week. The State contends the new act is valid and a necessity in order to prevent the waste of millions of cubic feet of natural gas. It maintains further that this gas should be used commercially or placed back in the earth for repressuring purposes in the future production of petroleum.

FALLEN-PLANE HUNT RENEWED

Deputies Will Search Area Along Ridge Route

Burning Craft Reported Seen in Plunge

Airports Have No Record of Missing Ship

Additional search will be made today on the Ridge Route near Half Way Inn by deputy sheriffs from Newhall in an attempt to locate a blazing airplane reported to have fallen in the mountains Thursday night.

Attempts yesterday of officers to verify the plunge by finding the wreckage were futile, and no planes were reported as missing from any of the flying fields or airports.

FIRST REPORT

First reports of the supposedly fatal plunge were received by the Newhall substation of the Sheriff's office from V. Massie, a truck driver employed by the Oil Field Trucking Company of Bakersfield. Massie telephoned the station Thursday night stating that about 8:30 o'clock he had made out the form of a burning plane dropping into the mountains west of the highway at a point midway between the Halfway Inn and Swede's Cut. Massie witnessed the plunge, he said, while driving south on the Ridge Route.

Deputies Bell and Rolin of the Newhall substation first made inquiries of Southern California airports, and, learning no planes were missing, then visited the approximate location of the reported mishap. At the Halway Inn they learned that L. O. Frye, a driver for the Richfield Oil Company of Taft, had told guests there he, and his wife, too, had seen thesesoin his wife, too, had seen the blazing ship.

OTHER REPORTS

The officers then traced Massie, the original informant, to the National Forestry Inn and returned with him from there to the vicinity in which he had reported th eplane fell. Later they located another witness, whose name was not given, but who said he had observed a plane in flight over the Lebec Mountain beacon about 8:15 p.m. This added strength to the deputies' belief in Massie's report.

For several hours the officers searched the vicinity near the summit of the Ridge Route, being forced near midnight to abandon the investigation on account of darkness and the rough terrain.

The search was resumed at daybreak yesterday by Deputy Sheriffs Schottmiller and Thompson and continued until darkness last night without avail. With strong field glasses the officers reconnoitered the surrounding country from eminences, but reported discovereing no sign of the plane's wreckage. Further investigation at the Halfway Inn, however, resulted in statements by several other witnesses that they had been what appeared to be a flaming, falling plane.

Baja California Governor Ends Southland Visit

Gov. Jose Maria Tapia of Baja California returned to the governmental palace in Mexicali yesterday after two days in Los Angeles and vicinity.

During the stay he visited the San Bernardino Orange Show in company with Gov. Young, Rex Goodsell and Santiago B. Reachi, agent commercials of Mexico City.

Juvenile Court to Sit Murder

Joe R. Ortega, Lincoln High School athlete, was ordered certified to juvenile court for trial on murder charges by Municipal Judge Turney yesterday. Ortega is accused of stabbing Jose Alvarez, 18 years of age, to death during a quarrel at the home of Nina Velasquez, 951 Court street, on January 12, last.

Alvarez died several days later in a hospital as a result of the wounds. Joe Ryan, defense attorney, placed Ortega and his mother and father on the stand, proving that Ortega was 17 years of age at the time of the stabbing, although he became 18 before Alvarez died.

"Papa" Letter Wins Divorce

"Hello, little papa," ran the salutation of a letter to Fred C. Binkley, according to Mrs. Bernice Binkley, who obtained a divorce in Superior Judge Gates's court yesterday.

Mrs. Binkley said the letter was signed "Gerty." It appeared to describe a hurried exit of Binkley from an apartment on the second floor.

"I surely got a kick out of you going down the stairs," wrote "Gerty." "I had a notion to holler out of the window at you. Boy, you sure got across that lawn fast. You must have been scared."

FASTER TIME ON LATIN AIRWAYS PROJECTED

Making his second tour of inspection of the Pickwick Latin-American Airways since its inauguration August 1, last, Thomas E. Morgan, general manager, plans to leave tomorrow for Mexico City, Guatemala City and San Salvador. Fourteen and one-half hours will be cut from the present flying time to Mexico City with the projected inauguration of a two-day service, eliminating San Diego as an overnight stop, Morgan said. The new schedule is expected to go into effect about March 1, with only one overnight stop at Los Mochis, Sinaloa.

CONDITION OF MOORE UNCHANGED

Ambassador Removed to California Hospital and Reported "Very Sick"

Alexander P. Moore, retired publisher and recently appointed Ambassador to Poland, who was taken to the Pottenger Sanatorium on the 3rd inst., suffering from tubercular infection of the throat and lungs, yesterday was removed from the Monrovia institution to the California Hospital where his condition is reported unchanged and he is declared a "very sick man."

Mr. Moore has been placed under the care of Dr. P. G. White, and further examination disclosed a complication of ailments, it was reported, that have brought on a general breakdown of his health, in addition to the tuberculosis infection.

Ambassador Moore has served in Spain and Peru in diplomatic posts. He returned last August in failing health from the South American country and went to the home of Charles Chaplin for several weeks where he was under the care of a nurse.

AIR OFFICIAL GOES EAST

Lieut. Paul E. Richter, Jr., vice-president and general manager of Aero Corporation of California, left on a Western Air Express plane yesterday for St. Louis, where he will represent local aviation interests at the National Aircraft Exposition opening today. He also will attend the air transport operators' conference, the aircraft dealers and distributors' conference, and the flying school committee meeting, all sponsored by the National Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce.

Mrs. Foltz May Enter Race for Governorship

Mrs. Clara Shortridge Foltz, Los Angeles attorney and sister of United States Senator Shortridge, yesterday informed her friends that she is considering an announcement of her candidacy for the Republican nomination for Governor.

Mrs. Foltz has been active in political affairs of California for many years. She said yesterday that she has not had opportunity to draft a platform upon which she will launch her candidacy, but indicated a belief that her work for the improvement of the political, social and civic condition of women will be the basis of her appeal for support.

Convicted Loan Man Sentenced

W. Harold Dodge, head of the Dodge Finance Company, was sentenced to serve ninety days in jail and fined $500 by Municipal Judge Wood yesterday. Dodge, convicted of usury by a jury, was denied a new trial. Bail of $1500 was fixed on oral notice of appeal.

Dr. Alice M. Scriver, 4871 West Twelfth street, testified during the trial that she paid Dodge $25 for a loan of $75 for sixty days on her office furniture. The company, also a defendant, was fined $500 by Judge Wood.

PROTESTS TURNED DOWN

The City Council yesterday denied all protests against the improvement of Locli Terrace at Hollywood Boulevard and the improvement of Cometa street between Fairmont and Maclay avenues. Hearing of protests against the lighting of Venice Boulevard between Featherstone Drive and Hughes avenue was continued until April 14.

CONSUL OF CHILE HERE TRANSFERS

Senor Valdes Leaving in Accordance With Code of Latin Diplomacy

Following four years' service in his country's first representative here, Consul F. Valdivieso notified the Consular Corps yesterday that he will return to Chile on a four-month vacation and will receive a new post.

This transfer is the result of a regular four-year shift in the Chilean diplomatic service, Consul Valdes has not been informed of his next assignment will also be announced. He stated that Victor M. Rendon, consul of Ecuador, will be in charge of the local Chilean office pending the arrival of a new representative, probably Arturo Rios, now consul in Seattle.

"During my four years I believe that the annual good-will trip to South America by the City of Los Angeles has resulted in great strides toward closer friendship between the Pan-American countries and the United States than any other single gesture. I hope that the voyages continue," Valdes stated.

Consul Valdes has been in the service of his country for twenty years, holding posts in all parts of the world.

TWENTY CENTS BANDITS' HAUL

Hold-up men yesterday went to a lot of trouble and risk to intimidate and tie up Claude Bergstrom, in his cleaning and pressing shop at 6227 South Hoover street. They conformed to all the conventions of their craft, one "covering" the victim with a gun while the other bound him with picture wire.

Repeatedly they demanded Bergstrom's hoard. When he realized they were referring to his money, he let them take all he had—20 cents.

SHOW LURES OFFICIAL OF AUTO GROUP

S. A. Miles Declares This Season Sets High Mark in Number of Innovations

S. A. Miles, general representative of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, arrived in Los Angeles yesterday in connection with the automobile show at the Shrine Auditorium to open the 22nd inst.

"In all my experiences in the automotive industry," said Miles, "I have never seen so many worthwhile innovations in any one season. The sixteen-cylinder car, the front-wheel drive and the wide range of color schemes are the most interesting developments, although there are hundreds of lesser features."

Miles presented some figures concerning the sixteen-cylinder car, as well as the great number of new eight-cylinder motors. "It is estimated that each cylinder is an automotive power unit," he said, "and in such understanding about half of the total power now driving cars throughout the world is to be found in four-cylinder machines, while the remainder is about evenly divided between the six-cylinder and eight-cylinder cars. It will be interesting to watch the inroads that the sixteen-cylinder will make."

Three Accused of Plot to Extort Funds

Extortion charges were filed yesterday against Mrs. Lucy Capacchione; Frank Capacchione, her husband, and his father, Gicinto Capacchione, all of 6901 South Cimarron street.

It is charged that on the 11th inst. they took $400 in marked money from Vincenzo Ambriola, 754 New Depot street, after threatening to inform police that he possessed a barrel of wine. They were arrested as they accepted the money, Dep. Dist.-Atty. Coleman asserts.

In another complaint the two men are accused of extorting $200 from Ambriola previously under similar circumstances. The third complaint charges Gicinto Capacchione with extorting $75 from Joe Sisini.

GAS USERS BUNKOED BY BOGUS COLLECTOR

Warning was issued yesterday by the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation that a man representing himself as a collector of that corporation has been victimizing downtown merchants. His method, the company announces, is to follow a real collector and to steal the bills left at addresses where subscribers are not present. Later the bills are presented when the subscribers are in. He carries a leather case resembling those used by collectors but has no badge. The man is described as spare, 40 years of age and wearing a brown suit.

POLICEMAN'S WIFE GRANTED DIVORCE

Bradford J. St. Charles, Los Angeles policeman, told his wife, Mrs. Phyllis St. Charles, that he was too temperamental to be a married man, according to her testimony given yesterday before Superior Judge Gould when asking for a divorce. Mrs. St. Charles declared her husband gave her $5 and told her to go to her home. She also said that St. Charles told her he was interested in another girl. The couple married at Santa Ana on October 21, 1924, and separated on December 26, 1929. A decree was granted.

DOMINION'S BEAUTY TO GET CROWN

Selection of Miss Canada Will Feature Session of Tourists' Society

A parade of twenty chosen beauties on the lawn of the Menlo-avenue side of Exposition Park today will open the twentieth annual three-day convention of the affiliated units of the Canadian Tourists' Society. The entrants are representatives of sections of the Dominion and will be judged for their personality and popularity as well as beauty. Among the entrants is Miss Eileen Bowser of Hamilton, Ont.

Field events and a picnic will occupy the rest of the day.

The crown emblematic of the title, Miss Canada, will be presented to the beauty-parade winner this evening at a public reception in the Angelus Hotel.

The convention tomorrow will take the form of committee meetings held jointly by the Canadian Tourists' Society and the American and Canadian Tourists' Association. In the evening will be a musicale, flag-unfurling and speaking at another public session in the Philharmonic Auditorium, beginning at 6:30 o'clock.

Monday's program will consist of another tourist-reunion at 2 p.m., with further executive meetings at 3 p.m. and a reception and dance in the evening.

BURIAL SET FOR SCION OF OLD FAMILY

Miss Estelle Campbell, Carrillo Grand-daughter, Succumbs at Home

Requiem mass will be celebrated this morning at 8:30 o'clock for Miss Estelle Helen Campbell, who died Thursday at her home, 3720 Dalton avenue, following a short illness. Miss Campbell was a member of an old California family and was a grand-daughter of Isabella Gallado Carrillo.

Miss Campbell's grandfather, Robert Campbell, went to San Francisco in 1848 and after a few years came to Southern California and married Isabella Carrillo, daughter of the old Spanish family of the name. The family lands now are occupied by the General Hospital and a large part of the Central Manufacturing District.

A rosary service was conducted last night in Pierce Brothers' chapel, to be followed by the requiem mass this morning at St. Michael's Church, Manchester and Vermont avenues. The pallbearers will be Judges Wood, Westover and Baird, Joseph Stace, Hugh Bold and Floyd Howard. Interment will be in Calvary Cemetery.

P. C. Phillips, Half-Century Resident, Dies

Peter C. Phillips, criminal courts bailiff, Spanish War veteran and fraternal lodge member, died yesterday at his home, 3915 Woodlawn avenue, following two years' confinement with heart disease. Funeral services will be conducted at 2 p.m. Monday from the Paul D. Robinson chapel, 1001 West Washington street, followed by Masonic services at Odd Fellows Cemetery.

Phillips was 59 years of age. He came to Los Angeles fifty years ago from his birthplace, Erie, Pa. He was a member of Eastgate Masonic Lodge, No. 290, Maccabees Tent, No. 2, Fraternal Order of Eagles, No. 102, Scottish Rite, and Mystic Shrine, El Malaikah Temple. He leaves his widow and two brothers and two sisters, all of Los Angeles.

Trojan Flyers Acquire Ships

Two airplanes for training ships for the group of University of Southern California who organized the Trojan Flying Club a year ago have been acquired by the club, it is announced.

The four organizers of the club, Nathan R. Rhine, Burdette Daniels, Joe Crail, Jr., and Myron D. Sunde, started with a Swallow biplane with a used motor.

Yesterday they announced the purchase of a new Timm monoplane with Kinner motor, and have moved their headquarters to Grand Central Air Terminal.

Officers of the club are Dr. A. R. Harlin, president; M. D. Sunde, vice-president; N. R. Rhine, treasurer, and W. D. Griffith, secretary. Percy R. Moore and R. J. Friend of Glendale are new members.

ITALIAN PRINCESS THANKS DUSE CLUB

In a cablegram addressed to Mrs. Emma Marchetti, president of the Eleonora Duse Club of Los Angeles, the Crown Princess of Italy expresses thanks for the congratulations of the local club on her wedding to Prince Humbert. At the luncheon on the 27th inst., it is announced, Sherman Hill will lecture on the Italian composer Verdi. Mrs. Mary Holland Kincaid of the California Graphic will be guest of honor. The program has been arranged by Countess d'Audiffret, chairman of the committee on culture.

WIFE OF POLICEMAN WINS DIVORCE SUIT

Mrs. Adah Belle Duncan was granted a decree of divorce from Lewis Cecil Duncan, acting detective on the forgery detail of the Los Angeles Police Department, yesterday by Superior Judge Keetch. She accused Duncan of beating and choking her because he objected to her remaining up late while entertaining guests.

Trojans Victors in Debate With Hawaiian Team

Trojan debaters last night won a unanimous decision over the team representing the University of Hawaii in a debate in Bovard Auditorium, University of Southern California. The local debaters supported the affirmative on the proposition, "Resolved, that the nations should adopt a plan of disarmament excepting such forces as are needed for police protection."

The Southern California team consisted of Glenn Jones and Gregson Bautver, while their opponents from the islands were Donald L. Layman and Shigeo Yoshida. Judges were Thomas E. Hughes, W. B. Root and Judge Daniel Beecher.

The Hawaiians landed at Vancouver on January 31 and since then they have debated the teams of six colleges, namely, Oregon, Oregon State, Willamette, Pacific, California and Stanford. The lost to Oregon, won from the next two and no decision was rendered in their next three contests. They have three more engagements in Southern California, meeting the team of Southwestern University tonight, University of Redlands on Monday and the University of California at Los Angeles on Tuesday. They sail for home next Friday and when they arrive in Honolulu they will have been absent from their classes for exactly five weeks.

Pair Convicted of Misbranding Fruit Sentenced

Found guilty of misbranding grapefruit to indicate that it came from the Imperial Valley instead of the north, George Melford and Joseph Waldman, fruit dealers in the Grand Central Market, were given their option of paying fines of $102 each or of spending twelve days in jail by Municipal Judge MacCoy yesterday. The court, denying the motion of W. P. Redmond, defense attorney, for a new trial, granted his motion for a stay of execution of the sentence until Monday and also fixed $200 bail on oral notice of appeal.

Judge MacCoy also ordered photographs taken of the seven boxes of grapefruit which formed the State's evidence, now rotting in the courtroom. The trial, prosecuted by Deputy City Prosecutor Avery, who was assisted by Dist.-Atty. Heald of Imperial county, required thirteen court days and covered a period of more than three weeks.

Parrish Heads Health Group

City Health Officer George Parrish yesterday was elected president of the Southern California Health Association, succeeding Dr. Warren F. Fox. Other officers chosen were Dr. W. B. Wells, Riverside, first vice-president; Dr. A. M. Lesem, San Diego, second vice-president, and Dr. G. M. Porter, Los Angeles, secretary and treasurer.

Addressing 300 members from ten counties at a meeting in Patriotic Hall last night, Health Officer W. C. Hassler of San Francisco said that the public health program of Los Angeles county is recognized by State and Federal authorities as a model of perfection. He added that the health center plan originated by Dr. J. L. Pomeroy, county health officer, should be put in operation in every State.

Hundreds Sent Luncheon Bids

Twelve hundred invitations have been sent out for the luncheon in connection with the ground-breaking ceremonies for the California Land Show, set for next Tuesday at 12:15 p.m. Seven hundred went to citizens of Los Angeles. The luncheon is to be held at Hill and Washington streets, where the show opens March 8, next.

The great pavilion for the show, a steel-masted tent guyed with steel cables, is being erected. This will house a redwood forest setting. A shipment of 160 tons of redwood bark and green boughs is on the way from Mendocino county.

GIRLS TO GIVE PLAYLET

"The Athletic Wedding," a playlet written by Ruth Weber, a pupil, will be the chief feature of the new girls' party at Hollywood High School on the 27th inst. The party is given semiannually by the senior girls for new girls. Bride, bridegroom, minister, Cupid and best man, in the playlet will be dressed to represent different sports. Approximately 300 girls have just entered Hollywood High.

DEFENSE GROWS AT MACARTHUR

Shift of Troops at Fort to Strengthen Forces

More Than 300 Men Due to Arrive in March

Lieut.-Col. C. W. Waller Will be New Commander

Details of the shift of troops at Fort MacArthur disclose a strengthening, instead of weakening of the command, with an ultimate 370 men instead of 180, as at present.

By the shift, more than 300 men will come to the post with the Sixty-third Regiment, Coast Artillery Corps, which also will absorb approximately two score of the Third Coast Artillery now here.

The Third will retain its skeleton regiment here with two officers and twenty-three men, but the rest will leave here on the transport Cambral March 8, to be filtered into coast defense units at San Francisco and the Puget Sound.

The Sixty-third Regiment, which is antiaircraft, will motor overland to its new post, leaving Fort Winfield Scott March 3 and arriving here not later than March 15. Lieut.-Col. C. W. Waller will be the new post commandant.

Col. R. F. Woods, present commander at Fort MacArthur, will leave the 21st inst., to take charge of organized reserves in the San Francisco area, on the staff of Maj.-Gen. John L. Hines, commandant of the Ninth Corps Area. In the interim, Maj. Kelley B. Lemmon as senior officer, will be temporary commandant.

The transfer is explained as essential for grouping larger numbers for drilling purposes, and is in no way a slackening of Southland defenses. Some interpreters see the move as a step toward ultimate strengthening of these defenses, pointing to a program for eventually concentrating many modern long-range railway rifles here. One such railway rifle has been at Fort MacArthur two years. The others are held up by lack of appropriations.

Swimmer Faces Charges Filed by Two Wives

Two wives are too many under the law, according to Bonner Richardson, chief of the District Attorney's complaint department, and consequently C. W. Secrist, swimmer, is in custody charged with bigamy.

Richardson issued the complaint last Tuesday upon the request of the two wives, Mrs. Margaret Secrist of 129 North Oxford street, and Mrs. Leona Cowan Secrist, 127 North Berendo street. It is charged Secrist married Margaret June 2, 1928, at Santa Ana and Miss Cowan in Los Angeles, March 27, 1929.

Arraigned before Municipal Judge Ballard, Secrist was released under $500 bail. His preliminary hearing was set for next Wednesday.

Junior Chamber Dinner Date Set

Clifford Rawson, secretary-manager of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, announced yesterday that the annual banquet will be held the night of March 1 at the Jonathan Club. Reservations this year will far exceed any in history, Rawson said. Ross McPhee is chairman in charge of the affair.

President Owen will arrive in Los Angeles on Tuesday after several weeks spent at Wayne, Neb., the family home.

RAID NETS PRISONER, ALSO BEER AND WINE

Beer and wine were seized by detectives last night when they arrested Alex Johnson, 32 years of age, of 737 East Tenth street, on charges of violating the Wright Act by possession of liquor. Detective Lieutenant Quinn of the Georgia-street division vice squad, said Johnson has been purveying forbidden drink to Chinatown population, and that a raid on his apartment disclosed 100 gallons of wine and 196 bottles of beer.

TWO ARRAIGNED ON NARCOTIC-ACT CHARGE

Arrested in a police raid on an asserted opium den at 304 Marchessault street, Quan Chung, 70 years of age, Chinese, and his son Quan Lung, 40, were arraigned before Municipal Judge Ballard yesterday on charges of violating the State Narcotic Act. Their preliminary hearing was fixed for the 28th inst. and bail of $5000 set on Quan Chung and $2000 on his son.

TRAVELER TO GIVE ESPERANTO LESSONS

Parley Parker Christensen, Presidential candidate on the Farmer-Labor ticket of 1920, announces a series of lessons in Esperanto. The first was given last night at 925 South Flower street. Mr. Christensen said that he has recently completed a world trip and found ability to speak Esperanto of great help to him.

ARMS DEBATE SCHEDULED

World disarmament is the subject scheduled to be debated at noon today at the City Club, 833 South Spring street, by teams representing Occidental College and Pacific University of Forest Grove, Or. The question is: "Resolved: That nations should adopt complete disarmament except for such forces as are needed for police protection." Occidental will be represented by John Gaddert of Riverside and Henry Shimanouchi of Pasadena, and Pacific University by Robert Oliver and William Ladd.

Many Los Angeles women are making money now on home-made candies! Now the Liberty Candy Company teaches candy-making, chocolate-dipping, cake-icing, etc., at a nominal cost, so if you want to earn money in your spare time my advice is to see them or write for an explanatory booklet to 400 Grant Bldg., 355 S. Broadway. Tucker 4156.

For yellowed piano keys, rub them with peroxide. Or, rub them with a little lemon juice and whiting; then remove it with a damp cloth. It is advisable to close the piano on damp days.

To tell whether the telephone has rung during your absence from home, put a piece of paper with a bit of carbon paper between the bell and the clapper; if the bell has rung, marks will show on the paper.

Are you insisting upon the Laura C. Scudder famous Mayflower brand of potato chips when putting in your order at the near-by grocers? They are so very delicious, you know—and ever so good for you to eat! Children adore them and you may give them to them in any amount, just be certain that you get the Mayflower brand from your nearest store.

Soiled silver and gold lace may be washed in white soapsuds; lay the lace down and scrub it lightly with a soft brush; rinse well and dry to prevent rust. Another good method is to apply, with a fine brush, burnt alum which has been pulverized to fine powder and sifted through cheesecloth; afterward polish with velvet. If gold and silver lace, embroideries, trimmings, etc., are kept well wrapped in black paper they will never tarnish.

When parking irons away for any length of time, rub them with mutton fat and wrap them in brown paper; do not use fat containing salt.

Have you sent a bundle of clothes you no longer have any use for, or articles of any description, which you do not need, to the Children's Hospital Salvage Department, at 712 Maple Ave.? Their slogan is this: "Nothing is too large or too small, too old or too new"—to give them so do try and send them some things soon. It is such a splendid charity you thus aid.

When painting or varnishing steps or stairs, paint or varnish every other step so that the others can be used; when dry, finish the rest. Another good way is to paint the entire one-half width of the steps and use the other half; when dry finish the remaining half.

To "break in" a new pen point quickly, dip it in ink and hold it for a second in the flame of a lighted match; then wipe and dry on a cloth. For a linty pen, also hold in the flame of a match for an instant. A few drops of vinegar will make thick ink usable again.

I wonder if my readers realize that their daily cup or cups of coffee when prepared by the boiling or percolating process, are in many instances creating a muddy, sallow complexion for them. The heavy resinous fats of which 12 per cent of the coffee bean is composed, are precipitated into the beverage, and taken into the system. In the partial elimination through the perspiratory channels these brown fats lodge in the pigment causing a yellow or sallow complexion.

This fact has been very forcibly presented to the Ben-Hur Coffee Company by a great many letters coming in from customers, telling of marvelous results in the clearing up of their complexions through the use of Ben-Hur Drip Coffee and the healthful drip filtration method of making.

By the filtration method these brown coffee oils are held back by means of the silk fiber filter paper, and nothing but a soluble, digestible and delicious flavored beverage is allowed to filter through.

As a proof, read the following excerpts from some of these letters:

Miss Ellen Ashton of Santa Margarita, Cal., writes: "We have been drinking your Ben-Hur drip coffee, made with your healthful coffee maker, for several months. We think it is the most delicious coffee we ever drank, such good flavor, and so clear. Our digestions are better and complexions are very much clearer."

Mrs. Thelma Brown of Mohawk, Ariz., writes: "I never knew what real coffee was until I took advantage of your special advertising offer. From then on I have had real coffee. I could never drink coffee for a long period as it gave me indigestion, also terrible headaches from acid condition of the stomach. My complexion would get yellow and sallow looking and I would feel terrible, but still I could not keep from drinking coffee. Now, I am happy to say, I can have my coffee regularly, and experience none of those ill effects."

Mrs. Edith Wilson, 6280 Primrose avenue, Hollywood, writes: "I use one rounding tablespoon of Ben-Hur drip coffee to each cup, and it is just lovely. It does not give one a yellow, sallow complexion, and will not keep one awake. I highly recommend it to everybody. I would even dare to give Ben-Hur drip coffee to babies."

Ben-Hur drip coffee has more than twenty other advantageous points in its favor. It is only a question of time until everyone will refuse to drink coffee made otherwise than by the filtration method.

What an ideal gift for yourself or friends a box of "Udeleo" stationary makes! Just think, you get 200 sheets of paper and 100 envelopes with your address printed in blue on both for $1. Write or phone for samples to the Udell Co., 5437 Virginia ave. GLad. 3250.

Use bran water for washing delicate facrics: Fill a cheesecloth bag with bran and pour boiling water over it; leave for ten minutes, squeeze out the bag and remove it; the water is then ready for use.

Fluffy rugs are so indispensable in your house, don't you think? Have you had any made recently from your old carpets? Better call up the Hoffman Rug Works, 2014 W. Jefferson (Empire 2048) and let them make some for you! They make as well log rugs and charge such modest prices.

A pen cleaner for one who uses many colored inks: Keep a small bottle of ammonia on the desk; one dip of the pen in the ammonia makes it bright as new.

With Lent just next door, so to speak, Lenten recipes aren't amiss, are they, and so it is with that idea in mind that I am going to give you some perfectly splendid recipes for fish which will tempt the lagging appetites of your family during the coming forty days.

And here comes in the best kind of news! Do you know that use of Guasti's Sauce a la Bercy is the making of these Lenten repasts? It is so appetizing and intriguing and how much it adds to the food you use it for! Copy right now the following recipe for Sole Marguery, a favorite it is with all who try it even once.

SOLE A LA BERCY

4 large filets of sole
1 egg
Dry bread crumbs
2 tablespoonfuls olive oil or butter
½ cup Guasti Sauce a la Bercy
Parsley—Parmesan cheese
Slices of lemon.

Sprinkle filet of sole with pepper and soak in beaten egg for one hour. Roll in dry bread crumbs and saute in olive oil until nicely browned and tender. Then pour Sauce a la Bercy over sole, sprinkle with chopped parsley and cook ten minutes longer. Remove to hot platter, sprinkle with Parmesan cheese and surround with slices of lemon. Four servings. (Other varieties of fish may be cooked in same manner.)

If you go down to the races at Tia Juana—as, of course, you will—be sure to stop at Travaglini's Cafe San Clemente at San Clemente, California, for luncheon or dinner or better still, for both for it is without a doubt the finest place to dine you will find in a day's travel! Such superpalatable food, such charming hospitality—the latter dispensed by no other than Mr. Travaglini himself, who makes the finest of hosts, you will find the service, too, is excellent! San Clemente is just half way between Los Angeles and San Diego. So make your plans now to stop there, won't you.

You will soon find out after your first visit to any one of the three Mathews Paint Company's stores—that there are no finer framing departments anywhere. Their treatment of English prints, wood cuts and etchings is unusually fine for you see they have the most ultra-ready-made frames as well as moldings.

Now, won't you take your pictures and photographs into them soon—that you may hang all such studies in your home and enjoy them to the utmost? Perhaps you have forgotten the correct address of Mathews Paint Company's stores, so here they are again: 1245 S. Hill, Los Angeles; 1559 N. Vine, Hollywood, and 740 E. Green, Pasadena.

To protect small articles of delicate fabrics, before putting them in the washer inclose them in a pillowcase; they can then be washed without danger of tearing them.

There is no moment that comes to mortals so charged with peace and precious joy as the moment of reconciliation. The ineffable joy of forgiving and being forgiven forms an ecstasy that might well arouse the envy of the gods.

Have you not often wanted to have your old-fashioned wedding ring modernized? Well, then here is your opportunity—take said ring up right away to Mr. Kent at the Peerless Platers, 239½ S. Spring (upstairs.) He will work wonders with it, that's certain. He does all sorts of jewelry repair work, too!

Cure for leaky pens—Empty fountain pen and clean it thoroughly; fill with ink and apply some soap or paraffin to threads of screw.

Wife Files Suit for Annulment and Heart Balm

Mrs. Margaret Edwards is suing her husband, Albert George Edwards, for an annulment of her marriage and for $40,500 damages on an asserted breach of promise, it appeared from Superior Court records yesterday.

After marrying Edwards in Vancouver, B. C., July 27, 1929, she found he had a wife by a former marriage, from whom he was not divorced. Edwards refused to go through another ceremony to make his marriage legal, Mrs. Edwards said, so she demanded heart-balm damages. She claims she gave up a prosperous business in Vancouver on his promise to give her $10,000.

SCANDANAVIAN MUSIC TO FEATURE CONCERT

Scandanavian music is announced for tomorrow afternoon's twilight concert in the California Art Club's lounge, Barnsdall Park. The program begins at 4 p.m. under the leadership of Neva Chilberg Rowland, violinist, assisted by the Trio des Fleurs, Lela Hodges, 'cellist and Helen Davis, pianist. Featured on the program is to be Myrtle Aber, soprano, who has been heard here with the Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra, and who is Pacific Coast representative of the National Music League. An exhibition of prints and etchings in the California Art Club galleries is another attraction, continuing all week, with free admittance Thursday.

Woman Denied Alimony Grabs Mate by Neck

Mrs. Ethel B. Gulick, school teacher, was so disappointed when she failed to collect alimony in Superior Judge Guerin's court yesterday, that she seized her husband, William A. Gulick by the necktie and jerked him around and around.

Gulick, a disabled war veteran, was unable to defend himself and was rescued by Bailiff Hartman.

Gulick testified he earns only $152 a month as a nightwatchman, whereas his wife makes $225 a month teaching school. When the court heard these figures it refused Mrs. Gulick's demand fro $60 a month alimony.

Mrs. Gulick was kept under technical arrest until she subsided and her husband was safely out of the Courthouse.

Plea for Funds Denied by Mayor

Mayor Porter yesterday denied that he is making an appeal to the public for funds to aid him in the litigation in which he finds himself as a result of the ouster of former Public Works Commissioner Delorey or the attempt of H. H. Merrick to bring him (Porter) into court to explain his campaign expenditures.

Rev. R. P. Shuler is making the appeal, the Mayor admitted, but denied that it is at his instance.

Victim of Crash Wins Judgment

Five minutes after her case was called Mrs. Effie L. Reel was awarded a judgment for $3200 for injuries she received in an automobile accident. The award was made yesterday in the court of Superior Judge Archbald.

Mrs. Reel sued Arthur Britten for $25,000, asserting that she received permanent injuries about the face when his car in which she was riding crashed into a telephone pole. The accident occurred on January 31, 1929 at Normandie and Melrose avenues. The judgment was stipulated to by attorneys on both sides when they agreed that it should be $3200.

DR. T. B. ROBERTSON DIES IN AUSTRALIA

Word was received in Los Angeles yesterday of the death, at Adelaide, Australia, of Dr. T. Brailsford Robertson, professor of biochemistry who for thirteen years was a member of the faculty of the University of California. He succumbed to pneumonia-influenza, January 16, last, according to information received by friends here.

Dr. Robertson left his post at Berkeley in 1917 to join the staff of Adelaide University, and serve on the Commonwealth Board of Scientific Research. Although only 45 years of age, he had achieved fame for his work in cancer research and as the author of a volume on growth, which is now in use as a textbook at Columbia University.

Today's Bible Text

And not only so, but we also joy in God through our Lord Jesus Christ, by whom we have now received the atonement.—Romans v, 11.

HAS THE SPOTLIGHT

At the present time all roads in California may be said to lead to San Bernardino.

MOTOR LOGIC

Most people would put it the other way about, but Walter Chrysler says: "We are prosperous because we ride in automobiles."

ON THE RIGHT TACK

Those fourteen Democratic Senators who lined up in favor of the appointment of Charles Evans Hughes have deserved well of the country.

A HARD KNOCK

Bernard Shaw is quoted as saying that "Americans have to drink in order to stand it." Stand what? British aspersions upon us and our institutions?

CAUSE AND EFFECT

Medical science always justifies itself. It never introduces us to a new and startling disease without afterward discovering an equally startling cure. A serum from the blood of patients to conquer parrot fever is the latest example.

WARNING TO PORTUGAL

While Mexico, Norway, Switzerland, Russia and Jugo-Slavia are campaigning against liquor, Portugal favors it and its government is urging a temperate nation to drink more wine. Portugal had better copyright its propaganda, or the American wets will steal it.

SCOTTY'S "GOLD MINE"

And now Scotty confesses that "there ain't no gold mine and never was." This after a quarter of a century of posing as a successful and immensely wealthy prospector. Well, Scotty's full name is Walter Scott, which, as we all might have realized, gives him a sort of right to romancing whenever he has the notion.

SUCH IS THE LAW

A New York woman accused of shoplifting after three previous convictions was acquitted by a Manhattan magistrate, but subsequently found guilty by a jury and sentenced to life imprisonment as a fourth offender under the Baumes law. No use for a magistrate to try to blend mercy with justice in New York.

SHRINKING THE AMERICAS

A through air line, linking Buenos Aires with New York and using twenty-two-passenger planes will be started this month. So a week will cover a whole trip almost across the length of the two continents from north to south. Even ten years ago such a regular line of travel would have appeared a distant dream. Expanding our inventive genius is constantly shrinking the size of continents.

FORD'S SCHOOL PLAN

Henry Ford announces he will spend the rest of his life and approximately $100,000,000 in establishing and endowing schools to help young men fit themselves for the world. Presumably they will be modeled on the Edison Institute of Technology, which he established a year ago at Dearborn, Mich. No surer plan to perpetuate the name of Ford could be devised, since it is extremely likely that the Ford schools will still be functioning long after the Ford vehicles are forgotten.

Few know now what Ezra Cornell, John Harvard or even Leland Stanford did in their lifetimes, except to found educational institutions, but that they did that does not pass out of mind.

Ford himself is a superb technician, so it is not surprising that he plans technical schools, nor, in view of his limited education in other directions, that he will not seek the advice of others in how they are to be established and conducted. He is supremely sure of himself in his own field and scarcely recognizes that there are other fields.

All education, however, is good and there can be no complaint at Ford's running his own schools to suit himself. He may prove something or even establish new educational principles by so doing. There is room for infinite variety in schools, as in most other matters.

THE NATION BUYS WHEAT

For the first time in national history, money from the United States Treasury is being used directly in bolstering the wheat market through the Grain Stabilization Corporation, chartered at the direction of the Federal Farm Board, which has begun purchases at Chicago. The object is to hold wheat for better prices which it is hoped will obtain before the bulk of the 1930 American crop moves from the harvest fields next fall. How extensive they will be depends, of course, on circumstances, which also will govern how long the wheat must be held and how rapidly it can be reabsorbed by the market.

This is a plain, ordinary, speculative transaction which differs from the wheat pools in the past in the fact that the pool operators are backed by the government with money enough to buy many millions of bushels, and that the government will stand the loss if there is one. The mere announcement that the corporation would begin operations sent up the price of wheat about 7 cents a bushel.

The Farm Board is also operating, in a way, through the Farmers' National Grain Corporation, to which and its subsidiary co-operatives have been advanced some $10,000,000 of government money, but the corporation in this case is a borrower and will theoretically take the risk of market fluctuations; also the profit, if any. The Grain Stabilization Corporation is not technically a borrower; it is not bound to pay anything back. It is Uncle Sam himself, taking a flyer in the market with his own money, and hence is something different.

As a temporary expedient, this may prove effective, but such operation conducted over a period of years would necessarily result in a loss. If world wheat production were reasonably calculable and controllable by the speculating body, this would not be the case. But an artificial shortage produced by the corporation holding wheat off the market is apt to stimulate wheat planting and the production of still more surplus, if not in the United States, then in Canada, the Argentine or somewhere else. Only a severe crop failure would enable the corporation to get rid of its wheat to advantage in such circumstances.

But it is not likely that, under the direction of the present astute Farm Board members, the Grain Stabilization Corporation will operate regularly and continuously and so take the chance of having an enlarging accumulation of grain on its hands which it might be unable to dispose of except at a loss. Indeed, it is more likely to use the wheat in its possession as a discourager of overproduction by pointing out to the planters the unpleasant consequences that would result from throwing this wheat on the market. In this way the Farm Board may be able to limit wheat acreage in the United States and to some extent elsewhere.

In the long run, continued "valorization" programs are unworkable. Brazil discovered this in the case of coffee. The British rubber scheme was on a different basis, but intended the same result. Its fate is still fresh in the memory.

This year the plan may work out because there was a smaller world crop than usual and the market slump is supposed to have resulted from a purely temporary condition—that is, the marketing of the Argentine crop—so that there should be a recovery before fall.

But as a permanent solution of the grain-farmer's problems this device is not to be depended upon.

JOHNSON'S TWIN HATES

Hiram Johnson indulged himself in another grudge vote Thursday, when he joined the coterie of the discontented against the confirmation of Chief Justice Hughes. There are those who profess to see something inconsistent in the acceptance by a man of the support of a party and his subsequent efforts to wreck that party, but there is nothing inconsistent about Johnson. Above everything else, he is loyal to his hates.

Two objects of his hatred were struck at at once in this vote—Hoover and Hughes. Johnson thought he had put Hughes out of public life when his treachery defeated him for the Presidency in 1916, and to see him rise superior to that defeat and reach a place in the nation's esteem far above anything that Johnson can hope to win was a bitter dose for the California Senator.

Chief Justice Hughes's greatest compliment was in the character of the opposition to him. To be disliked by Senators Blaine, Borah, Brookhart, Cousens, Frazier, Norbeck, Johnson, La Follette, McMaster, Norris and Nye, misnamed Republicans, is a certificate of competency and soundness, proof that he merits the confidence of the American people.

Johnson, of course, again misrepresented California by this vote, as he has by so many others. California as a whole not only stands by the President, but was gratified at the selection of so outstanding a man as Hughes for the post of Chief Justice of the United States, considering that he meets its qualifications in every particular. It is seldom the man and the position are so well fitted for each other.

The pledge that Johnson gave to support Hoover and his administration, when Johnson sought the support here of Hoover's friends, without which his campaign for the Senatorship would have ended in disaster, has already been stabbed in the back many times by Johnson himself. Its ghost, however, will continue to haunt Johnson till the end of his career.

TOO MUCH FOR THE CONDOR

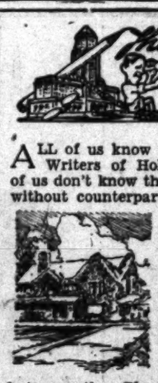
TIME'S FORELOCK

California again leads the way by organizing ahead of time preparedness means for meeting a sudden public emergency or disaster. Europeans who are amazed at the way in which America keeps forging ahead may find straws to show how the wind blows in such movements as this.

The LEE SIDE O' LA
BY Lee Shippey



ALL of us know something of the Writers of Hollywood, but most of us don't know that this club is one without counterpart in the world.

The Players of New York, in which one finds many more writers than players, as the Lambs is the most popular haunt of the players, is nearer like the Writers than any other, but even the Players is hardly as unique as the Writers and it is doubtful whether any other club which, at first blush, one might class as similar is actively officered and directed by men of such prominence in their professions. Rupert Hughes is president of the club, giving a great deal of time and sincere effort to it. Rob Wagner is vice-president. And many men whose writings for screen or stage have won them fame and fortune have labored earnestly and eagerly to make the Writers a success.

Rupert Hughes Started It

Rupert Hughes was the man responsible for the Writers. In 1919 he was president of the Authors League of America and called a meeting here to organize the Screen Writers Guild as a branch of the Authors League. Only eight or nine persons attended that first meeting, but they were men who did things, and soon the guild was a going concern. The Writers was organized in 1920 as the social expression of the guild and the Writers' clubhouse became and still is the western headquarters for the Authors League.

First "Baby Stars"

Back in 1922 the Writers gave a revue which has become a matter of evergreen history in screenland. In that revue Douglas Fairbanks and Charlie Chaplin were slated to carry spears, and Doug made good, but Chaplin played a joke by sending a substitute. Not a Charles Aplin or anything like that, but a substitute. In the curtain-raiser of that revue the actors were Charles Ray, Henrietta Crosman, William H. Crane, May McAvoy and William Burress. The book of the show was by Waldemar Young and Alfred A. Cohn and the music by Aubrey Stauffer, who wrote the music for "Oh, Susanna!" More famous people than we can mention took part, but it is interesting to note that at the revue, for the first time, "baby" stars were presented. How many a girl since then has found reason to bless that innovation!

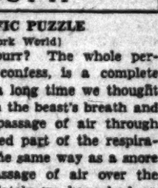
The baby stars in that revue were: Patsy Ruth Miller, Edith Roberts, Gertrude Olmsted, May McAvoy, Mildred Davis, Clara Horton, Bessie Love, Colleen Moore, Shannon Day, Shirley Mason, Virginia Browne Faire, Ruth Clifford, Pauline Curley, Helen Ferguson, Ora Carew, Louise Lorraine, Lillian Rich, Marion Aye, Mollie Malone and Leatrice Joy.

George Ade for President

Dinners to famous visiting writers also were great events, in those days when there weren't a dozen noted writers coming in on every train. One of those was to George Ade. It took the form of a political convention, which whooped things up wildly and finally nominated George for President on the Writers' ticket. All the while a band outside played one air and only one, "The Banks of the Wabash," until doubtless some of the neighbors wished it were on them, or even between them, under about ten feet of the stuff which flows between them. Another famous dinner was given to Irvin Cobb.

Silent Actors Like to Speak

Once a month now the Writers presents four one-act plays in which practically all the actors are favorites of stage or screen and not members of the club. They are most artistic productions—they have to be, for only members of the club and their guests are admitted and the audiences are made up of people as informed and critical as ever watched any performances. More than half of the plays presented are original. In fact, whenever original plays of adequate quality are available they are preferred. And a good many playwrights as well as actors have been discovered in this way.



One interesting fact made apparent by these plays is the eagerness of many actors who for years were only in silent pictures to take part in spoken drama. And old-time actors living here, too, often have rejoiced in taking parts in them. The advent of talking pictures has increased rather than diminished that willingness to perform, many actors who have not yet been given a chance in the talkies being eager for such tryouts, which might prove of great value to them.

Previews Ten Years Old

The Writers is about to inaugurate a series of "previews" of pictures ten years old or older, at which as many of the actors who were in the original production and still are here will make personal appearances. The first of these previews will be of D. W. Grimth's "Birth of a Nation."

IS PING-PONG COMING BACK?

Seems like going back to the gay nineties to read of a big university staging a ping-pong tournament. In these days of more strenuous sports and pastimes we thought ping-pong had long ago been relegated to the museum for passing freaks. The little parlor-table tennis game had a short, fierce vogue and then seemed to pass quietly away. But in the search for something different one can never tell what ancient forms may be revived.

SAME THE WORLD OVER

On February 12 the Lord Mayor of London unveiled a bust of Lincoln at the Royal Exchange carved from a block of limestone quarried in the Cumberland Mountains. There are two men who so far transcend all conditions of time and place that the whole world claims them—Lincoln and Shakespeare. They typify the supreme statesman and the supreme poet.

CHICAGO FISHING

Chicago has apparently succeeded in filling its crime net with all kinds of bad fish. The next question is, will it be able to land the catch without bursting the net?

THE AVERAGE MAN
By James J. Montague

I carefully banked all my savings,
I lived in a shabby old flat,
I said: "Not a chance; I'm no king of finance."
When my wife asked to buy a new hat.
Then the friend of a friend of the cousin
Of a son of a man in the street
Said: "Put all you've got on a ten-to-one shot
On second preferred Liquid Heat."

So I drew out the cash I had toiled for,
Denying myself all those years,
And bought a big block of that promising stock—
Plunging cheerfully over my ears—
For months I've been watching the ticker
And each day I receive a fresh shock,
But when ten years have passed I may have amassed
The money to pay for that stock.

No longer with laggardly pace
I shall walk to my job, but my pulses will throb
And I'll wear a brave smile on my face.
I shall buy my wife dresses and jewels
And invest in a couple of cars,
Serve fat magnums of wine when my friends come to dine,
And smoke only dollar cigars.

For when I begin saving money,
I shall lay it aside every day
And unless I am wrong, it will not be so long
Before Fortune is headed my way.
For as soon as I have a few dollars,
I shall speedily shoot the whole pot
With a confident grin, for I know I shall win
On another hot tip I have got.

WHAT OTHERS THINK ABOUT IT

SCIENTIFIC PUZZLE
(New York World)

How does a cat purr? The whole performance, we must confess, is a complete mystery to us. For a long time we thought it was associated with the beast's breath and was caused by the passage of air through some peculiarly formed part of the respiratory tract, in much the same way as a snore is caused by the passage of air over the human uvula. But lately we have had an actual cat under observation and conclude that this hypothesis is all wrong. If breath had anything to do with it, at least in the way we had supposed, the purr should stop and go, just as a fiddler's tone stops and goes when he comes to the end of his bow. But it doesn't. It keeps right on going, and while it is occasionally subject to rhythmic accents, it doesn't stop—unless, of course, you pull the cat's tail or in some other way put him in such a humor that it stops altogether. The only explanation we are able to think of is that he has a revolving mechanism inside of him that keeps turning around and around. It is obvious that a great scientific puzzle exists here, and somebody should clear it up.

SOMETHING FOR NOTHING
[New York Herald-Tribune]

Retraction is difficult, but honesty is, after all, the best policy. At the time of that famous riot at the natural history museum we pointed to it as an indication of an unsuspected scientific enthusiasm among the population. But when we recently observed the Einstein motion picture being advertised at a commercial theater with the sign: "The film that caused a riot at the American Museum of Natural History," we felt that we had been wrong. Outside this theater there were no battalions of police. There was no riot. The theater charged admission.

We should have been warned. Many observers had pointed out that New York, the great metropolis, is really a city with the heart of a child, blessed with a lack of sophistication that would seem naive at Hicks Corners. There is no hill-billy who does not know that you can't get something for nothing; but merely whisper in New York that something is to be free, and within a quarter of an hour you have to summon the police reserves.

We were wrong about the Einstein film. It wasn't science; it was, as one or two skeptics observed at the time, simply free admission.

WHERE WAS MUSSOLINI?
[Portland Oregonian]

When Princess Marie Jose was wedded to Crown Prince Humbert of Italy, the gates of Roman prisons were opened to release more than 300 inmates—as a result of the amnesty proclaimed. It is an old Italian custom, yet we venture to believe that it is not sound public policy. The sentiment behind it is that, on so fortunate and blissful a day, it is desirable to give happiness to such as languish in durance. But much depends on why they languish. If they were oppressed political prisoners, incarcerated for opinions counter to those entertained by the prince or party in power, their release would be gracious, generous and desirable. Probably in its inception the custom was so utilized. But to free criminals who are the actual enemies of any state is something else than clement. It is folly. And royal nuptials do not warrant it.

THE UNIVERSITY OF SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA

Under the Direction of Dean Rockwell Hunt

VII

BY DEAN WILLIAM D. CUTTER, M.D.

At a preliminary meeting of the local medical profession held in the office of Dr. J. P. Widney in the Widney Building (First street near Spring) on March 31, 1885, the advisability of organizing a medical department of the University of Southern California was considered. Dr. Widney, who had been elected dean of the faculty, with power to organize the medical department, occupied the chair. There was complete unanimity in recommending that the proposed institution "be placed at once on a footing equal to any, and superior to the majority of medical colleges of the United States." This thought of a college aiming to do work equal to the very best was kept constantly in mind. On May 2 articles of agreement between the University of Southern California and the College of Medicine were approved and signed.

This college was one of the first in the country to insist upon a three-year medical curriculum; almost from its inception it was a member of the Association of American Medical Colleges, endeavoring at all times to raise the standard of medical education and attainment in the Southwest. Its first session was held in a brick building still standing at 447 Aliso street, and there the work of instruction was carried on for many years. The first graduating class, consisting of nine members, received their degrees in the spring of 1888.

In 1895 the college acquired an extensive site on Buena Vista street, between Ord and Alpine streets, on which the Founder's Building was promptly erected at a cost of $20,000. In January, 1899, the Hendryx Pathological Laboratory, erected by Dr. W. A. Hendryx at a cost of $10,000 as a memorial to his wife, Lucy Sheppard Hendryx, was presented to the college for the use of the department of pathology. Through a gift of Dr. Milbank Johnson, at that time professor of physiology, and Mrs. Mary J. Munsill, the department of physiology was well equipped with modern apparatus. In 1905 the Dispensary Building was erected to the rear and south of the Hendryx laboratory at a cost of $20,000. In the following year Dr. W. Jarvis Barlow, a member of the faculty, presented to the college and to the profession a handsomely equipped fireproof building costing upward of $30,000. This became the home of the college library of more than 5000 volumes, which was open to the medical students and the profession of the city and of the entire Southwest.

Under the administration of Dean H. C. Brainerd the faculty numbered twenty-seven members, including several of the leading men of the profession in Southern California. This group enjoyed complete control of the college of medicine, which was, therefore, not an integral part of the University of Southern California. The reorganized curriculum, extending through four years of eight months each, included numerous lecture courses, laboratory and hospital assignments and other distinctive features. There were nineteen departments of study, in addition to the practical experience provided. The degree of doctor of medicine was conferred in accordance with the regulations of the American Association of Medical Colleges.

In 1902 Dr. J. H. McBride was appointed dean, Dr. Brainerd being given the title of dean-emeritus. Dean McBride served but one year, being succeeded by Dr. Walter Lindley, under whose administration several important changes were made. Among these perhaps the most important was the inauguration (in the fall of 1905) of an arrangement whereby students working for the medical degree might receive from thirty to sixty units of credit in subjects in the college of liberal arts. The completion of an additional minimum of studies in liberal arts, including required courses, entitled the student to both the bachelor of arts and the doctor of medicine degrees. To earn both degrees normally a period of six years was required.

In 1906 Dr. Walter D. Babcock was elected dean, to succeed Dr. Lindley. After one year, however, Dean Babcock was succeeded by Dr. W. Jarvis Barlow, who continued as dean during the remainder of the period when the college of medicine was associated with the University of California, that is, till 1909. The student body, numbering usually slightly above 100, maintained a regular organization headed by an executive committee composed of the presidents of the respective classes. There were the Senior-Junior Clinical Club and the Sophomore-Freshman Science Club, an active Alumni Association, together with chapters of the best national medical fraternities.

In the summer of 1908 opposition from within the college itself was expressed against the continuation of what seemed to some to be a peculiar relationship with the University of Southern California—a feeling that was heightened by the pressing need of more adequate financial support. Overtures were made to the University of California at Berkeley looking to an arrangement whereby it should take over the college of medicine in Los Angeles. Following some negotiation the definite proposal was accepted, and after June, 1909, the college of medicine, previously connected nominally with the University of Southern California, became known as the Los Angeles Department of the College of Medicine of the University of California. With the exception of the graduating seniors, who were anxious to receive their degrees, the classes revolted, the problem thus being thrust upon the local university of making provision for their further study.

By prompt action the College of Physicians and Surgeons, which had been organized in Los Angeles in 1904, became an integral part of the University of Southern California on August 11, 1909. This was located at 516 East Washington Boulevard. The three-story brick and stone building was equipped throughout with modern apparatus and appliances. The government of the college was vested in the board of university trustees and the judicial council and senior faculty of the medical department. The president of the university exercised financial control and defined larger policies. Dr. Charles W. Bryson was made dean of the college.

During 1910-11 extensive improvements were made in equipment and clinics were established at the County Hospital and the college dispensary. As the college became more firmly established entrance requirements became more exacting. Beginning in 1916 the completion of two full years of liberal arts, or equivalent, was prerequisite for admission. In 1918 one year of internship was added to the curriculum, thus rendering it necessary for the candidate to spend seven years in college work in full preparation of the degree of doctor of medicine.

The College of Physicians and Surgeons continued as the medical department of the university till 1920, when after careful consideration, it was deemed best, because of post-war conditions and inability to secure the requisite funds to insure class A rating by the American Medical Association, to suspend the activities of the college till such time as the necessary support and desired rating might be assured. Thus for the period from 1920 to 1928 the university was without a medical department.

In May, 1928, however, the trustees once more took up the responsibility of providing medical training for the young men and young women of Southern California. Assurances were forthcoming that the profession would support the institution and aid it in securing class A rating. Dr. William D. Cutter, dean of the Post-Graduate Medical School of New York University, was elected dean of the re-established school of medicine. Instruction began on September 17, 1928, the entering class being strictly limited to fifty-four selected students. In the fall of 1929, another freshman class of like size and quality was matriculated. The curriculum covers a five-year period, demanding a minimum of three collegiate years of prerequisite—a majority of the present students are already holders of baccalaureate degrees. A faculty of twenty-five members, including specialists of exceptional research ability, is engaged in the teaching of the basic sciences of the first two years. Laboratories in Science Hall have been temporarily assigned to the use of the medical school and the necessary equipment provided. The present planning contemplates the erection or acquisition of a suitable building within reasonable distance from the university campus which will house under a single roof all of the activities of the school of medicine—namely, a hospital, dispensary, library and the various laboratories for anatomy, physiology, biochemistry, pathology, bacteriology, pharmacology and clinical medicine. Above all, there is a firm determination on the part of the university administration, heartily seconded by the medical faculty, to adhere rigidly to the highest standards of the profession in every particular. That there is a distinct and pressing need for an outstanding medical school in Los Angeles has been apparent for years. The University of Southern California is definitely committed to the supplying of that need on the highest academic and professional levels.

TWO LINCOLN PICTURES

Lincoln's meteor-like appearance on the American political horizon is vividly pictured by Dr. Albert Shaw in the Review of Reviews, where he describes the striking contrasts between the Emancipator's first and second visits to New York.

On the first occasion, February 27, 1860, when he made his now-famous Cooper Union address, Lincoln was regarded as a picturesque western orator, but a person of no great political importance, says Dr. Shaw.

"One or two very young and unimportant Republicans gave the Illinois orator a bit of a supper at a club, and had then allowed him to go all alone, in an otherwise empty horse-drawn street car down Broadway to the old Astor House, rather tired and depressed, wondering what sort of impression he had really made. His next visit to New York was a year later, when he traversed Broadway in an open barouche drawn by six horses, amidst the applause of multitudes, on his way to be inaugurated at Washington as President of the United States."

Little-Known Operas Given

Ambitious Oxford students were responsible for the production in London this season of a number of operas which were almost unknown to the London public. The productions were well staged and well attended. Among the operas were Monteverdi's "Orpheus," Lock and Gibbons's "Cupid and Death," Purcell's "Dido," Handel's "Julius Caesar," Mozart's "The Lady Gardener" and Gluck's "Alcestis."

Daughter of Sect Woman Testifies at Trial

Mrs. Lamb's Book Dictated Forty-two Months

Heavenly Order to Job Came While on Broadway

It required forty-two months for Mrs. May Otis Blackburn, leader of the Divine Order of the Royal Arms of the Great Eleven religious organization, and her daughter, Ruth Pauline Wieland, to write the "Lamb's Book of Life," which was dictated by the Angel Michael, Miss [illegible] testified in Superior Judge [illegible]'s court yesterday, where her mother is on trial charged with [illegible] and theft.

The dictation was taken by the mother and her daughter in the [illegible] secluded places possible, Miss Wieland said. The voice of the angel came at irregular intervals sometimes during the night and at other times during the day, but the dictation went on steadily until the book was finished.

The angel also forbid either Mrs. Blackburn or her daughter to come into contact with the outside world, Miss Wieland said. Mrs. Blackburn never left the house and Miss Wieland was permitted to go only at rare intervals to obtain food.

The voice first came to her while she was walking down Broadway, Los Angeles, according to the witness. Three days later an angel appeared in the room of her home at 235 South Grand avenue and a voice called the girl and her mother to the work of the new religious movement.

A score of "hard-rock men," Dorman's fellow-workers in the tunnel, were assembled from construction camps all over the West to tell how the plaintiff fell from a ten-foot platform on which he was operating a jack hammer, when the railroad was widening a tunnel for double track near Caliente, Nev., May 1, [illegible]

Thirty residents of Los Angeles county are scheduled to appear in Superior Judge Wood's court this morning when an effort will be made to select nineteen persons willing to serve on the 1930 county grand jury.

Should the court find it impossible to select the nineteen from those thirty summoned, a list of thirty additional names will be drawn from the grand-jury ballot box.

Federal Jury Finds Bill Against Eight Others Named

After investigation during several months, Herbert Hiam Anthony, former vice-president of the Bank of Italy, was indicted by a federal grand jury. He is accused in the true bill and four counts of misapplication of funds, the amount involved is said to be $344,000. Anthony had previously been accused in a complaint issued by the United States Commissioner at San Francisco. He was arrested in November, 1929, and since been aiding bank examiners in checking accounts.

Four men, arrested when Federal officers raided a large barn on the Porter ranch, between Elsinore and Perris, and seized what is declared to be the largest distillery ever found in this district, were indicted by the grand jury for conspiracy to violate the national prohibition act. DEATH OF MRS. PAYNE UNSOLVED

Slaying of Attractive Young Woman Week Ago Baffles Authorities

Rapidly taking its place among outstanding unsolved homicides in the county in recent months, the death of Mrs. Billie Payne, whose mangled form was found early last Sunday on the highway near Signal Hill, still was an enigma last night.

Investigation has reached the point where practically every clew has been eliminated and now centers on a search for two men and two women who assisted Mrs. Payne into an unidentified automobile in Long Beach about midnight last Saturday.

J. D. Cloyne of the Blackstone Apartments, in front of which Mrs. Payne had been left sitting on a bench by her companion, Orian K. Kidd, told of seeing Mrs. Payne enter the car, according to Deputy Sheriffs Croushorn and Brewster. The officers are exerting every effort to locate the quartet.

Pickwick Gets Permit to Run on New Routes

Application of the Pickwick Stages System to route a portion of its service between Los Angeles and San Francisco via Santa Monica and a portion between Los Angeles and San Diego via Long Beach was granted yesterday by the State Railroad Commission. T. B. Wilson, second vice-president of the system, said that busses will be operated on the new route beginning March 1, next.

It was stated that the system is not authorized to perform local service along the proposed new routes, although the busses will be allowed to pick up and disgorge passengers along both routes when the passengers are destined to or arriving from points beyond restricted local areas, that is between Los Angeles and Las Flores, on one hand, and Los Angeles, Long Beach, Newport Beach and Laguna Beach and intermediate points on the other.

Phone Company Benefits Raised

Elaboration of the Southern California Telephone Company's system of death benefits for employees, to include more beneficiaries and larger payments, was announced yesterday by Division Manager M. L. Stannard. In future the company will admit to participation all employees having two years' service, as compared with the five-year rule previously in effect. The changes also provide that, after the death of a retired pensioned employee, pension payments may be continued in certain cases for a limited time to the widow or dependent relative.

The company's pension and benefit plan has been in force seventeen years. After twenty years' service men employees are eligible for retirement on pension at 60 and women at 55 years of age.

FAMILY-SLAYER SUSPECT SANE

Boltares and Girl Must Now Face Murder Trial

Jury Out But Ten Minutes in Reaching Verdict

Armando Boltares, accused with Dolores Huichata, his asserted sweetheart, of slaying five members of the Alvarez-Garcia family, last night was found sane by a jury in Superior Judge McComb's court after ten minutes' deliberation.

Boltares has been on trial for four days before Judge McComb to determine whether he is sane.

As a result of the verdict Boltares and Miss Huichata will go on trial in the same court Monday on murder charges.

Boltares's asserted victims were Mr. and Mrs. Luciano Garcia, Elisa Garcia, 6 years of age; Carlos Alvarez, 18, and Carmelita Alvarez, 12.

Mayor's Former Self-Designated Inquirer Jailed

L. R. (Red) Foster, self-styled former investigator for Mayor Porter, will not go on trial for disturbing the peace of the City Council until Monday, but he is in jail just the same.

Foster appeared in Municipal Judge Curtis's court yesterday when his trial was called, but asked for a delay to get in touch with his attorney. When the case was again called he was not present and Judge Curtis ordered his bail forfeited and a warrant for his arrest issued. Later Foster appeared and the forfeiture was set aside, but the court imposed a $25 fine for contempt.

The former investigator did not pay the fine, and went to jail for five days. Later Judge Sheldon, before whom he was to be tried on disturbing the peace charges, continued the trial on account of a crowded calendar.

Country Life Not Appealing to Max Dill

Every member of the cast of "Give and Take," the Aaron Hoffman farce-comedy which the Henry Duffy Players are presenting at the President, is interested in raising dogs or fowl for the market except Max M. Dill.

The comedian's costarring partner, C. William Kolb, raises ducks on his forty-acre ranch; James Bush breeds goldfish for dealers and also sells bulldogs if the price is right. Anne Cornwall, who plays the feminine lead, raises Scotch terriers and has eleven of them, the leaders being Whusky and his mate, Sinful Annie.

John G. Fee raises chickens as a sideline and Harry Hollingsworth is interested in an aviary having nearly fifty parrots and lovebirds. Dill, however, declares that a billiard table furnishes him with a sufficient hobby.

'Journey's End' Successful in Many Countries

Gilbert Miller's production of "Journey's End," now in its fourth week in the Belasco Theater, has the high lights of international success stamped upon it. It is being presented by twenty-five companies, and in eighteen different languages. It is simple and starkly human.

The play discards the methods of professional play-writing, even to the point of omitting the traditionally necessary heroine, and austerely proceeds to tear a few pages out of the lives of a small group of men, all British officers, who are mired in the great abyss of destruction.

Helen Morgan Masters Song in Novel Way

Helen Morgan was called upon to learn a song in fifteen minutes for her role in "Applesauce," the production now screening at the Million Dollar Theater. After five minutes of futile effort, standing beside the composer as he played the song "What Wouldn't I do For That Man?" at the Long Island studio of the Paramount company, Miss Morgan made a decision.

"Let me sit on the piano," she said.

Accordingly, a chair was brought, and using it as a step, she sat atop the piano. In ten more minutes she had mastered the song and was able to sing the number without piano accompaniment.

'Nut Farm' Has Unique Theme

"Hollywood is a subject which offers the ambitious playwright an unlimited scope, yet it has been comparatively untouched in the dramatic field," says William E. Smith, producer at the Vine-street Theater.

"The Nut Farm," the eastern comedy by John Brownell, which has its Pacific Coast premiere at the Vine-street tomorrow night, deals with curiously realistic movie racketeers and their naive victims, yet is handled with a farcical touch.

The producer has assembled a brilliant cast for the first western showing of this comedy. It includes Shirley Mason, Emerson Treacy, Frank Mayo, Gloria Grey, Frankie Raymond, Arthur Lovejoy, Eleanor Bronson, Forrest Taylor, Louis Fitz Roy and Lloyd Taylor.

Whiteman Plays at Late Show

Paul Whiteman, renowned king of jazz, his band of forty, including the rhythm boys and other specialty performers, will be the main feature of tonight's midnight show at Loew's State. Whiteman, who is appearing every day this week, consented also to put on an extra performance for the entertainment of the patrons of the weekly Sundodgers Revel.

"The Mysterious Island," the all-Technicolor, sound and dialogue version of Jules Verne's story of the first submarine, is the current screen attraction which will also be shown tonight.

Beauties From East on Stage

Tonight's midnight frolic at Grauman's Chinese Theater will present the twenty prize-winning beauties from New York, in addition to the program previously announced.

Lawrence Tibbett's starring picture, "The Rogue Song," Abe Lyman and his band on the stage and a brilliant array of talent, including Dorothy McNulty, Lotice Howell, Lionel Belmore and Bobby Vernon promise something unusual in the way of entertainment, it is said.

MISS COMPSON WINS R.-K.-O. LEAD

Fox Renews Contracts of Many Directors and Actors; Universal Plans Numerous Specials During Year; Jean Arthur Plays Lead in Paramount Film

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

No less fascinating an actress than Betty Compson has been signed by R.K.O. for another important role.

BETTY COMPSON

The role is the featured feminine lead in the mystery story, "Hawk Island," which, as a play, ran for many months in New York. The author is Howard Irving Young, and William Le Baron was so taken with the talking picture possibilities of the play, when he saw it during its recent metropolitan run, that he decided R.K.O. must positively possess it.

George B. Seitz will direct the feature, which is to be one of the specials for the coming year.

Miss Compson has recently scored in a number of important pictures, including James Cruze's "The Great Gabbo," and she is scheduled to play the coveted role of Cherry Mellotte in Paramount's "The Spoilers."

FOX RE-SIGNS MANY ACTORS, DIRECTORS

There are several principal contract players and directors over at the Fox studios who won't have to worry about bread and butter and shoes for the baby during several months to come at least, since the announcement is forthcoming that they have signed new contracts.

MAUREEN O'SULLIVAN

Maureen O'Sullivan and Thomas Clifford, the young Irish players, were such successes in John McCormack's first starring vehicle for Fox, that they have been given new long-term contracts.

Leo McCarey, who directed "Let's Go Native" for Paramount, has been signed to direct "Road House," which is to be one of the Fox specials.

Mona Maris, Frank Albertson, Rex Bell, Richard Keene, Thomas Clifford and Frank Richardson are the other contract players of leading roles who are to remain.

John Blystone and A. F. Erickson, directors, are signed on new contracts, as are also William Kernell, composer, and Frank Tresselt, in charge of the singing chorus.

Universal Plans Features

Several important features are to be made by Universal during the next few months, according to information gained yesterday. C. Gardner Sullivan is at the head of the scenario department, and most of the stories to be produced are originals.

Two of the principal ones will be "Tango," in which either Mary Nolan or Laura La Plante will be starred, and "Switzerland," with a chance of Joseph Schildkraut being the principal luminary. Another Cohens and Kellys story is also planned.

Jean Arthur Plays Lead

She is Jean Arthur, who has so many Paramount roles to her credit. Warner Oland, as you know, will play the title role, and Neil Hamilton has the leading juvenile role opposite Miss Arthur.

O. P. Heggie and William Austin are other players just assigned, and Roland V. Lee will direct.

Bertha Mann with Universal

Former patrons of the Morosco who remember the heyday of that theater as a production center under the management of Oliver Morosco, will also remember with pleasure the fine work of Bertha Mann as leading lady, and will be glad to know that they are to see and hear her in talking pictures.

BERTHA MANN

Miss Mann has been assigned an important feminine role in Universal's picturization of Erich Maria Remarque's war story, "All Quiet on the Western Front." She will have a nurse role.

The actress retired from public life after marrying Raymond Griffith, film comedian, but when pictures became audible, she received a number of offers, and has now decided to come back to professional work.

Barrymore to Travel

John Barrymore is looking forward to a long voyage on his yacht, the Infanta. However, this voyage will not be undertaken until after the stork has visited his home, following which happy event he expects to gather his family together and take them on a long sea voyage to South America.

Already the Infanta has been outfitted with a nursery, we hear, and many are the joyous and loving thoughts which have gone into its making. In the meantime Barrymore is busy starring in his current Warner Brothers' vehicle, "The Sea Beast," which is being remade as a talkie.

Charlotte Merriam With Warners

Beautiful Charlotte Merriam is having hardly a day's idleness of late. She has been appearing in a number of Warner pictures and now has been cast for a nice part in "Three Flights Up," which Ray Enright is directing, and in which Grant Withers and Sue Carol are co-featured, with Edna Murphy also in an important role.

Edward Le Saint Among Us

Following several months' successful appearance on the New York stage in "House Party," our old friend, Edward Le Saint, former director, is back in Hollywood again. This time he is to appear in talking pictures. Le Saint formerly directed a number of notable Fox stars, including the late Gladys Brockwell.

CIRCLE AFTER NEW RECORD

The Roxy Theater in New York and the Carthay Circle Theater in Los Angeles are seeking new box office records with "Happy Days" in the new Grandeur film, it is said. Grandeur comes to the Circle on the 28th inst., with the New York premiere of the picture during the same week.

The two pictures which hold the Roxy box-office records of the past year are both Fox productions—"In Old Arizona" and "The Cockeyed World." The Roxy expects to smash both high records.

At the Carthay Circle, with the premiere night of Grandeur—"Happy Days" virtually sold out before even a ticket has been printed, it is predicted that the first week's patronage will exceed that of any previous picture at the theater.

"Devil May Care" is now entering its last two weeks at the Circle. Work of installing the large Grandeur machines continues at the theater.

Third Week of 'Give and Take' Starts Sunday

Kolb and Dill, noted comedians, appearing in the farce-comedy "Give and Take," as co-stars with the Henry Duffy Players, start the third week of the farce-comedy Sunday at the President.

Written especially for them by Aaron Hoffman, "Give and Take" is the story of humorous efforts of a band of workmen to turn a California fruit cannery into an industrial democracy. C. William Kolb plays John Bauer, the head of the plant, and Max M. Dill is Albert Flower, his foreman and lifelong friend. Their arguments over every question that arises provide much of the humor of the play.

Anne Cornwall, well-known film actress, plays Marion Flower, the chief feminine role, and others in the cast are James Bush, John G. Fee and Harry Hollingsworth.

Alhambra Shows Baxter Vehicle

"Romance of the Rio Grande," widely heralded drama of western life, is screening at the Alhambra Theater this week. So many requests were made to the manager of the house for a showing of the western opus that bookings at the theater were rearranged in order to comply with the unusual interest shown by the patrons of the Alhambra.

Warner Baxter, Mary Duncan, Robert Edeson, Antonio Moreno and Mona Maris are featured in the film.

MOVING DAY MADE EASY IN TALKIE

"Second Choice," With Dolores Costello, Seen at Warner's

BY PHILIP K. SCHEUER

In "Second Choice," which stars Dolores Costello and is showing at Warner's Hollywood, a social climber named Madge Harcourt finds a new use for moving day. She invites all her friends to a party held in her house while it is being towed down the main streets of the city to its final resting-place.

Later in the same picture, the colored maid servant of a Mrs. Grove rushes excitedly to her mistress and delivers the following ultimatum: "Mrs. Grove, come out and see how the ants is practically running away with this house."

The more imaginative members of the audience, who thereupon expected to see Mrs. Grove's house start off in hot pursuit of Miss Harcourt's house, were doomed to disappointment. There was no telling how the ants felt about it.

Otherwise, "Second Choice" is the story of Vallery Grove. Vallery intends to marry Don Warren, a social parasite, but her mother disapproves because Warren's assets are fewer than his liabilities. Warren, himself, feeling the pinch in his purse, suddenly decides to marry Miss Harcourt, the house-moving lady. Owen Mallory, who happens on the scene just then, knocks Warren down.

"Let's get married," he says to Vallery then. "We're both second choices." (He had previously been spurned by a Beth Randall.) "Let's do," says Vallery; so they do.

After their marriage (in name only,) Mallory receives a business call from New York. While he is away, Warren, the parasite, who has since broken his engagement to Miss Harcourt (no one stays engaged very long in this picture)—Warren forces his way into Vallery's home and orders her to flee with him. But Mallory returns just then, and Vallery decides then and there that home is heaven, and heaven is home.

Beautiful Dolores Costello plays Vallery. The intense young Chester Morris appears as Warren, smiling Jack Mulhall as Mallory, Charlotte Merriam as the house-moving lady, Edna Murphy as Beth Randall and Anna Chance as Mrs. Grove. Howard Bretherton directed for Vitaphone.

The best of the short subjects presents the engaging Eddie Buzzell in "Hello, Trixie," a western comedy. Eddie Bergen, the ventriloquist, revives his familiar vaudeville act, "The Operation," for Warner audiences, and Paramount provides a news reel for variety.

Buster Collier Will Appear at United Artists

William Collier, Jr., will make a personal appearance at the United Artists Theater Monday night. Young Collier, known as "Buster," is the son of William Collier, well-known stage comedian, and Paula Marr, prominent actress, and made his stage debut in New York at the age of 4.

Later Collier left school at various times to play in a number of New York productions, and came to Hollywood in 1914 to complete his schooling. In 1918 he made his debut before the motion-picture camera in "The Bugle Call," a Thomas Ince production, and since has been featured in more than a hundred pictures. He has a leading role in "Lummox" at the United Artists.

Wallace Smith Writing Story to Serve Dix

Wallace Smith is writing an original story for Richard Dix, to serve as this R.-K.-O. star's next screen effort for the William Le Baron organization, it is said.

Smith, who recently completed his third screen contribution for Bebe Daniels, two of which were original creations, is said to be regarded as one of filmland's most prolific writers.

Recognized also as one of America's foremost artists, in addition to his globe-trotting propensities, a feature which has served him as a fount for his ideas, Smith has been sought by prominent directors. However, only last month he affixed his signature to a year's contract binding his exclusive services, in so far as screen stories are concerned, to R.-K.-O.

Barbara Leonard in 'Son of Gods'

Barbara Leonard is doing double duty at the Warner Brothers' Downtown Theater. She appears in the feature picture, "Son of the Gods," with Richard Barthelmess. She also has a role in the short Vitaphone skit, "Surprise," which precedes the main picture.

This is the first time in the history of either of the Warner Brothers' theaters that a player has taken part in both the short and long pictures, it is asserted.

JACKSON FINISHES RACKETEER PART

Thomas E. Jackson has finished his racketeer part in "Double Crossroads" at Fox, and can now devote himself exclusively to coaching the football team in "Good News" at M.-G.-M. This relieves Jackson of the necessity for working daytime at one studio and during the night at the other, as he has been required to do for a week because of the two engagements overlapping. "Good News" is directed by Edgar McGregor and Nick Grinde.

Actor-Playwright Now Guest Star

Frank Craven

Portrays the leading role in "Salt Water," a stage comedy starting at the Hollywood Playhouse tomorrow. Craven has penned such plays as "The First Year," "New Brooms" and "The Nineteenth Hole."

Whispers in the Wings

BY MURIEL BABCOCK

"EAST OF SUEZ," the Somerset Maugham play which Lenore Ulrich is doing on the Pacific Coast, will open at the Lobero Theater, Santa Barbara, Friday, it was learned yesterday.

Leyland Hodgson, an English actor, has been engaged for one of the two important male roles opposite Miss Ulric. Reginald Sharland, also an English performer, as predicted in this column, will be seen in the other important part. Virginia Bradford, it is said, is rehearsing one of the minor roles.

From Santa Barbara, the play travels to San Francisco to be presented under the auspices of Homer Curran. It comes to Los Angeles to the Belasco in about four or five weeks, depending upon the stay of "Journey's End" in these parts.

Gill Leaves "Journey's End"

Speaking of "Journey's End," Basil Gill will leave the cast of this English war play at the Belasco following the Sunday-night performance. His role will be filled by William Sauter, who has been playing the identical part in the Chicago company. Sauter, who has appeared with Walter Hampden, and who is also English, steps into the role of Osborne Monday evening.

Gill, it seems, is ill. He had intended leaving the company at the conclusion of the San Francisco run but was prevailed upon to play an additional four weeks. He leaves Los Angeles for New York whence he will sail to London to join his family.

"Bambina" Closes Tonight

The final curtain on "Bambina," the Viennese operetta at the Mayan Theater, will be rung down tonight. The show closes thus after a run of not quite two weeks. It is understood, however, that the Shuberts have an eye on the production and that wires between the "Bambina" management and the New York Shubert offices have been going back and forth all week.

"Bad Babies" for New York

There is a report that "Bad Babies," the George Scarborough play which has had its difficulties with the local police, and with those of San Francisco as well, may be given a New York production shortly. Arthur Rankin, who played one of the leading roles, left for the East last week. Mervin Williams, who was seen as the leader of the "gang," departed here some two weeks ago. He will not continue in the cast, it is said. In fact, the report is, he may go in a George Gershwin show.

Gladys Unger Play

From New York comes the report that Brock Pemberton, who produced "Strictly Dishonorable," has purchased a new play by Gladys Unger, who makes her home in Los Angeles and writes for the movies. It has something to do with grand opera and it is said he will present it next season with Leyla Georgie in the principal role. Miss Georgie was the first Charmaine in "What Price Glory."

Charlotte Greenwood Returns

Charlotte Greenwood, who was called east by the serious illness of her mother, is expected to return to the Pacific Coast to resume her engagement at the Dufwin in Oakland on Monday in "She Couldn't Say No." Miss Greenwood played this comedy for twenty-two weeks in Los Angeles and in San Francisco when its run was cut short by her mother's illness. The same company seen at El Capitan will support her in the Oakland engagement. After that run, Miss Greenwood goes on to Chicago to launch the play at the Erlanger Theater, under the Henry Duffy banner, on April 20.

Marjorie Rambeau in "Serena"

While no confirmation of this has been obtained, there is talk of Marjorie Rambeau appearing in the near future at the Figueroa Playhouse in "Serena Blandish," already produced on the Coast by Edward Everett Horton.

"Plutocrat" Thursday

Those who witnessed the premiere of "The Plutocrat," the Arthur Goodrich dramatization of Booth Tarkington's story at the Pasadena Playhouse this fall will be interested in the scheduled New York opening of the play at the Vanderbilt Theater on Thursday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Coburn, who tried the play in Pasadena, head the eastern cast.

New York Notes

"The Green Pastures," Marc Connelly's new play, has been added to next week's already long list of theatrical openings. It will come to the Mansfield Theater on Saturday night, the 22nd inst. Mr. Connelly's play, suggested by Roark Bradford's "Ol' Man Adam and His Chillun," will call for an entirely negro cast, which, it is said, will number ninety-six. Thirty spiritual singers, directed by Hall Johnson, will supply a musical background for the play.

Ten other new attractions are scheduled, more or less indefinitely, to come to Broadway next week. On tomorrow evening Mei Lan-Fang, Chinese actor, will give a dress rehearsal for the press of his first program, scheduled for public showing the following night. Monday night openings include "The Infinite Shoeblack," an English play, at Maxine Elliott's with Helen Menken and Leslie Banks heading the cast; "Apron Strings," a comedy, which will open at the Bijou, and two revivals, "R.U.R." and "The Count of Luxembourg," at the Martin Beck and Jolson's theaters, respectively. On Tuesday night Ed Wynn will be seen at the Ziegfeld Theater in his new extravaganza, "Simple Simon." "Those We Love," a play by George Abbott and S. K. Lauren, with Mr. Abbott in the cast, will be shown at the John Golden Theater on Wednesday night.

FILM TELLS CONFLICTS OF EMOTION

BY ELENA BOLAND

A picture to be appreciated mainly on the strength of its pictorial effect is "The Last Performance," now showing at the Filmarte Theater. And this effect is due to the direction of Paul Fejos, whose methods of a year and a half ago evinced in this late-released film, were far ahead of the times.

The detail work in this picture is of much more importance than the story value or the performance of a rather distinguished cast. In fact, one would say that Fejos has a master mind for detail, whereas in the timing and knitting together of the whole he is not as competent.

Although essentially dramatic in theme, the film has little of those qualities which stand for drama. Its basis is conflict, a conflict of powerful emotions, love, hatred and jealousy, but the struggle isn't big enough to bring about any real dramatic climax. There is only one moment of suspense and that is at the very end, which is spoiled by a tawdry and melodramatic finish. One would say that, interesting as it is from certain technical angles, "The Last Performance" walks at too slow a pace for average enjoyment.

The plot is laid in a foreign atmosphere, centered in the theaters of Budapest and Paris. A magician, Erik the Great, and his troupe of three are the principals whose contrasting emotions are responsible for the picture's tragic current. The love of Erik for his protege, Julie, who is played by Mary Philbin, is resented by the tricky-natured Leslie Fenton. His resentment is fired by the addition of another youth to the company. The new arrival and Julie fall in love, upon the discovery of which, Erik's jealously is also aroused. The few seconds of drama occur during the performance of a sword trick, as the result of which Fenton is murdered. The blame looks as though it belonged to the young lover, so a rather unnecessary trial follows.

Touched by Julie's sorrow, Erik reperforms the trick in the courtroom, and for an instant it seems as though he had killed Julie as he had Fenton. But no; it was just a magician's trick and this magician's last, for he dies upon his little dagger and leaves the two young things to their own undivided attentions.

Opportunity was not at hand for any player to distinguish himself. Conrad Veidt does what he does excellently; but he has done more. His suggestion of a hypnotic eye is well put over. Leslie Fenton appears as he is best known, an elegant neurotic, unbalanced and prone to hysteria. Fred MacKaye is honest and open as the youthful hero and Miss Philbin as pretty as ever, as the girl, Julie.

Entertainment of high value is the newsreel, "Today and Yesterday," which constitutes the Filmarte's weekly revival. Outstanding events from 1896 down to the present day form a generous record of history as well as a novelty which should not be missed.

Teams to See "Burning Up"

Tonight is college night at the Paramount Theater. Both the University of Southern California and the University of California at Los Angeles basketball teams will be guests of honor tonight to see "Burning Up." These two teams will attend the theater immediately after their game.

In order to accommodate the many students and basketball fans who will witness the game earlier in the evening, the theater management has arranged the program so that there will be sufficient time to see the entire show after the game.

"OWN DESIRE" AT WESTLAKE

"Their Own Desire," Norma Shearer's latest picture, is the feature attraction at the Westlake Theater. "Their Own Desire" has as its motivation a modern daughter's discovery that her father has tired of her old-fashioned mother and is enamored of another woman. Seeking peace from domestic strife, she takes her mother away, only to meet and fall in love with the son of the "other woman." Besides Robert Montgomery, the supporting cast includes Lewis Stone, Belle Bennett, Helene Millard and others.

'Navy Blues' to Play at Palace

"Navy Blues," with William Haines and Anita Page, has been booked to follow "Hot for Paris" at the Fox Palace Theater. The comedy of sailors and their sweethearts opens Thursday.

"Navy Blues" features Haines as a sailor who meets Miss Page at a social and falls in love with her. The competition of his buddy, Karl Dane, for the favor of the fair lady, and other complications aid in the humor of the film, it is said.

Included in the supporting cast of the farce are J. C. Nugent, Edythe Chapman and Wade Boteler. An Educational comedy, "The Mad-House," and a newsreel will be offered.

PLAYERS PRACTICE

LEGION CHAPLAIN TO SPEAK

Dr. Ketlell Will Appear at Presbyterian Church; Other Services for Tomorrow Announced

Dr. George Kettell, National Chaplain of the American Legion and dean of the departments of philosophy and sacred Scdiptures of Nazareth College at Rochester, N. Y., will be the preacher at a special Legion service tomorrow evening at Immanuel Presbyterian Church. The public is invited to the services, which will include selections by the Legion chanters.

Having served overseas as chaplain of the Seventy-second Regiment, Coast Artillery Corps, Dr. Kettell was one of ten priests of the diocese of Rochester in the chaplain's corps of the Army. He was elected national chaplain of the American Legion at the national convention at Louisville.

At Immanuel Presbyterian Church tomorrow morning Dr. Herbert Booth Smith, the pastor, will preach the first of a series of Lenten sermons on "The Seven Words From the Cross."

DR. W. M. RIDDLE

Dedication week will be observed by members of the new Centinela Baptist Church of Inglewood, from the 16th to the 21st inst., inclusive, according to announcement by Dr. W. M. Riddle, the pastor. Formal dedication of the new temple will be conducted at 11 a.m. tomorrow with a musical program and a sermon by Dr. Otto S. Russell, executive secretary of the Southern California Baptist convention. Another service of exceptional interest will be conducted tomorrow at 3:30 p.m. when the preacher will be Dr. John Snape of Temple Baptist Church. The preacher in the evening will be Hon. W. R. Litzenberg. Services at the church Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday evenings will include addresses by the following clergymen: Dr. Edward Campbell, Dr. Harold Proppe, Rev. Frank Durham, Rev. J. Whitcomb Brougher, Jr., and Dr. A. M. Petty.

DR. WILLIAM BOVARD

A conference of special interest to Methodists of the Los Angeles district but to which the public is invited will be conducted Thursday at First Methodist Church, when outstanding members of the denomination will conduct an all-day district men's council. Speakers will include Bishop Charles Wesley Burns, Dr. William S. Bovard, corresponding secretary of the Board of Education; Dr. Corliss P. Hargraves, representing missionary education and world service; Dr. Lorenzo King, negro orator; Dr. J. L. Corley, who will assist at the educational conference; Fred D. Parr, president of the California Church Federation, and Dr. Bert E. Smith, executive secretary of the Methodist Brotherhood. The day's program will begin at 10 a.m.

DR. JOHN SNAPE

Canadian night will be observed tomorrow evening at Temple Baptist Church. Dr. John Snape will preach on "Canada and America." At the morning hour Dr. Snape will preach on "Is a Man Who Does What He Hates and Hates What He Does a Christian?" At 5:15 p.m. a session of the school of world friendship will be conducted in Burdette Hall and Dr. A. F. Futterer, Palestine explorer, will speak. At 6:10 p.m. Dr. F. P. Woelmer will address the study class.

BISHOP BURNS

Dr. Charles Wesley Burns, Bishop of the San Francisco Area of the Methodist Episcopal Church, who has dedicated more than 200 churches on the Pacific Coast within the last six years, will be the preacher tomorrow morning at First Methodist Church. At First Church tomorrow evening the preacher will be Rev. (Miss) D. Willa Caffray, the first woman to have been granted a preacher's license by the Methodist Church. At 2 p.m. Wednesday an address will be given at the church by Dr. William M. Danner of New York, general secretary of the American Mission to Lepers.

Health and Diet Advice

DR. FRANK McCOY
Author of "The Fun Way to Health"

YOU KNOW WHEN YOU'RE HUNGRY?

You have seen a bunch of farmers or lumberjacks rush into a dining-room and consume all of the available food, you may smile when you see the difficulties some of the boarders have in selecting food that is tempting enough to eat, even in a first-class restaurant, where the chef considers himself a culinary artist. City people, as a class, have selective appetites. They do not know the raw, crude hunger that their forefathers felt after the hard, out-of-door vigorous work necessary in managing a community out of the wilderness.

Nothing makes food taste so good as being downright hungry. The Germans have a saying—"Der hunger ist der beste koch"—meaning simply that hunger is the best cook. Those who work up a real hunger not only enjoy their food more, but digest it better. "Healthy hunger" is a good name, because only a really healthy person knows what real hunger is. The sense of hunger is one of the first signs that ill health approaches and that it is also a good sign that the body is recovering in realising that doing without food for a time is one of the best cures for ill health.

Therefore, you have a poor appetite, you should not attempt to stuff yourself with the appetising foods that are usually the least healthful but you should make your appetite come back by taking an orange or grapefruit fast for a few days. To a person who starts out after such a fast, food not nearly as good as mother used to make it, but in many cases it is a wee bit better.

Many people would enjoy food more if they would only give their stomach a chance to register hunger by not nibbling between meals. Many think you are hungry between mealtimes, it is better just to take a large drink of water or fruit juice.

Real hunger is largely a matter of habit. If one is accustomed to eating regular meals, the habit of hunger occurs at that very time. Persons have their eating habits spoiled by wrong methods, and although they know they are doing the wrong things, they like them because they have spent years learning to like them. They continue to be hungry for simple and wholesome foods. For example, our breakfasts are so built on habit that many people think they could not eat vegetables for breakfast, although there is no real reason why the cereal and dinner could not be reversed.

Sammy is usually a hurry call for his meals called fuel foods. Usually, we rarely know when we are hungry for the vitamins or the minerals. Usually, however, we feel unsatisfied and the feeling is that there is some deficiency in our diet. We do not realize just what this deficiency is and may answer the call into a yearning for pickles, soda and wienies, and then generally fall back on substances such as lead pencil, dirt or plaster from the wall, or almost anything.

Normal appetite is not usually a hunger, but generally a sign of irritation, or it may be that the organs are not assimilating well the food that is being eaten, or that none one class of food is being neglected. Many people limit their intake in such a way that they get too much starch and not enough protein. This in turn gives rise to a feeling of hunger. A little hungry all the time, but sensation is gone if a meal of eggs or other proteins is taken.

CHEF WYMAN'S RECIPES

Every Tuesday and Friday at 2 o'clock Mrs. A. L. Wyman will conduct a free class and demonstration of good cookery in the lecture room of the Southwest Building, 130 South Broadway.

MEAT BALLS IN TOMATO SAUCE

Take one pound of ground round steak, one-half a pound of pork sausage, one cupful of bread crumbs, one onion grated, and one beaten egg, mix all together, season with salt, and one teaspoonful of chili powder, mix thoroughly, wet the hands with cold water, and shape into balls, the size of an egg; take four cupfuls of strained tomatoes, add to them one finely chopped onion, one chopped clove of garlic, one teaspoonful of chopped parsley, and one teaspoonful of chili powder that has been dissolved in a little of the tomato juice, bring to a boil; add the meat balls, cover and simmer gently for forty minutes. Place the meat balls on a hot platter, thicken the sauce with a tablespoonful of flour, that has been dissolved with a little cold water, pour over the meat and serve.

PEANUT SOUFFLE

One tablespoonful of butter, six tablespoonfuls of flour, three-fourths of a cupful of peanut butter, one teaspoonful of salt, half a teaspoonful of lemon juice, one and one-half cupfuls of milk, and four eggs; scald the milk, melt the butter, add the flour, peanut butter and salt; cook for three minutes, stirring constantly, slowly add the scalded milk and continue cooking until the mixture reaches the boiling point, remove from the fire, beat the egg yolks until light and creamy, pour the hot mixture over them, continuing the beating. Allow to cool, then fold in the egg whites, that have been beaten until stiff and dry. Place in an oiled baking dish, set in a pan of water, and bake in a moderate oven for thirty minutes. Serve at once.

POTATO FRITTERS

Three large potatoes, one-half cupful of powdered sugar, three-fourths of a cupful of flour; boil the potatoes in boiling water until tender, peel and mash them. Add the sugar, and a teaspoonful of lemon juice; allow the mixture to cool; then add the flour, and knead the dough until firm, roll out, and cut with a biscuit cutter, fry in deep hot shortening until brown.

KETCHUP DRESSING

One cupful of sweet or sour cream, one-half cupful of tomato ketchup, two tablespoonfuls of oil, two tablespoonfuls of vinegar, one tablespoonful of sugar, one teaspoonful of salt, mix the oil, salt, sugar and vinegar together, then beat in the ketchup, and gradually beat in the cream. Serve over any green vegetable salad.

Mrs. Wyman does not reply to letters, but requests for recipes are answered in the department. PRACTICAL RECIPES, published every Friday.—(All rights to reproduce reserved by A. L. Wyman.)

Your Baby and Mine

by MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope, forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

This department offers leaflets on weaning and feeding the child from 6 weeks to 6 years, prenatal care and diet for the nursing mother, constipation, eczema, outfits for the new baby, sleeping, walking, teething, thumb sucking, ammoniacal urine, bed wetting, training in cleanly habits, periods of nausea, cod liver oil, orange juice, hives, worms, vomiting, refractory children, bruise juice, lime water, rupture, styes and boils and cradle cap. Before asking a personal question about one of these subjects, it is better to send a self-addressed stamped envelope for the leaflet you need, as your particular problem is not covered in the above list. Mrs. Eldred will be glad to give you a personal reply.

PERSISTENT AND FORCEFUL VOMITING MAY BE CAUSED BY MALFORMED PYLORUS

There is a peculiar and characteristic type of vomiting which should be recognized by mothers. Early recognition will save the baby possible starvation and prevent the mother experimenting with every known formula and baby food in an effort to get something that will suit this "weak stomach."

This type of vomiting is brought about by what is called a pyloric stenosis. The pylorus is a ring of muscle where the stomach leads into the small intestine. It is called literally a "gate-keeper." If this opening into the intestine is very small or the muscle tight and constricted food cannot pass readily into the intestine. What happens? When food reaches the liquid and acid state in the stomach, which precedes its passage into the intestine where it undergoes further digestion and distribution, it churns round and round in the stomach instead of being able to pass through this tight "little gateway. The stomach, doing its part, pushes down hard but the only result is that sooner or later the liquid mass is shot out of the stomach like a geyser, sometimes at a distance of some feet, but at any rate, all over the poor, frightened baby.

CONSULT YOUR DOCTOR

When this happens daily there is little chance for the child to get any nourishment, no matter what kind of food is given him. He starves slowly, until the mother realizes that this is serious and takes the child where he gets the proper attention. Sometimes thick foods given at each meal help the condition, if medicines which relax the small opening are used and in the worst cases a simple operation enlarges the opening so that there is no further vomiting.

This condition may show up immediately after the child is born, or one or two months later. It is, or should be, easily recognized by the force of the vomiting and its persistent character.

Because the mother is unaware of this condition she is all too apt to take every one's advice as to various infant foods, or continue stubbornly with the one she is using, hoping eternally that the baby's stomach will grow stronger. The baby is perfectly able to digest the food so that this is a futile procedure and only delays the cure.

We have found another serious aftermath of this condition and it is the psychological one. The baby may recover spontaneously through some happy selection of a thick food or just through growth. But the fact that he had been inthis condition imbues the mother with the idea that he had a weak stomach and she never lets him forget it. Years later we may find this child vomiting when he rebels against some task or duty and frightening his mother into a belief that he is still suffering from a weak stomach. If she understands how unrelated this condition is to the child's ability to digest food and is a purely mechanical obstruction, that when improved is thereafter all right, she will cease offering the child perfect excuses for omitting disagreeable duties.

THEN THE SANDMAN COMES

by THORNTON W. BURGESS

"They'll freeze," declared Mrs. Sammy off the nest. Just as he came in sight of the nest he saw Hooty fly away into the Green Forest. Then when he reached a place where he could see the nest clearly, he discovered that Mrs. Hooty was not in it. She was nowhere to be seen. What could that mean? Sammy fairly ached to fly over and look down into that nest. He was just about to try it when Mrs. Hooty suddenly appeared alighting on the edge of the nest. My, how big and fierce she looked! She had something in her bill. Sammy couldn't be sure, but he thought it was a Mouse. Whatever it was, it disappeared in the nest. Then Mrs. Hooty settled herself on the nest.

Now, being a bird himself, Sammy understood what all this meant. "As I live," said Sammy to himself, "those eggs have hatched! Yes, sir, those eggs have hatched! There are babies in that nest! Well, if they don't freeze to death it will be a wonder."

One morning a week later Sammy Jay awoke to find that it was snowing. About the middle of the forenoon it stopped snowing. Sammy hurried over to Farmer Brown's to get something to eat. Having eaten a late breakfast, his thought of those babies of Hooty the Owl. He started for the Green Forest. He expected to find Mrs. Hooty or Mr. Hooty sitting on that nest to protect those babies. Instead, when he got there he discovered two little heads stretched up as Hooty the Owl arrived with something in his bill. The tree was white with snow. The nest itself was white with snow. On all sides everything was white with snow. Yet there were those two babies seeming not to mind it at all. "They are regular snow babies!" muttered Sammy.

AIRPLANE NEWS EXCHANGE

(Not all the interesting and out-of-the-ordinary news of the day finds a place on crowded wires or waves. Every evening The Times conducts a news exchange by airplane. By Western Air Express, T.A.T. and Standard lines papers of current and yester date from pivotal cities are received. Washington, D. C., contributes the Star only two days from the press; Indianapolis and Chicago, thirty-six hours; Kansas City, Salt Lake City and Phoenix are just halfway 'round the clock. Today's gleanings range in subject from an account of a wolf hunt near Chicago, to the snail set up by pawnbrokers in Albuquerque, N. M., when their licenses were raised to $900 each.

WOLF! WOLF!

[Chicago Tribune, Feb. 13]

Two hundred and eighty-five hunters, carrying an assortment of firearms that included ancient fowling pieces, elephant rifles, and the latest model of repeating shotgun, sallied forth on what was expected to be the greatest wolf hunt in the history of Lake county yesterday.

The Izaak Walton League of Waukegan had organized the hunt to alleviate the distress of farmers, whose chickens have been the prey of wolves recently. The huntsmen beat over 6000 acres of land.

They clambered over barbed wire fences, some traveling at a dog trot as they fancied they were following the curious zig-zag trail of the wolf. Frank T. Fowler, a Waukegan realty dealer, had offered a $10 bounty for every wolf pelt brought to his office. No human casualties were reported nor had Mr. Fowler found it necessary to pay any bounties up to a late hour, although the reports of shotguns were heard long after dusk.

UGH!

[Kansas City Star, Feb. 14]

Jack Dempsey is probably the hardest-hitting mauler that ever stepped around a prize ring. His health is good. At Joplin some Pittsburgers ate dinner at a table a few feet from the table where Jack Dempsey ate, at a cafeteria. One of the principal items Mr. Dempsey selected for his dinner was a big dish of turnips. And yet some of the puny boys who depend upon tailors to help hide the indecency of their framework find great joy in poking ribald fun at gentlemen who like turnips.

Thomas O. Taylor, the oldest Pullman conductor in the United States, who has traveled nearly 6,000,000 miles in forty-seven years, is going to take a vacation—to make a railroad trip to the west coast to see "how it feels to be a passenger."

Mr. Taylor, became eligible for retirement on January 7, when he celebrated his seventieth birthday, but he expects to continue as Pullman conductor on the Washington-Buffalo run, until sometime in the spring, when he will travel as passenger on the trains which, for 47 years, he has served in an official capacity.

CAN IT BACK OUT?

[Kansas City Times, Feb. 14]

Ben Altman, during the snowy weather, has been driving a vehicle which is a real hybrid—a cross between a wagon and a sled. The front running gears of a wagon were used, while the rear wheels were displaced by sled runners, making a composite rig that Ben says is just the thing for roads like we're having just now.

FASTEST GROWING, ETC.

[Phoenix (Ariz.) Republican, Feb. 14]

The continued growth of Phoenix as assured in public corporation statistics was presented by Harvey D. McVay, Arizona manager of the Mountain States Telephone and Telegraph Company, before members of the Exchange Club at the Hotel Westward Ho yesterday.

McVay declared that company estimates set the population for Phoenix and environs in 1945 at 223,762. Such a figure, he averred, was reached only after a careful survey had been taken and a review of past advances made by special investigators of his company.

Early Sunday morning, Merchants' Patrolman W. Brown arrested R. Folland in the noodle parlor on the charge of disturbing the peace. McKi and J. M. McFarland are alleged to have interferred with the officer and both were arrested.

TOUGH

[Albuquerque Journal, Feb. 14]

Pawnbrokers in Albuquerque will be under strict police supervision hereafter, as a result of passage of a new pawnshop ordinance by the City Commission Wednesday night under emergency proceedings.

The ordinance, raising the pawnbrokers' bond from $500 to $5000 and requiring them to furnish the police at the end of every day with a description of all articles pawned and the persons pawning them, was passed on the same night it was presented, by suspension of the rules.

DRUM CORPS WILL BE FORMED BY LEGION

HOLLYWOOD HIGH MAKES GAINS

School Enrollment of 2740 Shown Despite Cut In Area of District

Attendance at several Los Angeles high schools would make a fair-sized town, that of Hollywood High School having reached a record of 2740 students for the new semester, which opened the 3rd inst. Despite reduction of the area of the district, there has been an increase in enrollment.

The junior class with 1045 members is the largest, with the sophomore class of 991 students second. The senior class, although smallest in school, has a membership of 704 students, 469 of whom are expected to be graduated in June.

Another Bid in Sight for Prison in Simi Valley

SIMI, Feb. 14.—A rumor is current here that a proposal will be made to Gov. Young's committee to locate the new State prison on the former Lloyd property here. From what can be learned there is no opposition to the plan. At the same time there is another petition that urges the favorable consideration of the proposed site on the McCoy estate near here. It bears 113 signatures and has been handed to Gov. Young. It is understood that the Governor's committee strongly favors the McCoy site.

About ten days ago resolutions in opposition to the establishment of a prison in this section were adopted by several religious and civic groups, and sent to Gov. Young. In an effort to show that this opposition does not represent the views of all residents of Simi Valley, the new petition was obtained and forwarded. The signers are among the leading citizens of the community, it is stated.

The McCoy site is declared ideally located for a prison. It is remote from the highway and if established would be hidden from the view of ordinary traffic passing through Simi Valley.

PRICE OF SHAVE TO HAVE SLIDING SCALE

VAN NUYS, Feb. 14. — If you get a "bulk" or "mass" production job it is going to cost less to get a shave in San Fernando Valley, members of the barber's union state today in announcing their prices that will take effect next week. A hair cut will cost 50 cents under the new schedule, the same as before, but a shave will cost 35 cents. However, if a customer walks in and asks for both hair cut and shave, the latter will cost the customer 25 cents. Local barbers say the extra 10 cents, when earned, will help to defray gradually increasing overhead expenses.

PENNSYLVANIANS TO MEET

Members of the Pennsylvania State Society will meet the night of the 18th inst. at Fraternal Brotherhood Hall, 945 South Figueroa street, for entertainment, carols and dancing, it is announced. The third Tuesday of each month has been chosen as meeting night.

WHEN THERE ARE GRAY SKIES . . .

—White King makes bluing unnecessary. Hang white clothes up to dry indoors, if necessary—they'll dry snow-white. For White King Granulated Soap is so pure, so completely cleansing, so free from "filler," that it needs no bleaching or bluing help.

You can trust the sheerest silks and satins to White King, the finest table linens. Yet it will effectively clean thick blankets, heavy clothes, and dishes. It's so pure that beauty parlors use it for shampooing!

P-B Beauty Cream Makes Skin Whiter

Clear white, refined and young is the skin that is daily patted with Parker-Belmont Beauty Cream. Sallowness and enlarged pores are corrected, and such blemishes as freckles, tan or moth patches are entirely removed. The skin becomes four or five shades whiter. It is softened, smoothed and thoroughly cleansed. Parker-Belmont Beauty Cream keeps the skin young. When the under chin begins to sag and age, use powdered tarkroot, the home face-lifter. It tightens loose, flabby skin and restores youthful firmness to the throat line. At all drug and dept. stores. —Advertisement.

A CHUCKLE FOR EVERYBODY

THE SON OF TARZAN

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Meriem owed her life to an accident. At the very instant Malbihn fired at her, his canoe ran upon a submerged tree trunk, giving the craft a slight jolt. But it was enough to throw his rifle out of aim. The bullet whizzed harmlessly by the girl's head as she disappeared into the foliage. Meriem threw back a mocking laugh at the baffled Swede. Soon she had swung far into the forest and Malbihn returned to his camp furious with defeat.

Fighting his way through the tangled jungle a mile to the east, a man in torn khaki—haggard and bruised—came to a sudden stop as the report of Malbihn's rifle resounded through the forest. A dozen times he tripped and fell as he forged ahead but at last he and his black companion came to the fringe of jungle upon the river's brim. Through the screening foliage Baynes saw Malbihn's canoe making rapidly for the opposite shore.

Morison Baynes could scarcely repress a shout of exultation as he also beheld the canoe Meriem had abandoned. Quickly the two slid down the branches into the boat. As it shot out upon the bosom of the river, Malbihn spied it. He fingered his rifle and waited. Now the canoe was within hailing distance. Malbihn, on the shore, with a start of surprise saw the white man was Baynes. He knew that Baynes had come for vengeance.

Malbihn shrugged his shoulders. Others had sought him for vengeance during his checkered career, yet he still lived. Aiming his rifle he yelled, "What do you want?" Baynes leaped to his feet. "You!" he shouted, whipping out his revolver and firing almost simultaneously with the Swede. As the reports rang out Malbihn staggered, then fell, and Baynes crumpled backward into the canoe. The two white men, far from civilization, had shot each other.
